Executive Summary and Origin

As mandated by the Legislature, the Judicial Council previously adopted rules and established procedures that implemented a statutory scheme for the expedited resolution of actions and proceedings brought under the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) challenging certain projects that qualified for such streamlined procedures. This proposal will implement recent legislation requiring that the Judicial Council amend these rules to include additional projects for streamlined review. The proposal will also implement new statutory provisions requiring that, in cases under two of the statutes, the council, by rule of court, establish fees to be paid by those project applicants to the courts for the additional costs of streamlined CEQA review.

Background

In 2011, the Legislature enacted Assembly Bill 900 (Stats. 2011, ch. 354), creating an expedited judicial review procedure for CEQA cases relating to “environmental leadership projects.” AB 900 required that challenges to such projects be brought directly to the Court of Appeal and that project applicants seeking certification of a project agree to pay the costs of the Court of Appeal in an amount determined by Judicial Council rule. (Public Resources Code, §§ 21183(f),

This proposal has not been approved by the Judicial Council and is not intended to represent the views of the council, its Rules Committee, or its Legislation Committee. It is circulated for comment purposes only.

21185.¹) To implement AB 900, the council adopted rule 8.497. Subsequently, the statutory provision requiring that a petition for writ relief be filed only in the Court of Appeal was ruled unconstitutional by the Superior Court of Alameda County; this ruling was not challenged on appeal.

In 2013, the Legislature again addressed expedited CEQA review by the courts in Senate Bill 743 (Stats. 2013, ch. 386). SB 743 eliminated the provision requiring that a CEQA challenge to a leadership project be brought directly in the Court of Appeal and instead required the Judicial Council to adopt rules requiring that actions or proceedings, including any appeals, be resolved within 270 days of certification of the record of proceedings (SB 743, § 11; amending Pub. Resources Code, § 21185). The Legislature did not identify specific time frames for resolution in the trial court or the Court of Appeal, specifying instead a total time period of 270 days for completion of the proceedings. (§§ 21185 and 21168.6.6.) SB 743 also provided an expedited review process for projects relating to a new basketball arena and surrounding sports and entertainment complex planned for Sacramento (SB 743, § 7; adding § 21168.6.6).²

In 2014, the Judicial Council adopted rules 3.2220–3.2231 and 8.700–8.705³ to implement SB 743.⁴ In developing those rules, the committees determined, among other things, that there was a distinction made in the Legislature’s delegation of authority to the council with respect to procedures it could adopt for the Sacramento arena cases versus the environmental leadership cases. Specifically, SB 743 provided that for the Sacramento arena cases the expedited procedures to be established by the Judicial Council will apply “[n]otwithstanding any other law.” (§ 21168.6.6(c).) There was no similar provision in the statutes regarding environmental leadership cases. (§ 21185.)

One particular challenge in meeting the 270-day time period for completing review of these cases in the courts was the time for service of a petition. The Public Resources Code provides that a party may take up to 10 business days after filing its petition to serve the respondent public agency and another 20 business days after that to serve any real party in interest. (§§ 21167.6(a), 21167.6.5(a).) Because SB 743 authorized rules of court in Sacramento arena cases “[n]otwithstanding any other law,” the council adopted rules mandating that service on all named parties be completed within three court days, rather than over a two- to four-week period. (Rule 3.2236.) The service rule for environmental leadership cases included an incentive for earlier service rather than mandating it. (See rule 3.2222(d).)

² No change was made to the requirement in the original statute that the project applicant in environmental leadership cases pay for the Court of Appeal costs, but the new statute did not add a similar provision in the Sacramento arena cases and did not provide for payment of trial court costs in either category.

³ The existing rule providing for payment of costs to the Court of Appeal was at that time renumbered as rule 8.705.

⁴ The 2014 report to the Judicial Council is available at www.courts.ca.gov/documents/jc-20140425-itemM.pdf.

In 2015, Senate Bill 836 added provisions similar to those enacted by SB 743, requiring that the Judicial Council adopt rules to apply the expedited review procedures for resolution of CEQA challenges to “capitol building annex projects.” SB 836 provided for review within 270 days from the date of certification of the administrative record. (§ 21189.51.) Effective July 2016, the council amended the rules to include capitol building annex projects.

In an effort to avoid constitutional concerns regarding the enactments, all of the legislation included language to the effect that the expedited time frames are “to the extent feasible.”

The Proposal

New projects eligible for expedited review

In four recent bills,⁵ the Legislature expanded the type of projects for which streamlined administrative approval and CEQA expedited review are available:

- Assembly Bill 734 (Stats. 2018, ch. 959)⁶ adds “Oakland Sports and Mixed-Use Project,” comprising projects developed by the Oakland Athletics in a certain area in Oakland, including a baseball park and adjacent residential, retail, commercial, cultural, entertainment, and recreational uses, which meet certain requirements set out in the statute (Oakland ballpark project). (See § 21168.6.7.)
- Assembly Bill 987 (Stats. 2018, ch. 961)⁷ adds projects located in Inglewood, California, comprising an NBA arena plus related parking and access infrastructure; office space; a sports medicine clinic; retail, restaurant, and community spaces; and a hotel, which meet certain statutory requirements (Inglewood arena project). (See § 21168.6.8.)
- Assembly Bill 1826 (Stats. 2018, ch. 40)⁸ expands the statutes providing expedited review of the capitol building annex project to include work related to that project, such as parking or visitor facilities, as well as a new state office building close to the capitol (expanded capitol annex project). (See §§ 21189.50–21189.53 and Gov. Code, § 9125.)

⁵ An invitation to comment on proposed rule amendments to implement two more statutes will be circulated in Spring 2022. Senate Bill 7 (Stats 2021, ch. 19) reenacts with certain changes the Jobs and Economic Improvement Through Environmental Leadership Act of 2011, which was repealed by its own terms January 1, 2021. It provides for certification of certain large projects that would replace old facilities with new ones that reduce pollution and generate jobs, including residential, retail, commercial, sports, cultural, entertainment, and recreational-use projects (environmental leadership projects). (See §§ 21178 et seq.) Senate Bill 44 (Stats 2021, ch. 633) adds sustainable public transit projects in Los Angeles in preparation for the 2028 Summer Olympic and Paralympic Games (environmental leadership transit projects). (See § 21168.6.9.)

⁸ Assembly Bill 1826 may be viewed at https://leginfo.legislature.ca.gov/faces/billNavClient.xhtml?bill_id=201720180AB1826.

- Assembly Bill 2731 (Stats. 2020, ch. 291)⁹ adds transit-oriented development projects related to the redevelopment of Old Town Center in San Diego (Old Town Center project). (See §§ 21189.70 et seq.)

The proposed amended rules are intended to implement the new legislation by adding these projects to the list of projects to which the existing rules for expedited CEQA review apply and incorporating them by reference where appropriate in those rules. The proposed rules also include new fees for expedited review, in both the trial and appellate courts, of challenges to Oakland ballpark and Inglewood arena projects, as required by those statutes.

Scope of rules to be amended

The new statutes regarding the Oakland ballpark project, the Inglewood arena project, the expanded capitol annex project, and the Old Town Center project include similar provisions regarding expedited review:

Rules 3.2220 to 3.2237, inclusive, of the California Rules of Court, as may be amended by the Judicial Council, shall apply to any action or proceeding brought to attack, review, set aside, void, or annul the certification or adoption of any environmental impact report for the project that is certified pursuant to subdivision (d) or the granting of any project approvals, to require the action or proceeding, including any potential appeals therefrom, to be resolved, to the extent feasible, within 270 days of the filing of the certified record of proceedings with the court.

(Pub. Resources Code, § 21168.6.7(c) (Oakland); see also §§21168.6.8(f) (Inglewood), 21189.51 (expanded capitol annex; within 270 days of certification of the record of proceedings), 21189.70.3 (Old Town Center; within 270 business days of the filing of the certified record).)

Although rules referenced in the statutes are trial court rules only, this proposal would amend both trial court and appellate rules. The statutes state that any action or proceeding relating to the environmental impact report, “including any potential appeals therefrom,” must be completed within the specified number of days, “to the extent feasible.” Thus, it appears that the provisions are intended to encompass appeals as well as trial court proceedings.¹⁰

https://leginfo.legislature.ca.gov/faces/billNavClient.xhtml?bill_id=201920200AB2731.

¹⁰ The amended rules in the proposal do not include the rules directed solely to the Sacramento arena projects, even though those rules (rules 3.2235–3.2237) are included in the rules cited in the statutes. As noted above, those rules were adopted only for cases involving Sacramento arena projects because of the provision in that statute that the expedited procedures would apply “notwithstanding any other law.” Although a similar phrase is included in AB 987 (the Inglewood arena statute) and AB 2731 (the Old Town Center San Diego statute), there is no such provision in AB 734 (the Oakland ballpark statute). Because all three statutes use similar provisions regarding expedited review and direct that the same rules apply, it appears the Legislature intended that review for all three projects be the same. Since the mandatory service rules could not be applied to Oakland ballpark cases, they have not been applied to Inglewood arena or Old Town Center cases. And because the council had previously concluded that the special service rules should not be amended to apply to the original capitol annex project cases, the committees did not consider applying them to the cases under the expanded capitol annex statute, AB 1875.

Time for expedited review

The current trial court and appellate rules for expedited CEQA review include references to a 270-day time limit for completing court proceedings. Both rule 3.2221(b) regarding stipulated extensions of time in the trial court, and rule 8.702(f)(4) regarding stipulated extensions of time to file a brief in the Court of Appeal, state: “If the parties stipulate to extend the time . . . , they are deemed to have agreed that the time for resolving the action may be extended beyond 270 days.” When these rules were adopted in 2014, as discussed above, the statutes to which the rules applied (sections 21168.6.6(c)–(d), 21185, and 21189.51) required that the actions or proceedings, including any appeals, be resolved, to the extent feasible, within 270 days of certification of the record or the filing of the certified record. However, one of the statutes to be implemented by this proposal contains a different time limit: To the extent feasible, actions challenging the Old Town Center project must be resolved within 270 business days of the filing of the certified record. To accommodate different time periods under the rules and to avoid confusion, the committees propose replacing references in the provisions regarding stipulations to “270 days” with the “statutorily prescribed” time. (See proposed amended rules 3.2221(b), 8.702(f).)

New fees for expedited review

The Oakland ballpark statute¹¹ and the Inglewood arena statute¹² include nearly identical provisions requiring that, before the Governor certifies a project for streamlining (including the expedited court review), the project applicant must agree to pay for “any additional costs incurred by the courts in hearing and deciding any case” subject to the statutes. The statutes provide that the costs be determined by the council.

These provisions (set out in the footnotes) are similar to the provision for costs in former section 21182(f)¹³ of the 2011 environmental leadership act. The primary difference is that the earlier provision provides for payment of “the costs of the Court of Appeal . . . in hearing and deciding” the expedited case, while the new laws provide for payment of “any additional costs” to the trial court as well as the appellate court.

For cases brought under the Oakland ballpark and Inglewood arena statutes, the committees propose fee amounts of $120,000 at the trial court level, to be paid by the project developer within 10 days of the filing of the petition, and $140,000 at the appellate level, to be paid within 10 days of the filing of a notice of appeal.¹⁴ As discussed below, in developing these proposed amounts, the committees looked to the former fee for streamlined environmental leadership cases, the experiences in cases that have been litigated under those rules, and the provision in the new ballpark and arena statutes that the amount is for “additional” costs incurred by the courts in providing expedited review.

¹² Section 21168.6.8(b)(6) (Inglewood arena): “The project applicant agrees to pay any additional costs incurred by the courts in hearing and deciding any case subject to this section, including payment of the costs for the appointment of a special master if deemed appropriate by the court, in a form and manner specified by the Judicial Council, as provided in the Rules of Court adopted by the Judicial Council.”

¹³ Environmental leadership—Section 21183(f): “The project applicant agrees to pay the costs of the Court of Appeal in hearing and deciding any case, including payment of the costs for the appointment of a special master if deemed appropriate by the court, in a form and manner specified by the Judicial Council, as provided in the Rules of Court adopted by the Judicial Council pursuant to Section 21185.”

Court time spent on prior environmental leadership cases

The current environmental leadership rule originally adopted by the council in 2012¹⁵ provides for payment of a fee of $100,000 by the project developer at the time a notice of appeal is filed, as well as payment of the costs of any special master or contract personnel retained to work on the case. As stated in the report to the council on the original rule, that $100,000 amount was determined as follows:

This proposed fee was calculated based on estimates collected from courts about the time spent by judges, justices, research attorneys, and judicial assistants on recent CEQA cases regarding projects of the size eligible for participation in the act’s expedited review procedure. The fee assumes that, on average, the following amount of time will be spent on such a case:

- 108 hours by the justice assigned to prepare a draft decision;
- 10 hours by each of the other two justices on the panel;
- 230 hours by research attorneys; and
- 31 hours by judicial assistants.

Additional amounts for other staff time, benefits, and overhead were also included in calculating the total fee.

(Judicial Council rep., p. 8.)¹⁶

It turns out that the estimates made in 2012 fell far short of reality for the work necessary for an appellate court to complete the expedited process. In late 2016, the Judicial Council submitted a legislatively required report on how AB 900 (the environmental leadership statute) had fared in the courts and the impact it had on judicial administration. At that time, a single case had been tried and appealed under the environmental leadership project rules, a challenge to the Event Center and Mixed-Use Development at Mission Bay Blocks 29–32 (the Warriors’ Mission Bay project). The details of the timing of that case, in which the Court of Appeal decision was issued ¹⁴ This proposal also modifies rule 8.705 so that the type of costs listed in subparagraphs (A) and (B) of current item (2) is included in the text of item (3).

¹⁵ See rule 8.705. Originally adopted as rule 8.497, the rule has been renumbered since but is otherwise unchanged.

327 days after the case was initially filed,¹⁷ are set out in the report to the Legislature and have been reviewed in more detail in preparation for this recommendation. After an initial delay of 64 days to litigate whether the case should be moved from Sacramento to San Francisco, the courts moved quite expeditiously, consistent with the expedited procedures. The report to the Legislature describes the work entailed as follows:

The Mission Bay project CEQA case is extremely large and complex. The administrative record filed in both the trial court and the Court of Appeal comprises 56 volumes—more than 168,000 pages. The joint appendix filed in the Court of Appeal is 1,514 pages in length. The petitioners’ petition for writ of mandate filed in the trial court included three separate causes of action raising multiple issues regarding the approval of the Mission Bay project. The petitioners’ brief filed in the Court of Appeal, First Appellate District also raised multiple issues. Many of the issues raised in this case involve highly technical questions that require specialized expertise to evaluate.

(Judicial Council of Cal., Jobs and Economic Improvement Through Environmental Leadership Act: Report to the Legislature Under Assembly Bill 900, Public Resources Code Section 21189.2 (Dec. 1, 2016), p. 6.)¹⁸

The time spent to adjudicate these complex issues was estimated as follows:

- The CEQA judge at the Superior Court of San Francisco County spent 5 hours a day on the case (he could not spend full time because of other commitments at the court), as well as 15 hours each weekend throughout the time the case was at the trial court. This means that 740 hours (the equivalent of 92 workdays) were expended on the case by the judicial officer, rather than the 108 hours (approximately 14 workdays) estimated in 2012. In addition, the equivalent of one full-time research attorney worked on the case throughout the time it was in the trial court (91 workdays), resulting in well over 700 hours of research attorney time.
- At the Court of Appeal, First Appellate District, the Mission Bay case took precedence over all other cases assigned to the division handling this case, including juvenile dependency cases. One appellate justice and two research attorneys (rather than the usual single attorney) worked on this case, essentially on a full-time basis, for a total of three months or approximately 60 workdays each. The more than 900 hours (or 120 workdays)

¹⁷ At the time of the report, oral argument had not yet been held. However, it was held shortly thereafter, and the Court of Appeal issued its opinion on November 29, 2016. The work on the case was not completed within the 270 days for several reasons, but primarily because of time expended on petitioner’s efforts at the trial court and the Court of Appeal, Third Appellate District to keep the case in Sacramento (where initially filed) rather than in San Francisco (where it was ultimately decided). Per the case dockets in Appendix C attached to the 2012 council report, it took 64 days between the time of filing and when the case was eventually received in the Superior Court of San Francisco County. The court time expended in those 64 days by the Superior Court of Sacramento County and the Court of Appeal, Third Appellate District was not taken into consideration in developing the amount of the new fee.

¹⁸ The report may be viewed at <https://www.courts.ca.gov/documents/lr-2016-jobs-and-economic-improvement.pdf>.

of research time at the Court of Appeal is also significantly more than the 230 hours (or 29 workdays) originally estimated in establishing the $100,000 fee in the leadership cases.

A second project certified under the environmental leadership statute has been involved in litigation—the Sunset Boulevard Project, a major mixed-use construction project in Los Angeles. This litigation, filed in the Superior Court of Los Angeles County and appealed to the Court of Appeal, Second Appellate District, was similarly large and complex, with four separate complaints asserting CEQA violations, two of which went up on appeal.¹⁹ The trial court judge, an experienced CEQA judge, spent hundreds of hours on the case but, because of the complexity of the case and her need to spend time on other matters, the judgment took 230 days to issue. The Court of Appeal decision took a similar amount of time. The trial court judge reported that if she had been able to work on the case full time, she may have been able to have the judgment issued within the desired timeline.

Development of new fee amounts

As described above, AB 734 (the Oakland ballpark project) and AB 987 (the Inglewood arena project) require the project applicants to pay any “additional” court costs (“as provided in the rules of court adopted by the Judicial Council”) in order to adjudicate CEQA challenges brought against the project in 270 days. Given the typical scope of CEQA cases that qualify for expedited procedures and the court resources used in the Mission Bay and Sunset Boulevard cases, the committees concluded that the only possible way for courts to comply with the statutory timeline would be to take the case out of normal processing and assign personnel to it full time. Accounting for weekends and court holidays, 270 days is equivalent to approximately 182 workdays. Splitting this time equally between the trial and appellate courts means that each court has roughly 91 workdays to hear and decide the case.

Indeed, the trial court judge in the Mission Bay case estimated that he spent the equivalent of 92 workdays on the case and was assisted by two research attorneys who together spent a similar amount of time. Similarly, the trial court judge in Sunset Boulevard estimated that she may have been able to meet the expedited timeline if she had worked on the case full time. Appellate review of the Mission Bay case took a comparable amount of time. One appellate court justice and two research attorneys worked on that case for roughly 60 workdays each, or 180 workdays total. One appellate court justice and one research attorney spending 91 workdays on a case would also amount to approximately 180 workdays. The only data with respect to the time for appellate review in the Sunset Boulevard case is from the docket—a decision was filed 234 days after the notice of appeal was filed.

Accordingly, the cost of a judicial officer and a research attorney to work full time for 91 workdays at each court level appears to be a reasonable estimate for “additional costs” to adjudicate an expedited CEQA challenge. Such an estimate does not include other appellate court justice time, staff time, or overhead, all of which were factored into the calculation for the fee required in current rule 8.705, which aimed to cover all appellate court costs for environmental leadership projects.²⁰ The estimates²¹ are as follows:

- In the trial court, the cost of a judge for 91 days and one research attorney for 91 days would be approximately $120,000.
- In the appellate court, the cost of one appellate justice for 91 days and one research attorney for 91 days would be approximately $140,000.

The committees thus propose that the above amounts be charged for the expedited review by the trial court and the Court of Appeal, respectively. (See proposed rules 3.2240 and 8.705.) As permitted by the statutes, the proposed rules also allow for costs for any special master required for the matter to be charged directly to the project developer, as is currently provided in the environmental leadership cases.

Other amendments

At the time it was circulated in 2012, a couple of comments received on the proposal for the $100,000 fee for expedited CEQA review by the Court of Appeal in environmental leadership cases suggested that the rule should clarify that this is not a recoverable cost. The Appellate Advisory Committee declined to include this provision at the time,²² but noted that, if this issue was not addressed by the Legislature, the committee would consider the possibility of circulating a new proposal regarding this issue in the future. The committees are now including such a rule in this proposal. See proposed rules 3.2240(4) and 8.705(5).

Alternatives Considered

Because the new rules and fees are mandated by the Legislature, the committees did not consider the alternative of no rules.

The committees considered a different method of determining the costs to be paid: require the posting of a $100,000 deposit, calculate the court's actual costs for hearing and deciding that particular matter at the conclusion of the case, and require payment of actual costs at the end of the case. The committees ultimately decided against this approach, however, because of the administrative burden associated with calculating and collecting these costs in each case.

²⁰ Inclusion of other staff time and overhead may be appropriate when determining the fee for projects brought under SB 7 (future environmental leadership projects) and SB 44 (environmental leadership transit projects), both of which require the project applicant to agree "to pay the costs of the trial court and the court of appeal in hearing and deciding" any challenge to the project under CEQA.

²¹ These estimates are based solely on salary compensation and do not include judicial officer or attorney benefits such as health care or retirement.

²² The committee noted in its report to the council at that time that such a provision had not been included in the rule as circulated and was a sufficiently substantive change that the committee could not recommend it without further circulation.

Fiscal and Operational Impacts

Implementing the new legislation requiring expedited review of CEQA challenges to new project types may generate costs and operational impacts for both the trial court and the Court of Appeal in which the proceedings governed by these statutes are filed. The committees do not anticipate that this rule proposal will result in any additional costs to other courts.

Request for Specific Comments

In addition to comments on the proposal as a whole, the advisory committees are interested in comments on the following:

- Does the proposal appropriately address the stated purpose?
- Is it appropriate or necessary to include the provision that the new fees are not recoverable (see rules 3.2240(4) and 8.705(5))?
