Executive Summary

The Civil and Small Claims Advisory Committee recommends that the Judicial Council revise Answer—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-105) to allow a party to assert, as an affirmative defense, that the landlord terminated or failed to renew a tenancy based on acts against a tenant or a tenant's household member that constitute abuse of an elder or a dependent adult. The revisions to form UD-105 will satisfy a legislative mandate in recent amendments to Code of Civil Procedure section 1161.3 and will incorporate amended statutory text.

Recommendation

The Civil and Small Claims Advisory Committee recommends that the Judicial Council, effective January 1, 2014, revise form UD-105 to incorporate new affirmative defenses as required by Code of Civil Procedure section 1161.3.

The proposed revised form is attached at pages 5–6.

Previous Council Action

The Judicial Council initially approved form UD-105 in 1981 and has subsequently approved various revisions to the form. Most recently and pertinently, on October 28, 2011, the Judicial Council revised form UD-105 to satisfy a legislative mandate in Code of Civil Procedure section 1161.3 by incorporating a new affirmative defense alleging that plaintiff seeks to evict defendant based on acts against a defendant or a member of a defendant's household that constitute domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking.

Rationale for Recommendation

The proposed revisions to form UD-105 will satisfy a legislative mandate in Senate Bill 1403 (Yee) (http://leginfo.legislature.ca.gov/faces/billNavClient.xhtml?bill\_id=201120120SB1403&search\_keywords=), which amended section 1161.3 of the Code of Civil Procedure, effective January 1, 2013. The revisions are minor and would incorporate text that is used repeatedly in the amended section.

Code of Civil Procedure section 1161.3 was enacted in 2010 and, in pertinent part, prohibited a landlord from terminating or failing to renew a tenancy based on an act or acts against a tenant or a tenant's household member that constituted domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking. The 2010 legislation also required the Judicial Council to develop a new form or revise an existing form that may be used to assert the grounds set forth in section 1161.3 as an affirmative defense to an unlawful detainer action.

Effective January 1, 2012, upon the recommendation of the Civil and Small Claims Advisory Committee, the Judicial Council revised form UD-105 to include a new, optional affirmative defense (item 3i) stating: "Plaintiff seeks to evict defendant based on acts against defendant or a member of defendant's household that constitute domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking."

Effective January 1, 2013, the Legislature amended Code of Civil Procedure section 1161.3 to add acts that constitute abuse of an elder or a dependent adult to the acts for which a landlord was previously prohibited from terminating or failing to renew a tenancy. The amended section also requires that the Judicial Council, on or before January 1, 2014, develop a new form or revise an existing form that may be used by a party to assert these new grounds as an affirmative defense to an unlawful detainer action.

To carry out this new legislative mandate, the Civil and Small Claims Advisory Committee recommends that the Judicial Council approve the following revisions to item 3i of form UD-105:

Plaintiff seeks to evict defendant based on acts against defendant or a member of defendant's household that constitute domestic violence, sexual assault, or

stalking, or abuse of an elder or a dependent adult. (A temporary restraining order, protective order, or police report not more than 180 days old is required naming you or your household member as the protected party or a victim of these crimes.)

This revised text would mirror language that is used repeatedly in the amended statute.

Comments, Alternatives Considered, and Policy Implications

The Civil and Small Claims Advisory Committee recommends that the Judicial Council approve revised form UD-105 without circulation for comment, pursuant to rule 10.22 of the California Rules of Court,<sup>1</sup> because the revision is minor and unlikely to create controversy. The Judicial Council approved the relevant provision (item 3i) of current form UD-105 in 2011, after a proposal was circulated and comments were considered. As discussed above, the currently proposed revision is minor, incorporates amended statutory text, and will satisfy a statutory mandate. Circulating the revised form for comment is therefore unlikely to be beneficial and would unnecessarily consume limited judicial branch resources.

The Civil and Small Claims Advisory Committee briefly considered not recommending that form UD-105 be revised. The advisory committee decided against this approach because legislation requires the Judicial Council to develop a new form or revise an existing form for a party to assert the new affirmative defense, and revising form UD-105 is more efficient and will be more useful than developing a new form.

Implementation Requirements, Costs, and Operational Impacts

Revising form UD-105 should not impose any significant implementation requirements or have any significant cost or operational impacts on courts, because the form is completed by litigants and the revisions are very minor. Courts that provide printed forms to litigants may incur some negligible expenses replacing unused copies of the outdated form when the revised form becomes effective.

<sup>1</sup> Rule 10.22 of the California Rules of Court sets forth the procedure for an advisory committee to recommend that the Judicial Council revise a form. Subdivision (c) provides that a proposal must be submitted to the Rules and Projects Committee (RUPRO) with a recommendation that it be (1) circulated for public comment or (2) submitted to the council for approval without public comment. Paragraph (d)(2) provides that if the proposal presents a minor substantive change that is unlikely to create controversy, RUPRO may recommend that the council adopt it without circulating it for comment.

Relevant Strategic Plan Goals and Operational Plan Objectives

The revision of form UD-105 will support Goal I, Access, Fairness, and Diversity, by helping to make unlawful detainer proceedings understandable and accessible, particularly to self-represented litigants.
