Executive Summary and Origin

The Family and Juvenile Law Advisory Committee proposes the adoption of one new rule of court and a new confidential cover sheet, effective January 1, 2023, to comply with the mandate of Family Code section 7643.5, added by Assembly Bill 429 (Stats. 2021, ch. 52). The new form would be used by the petitioner to identify that the action or proceeding initially filed with the court to determine a parental relationship involves assisted reproduction under Family Code section 7613 or 7630(f), or sections 7960–7962, and provide information regarding the limitations on access to documents in such actions.

Background

Actions to determine a parental relationship under the Uniform Parentage Act in the Family Code have historically been confidential—the proceedings are closed to the public, and the public has limited access to records in the court file. However, AB 429 has amended the provisions governing the confidentiality currently applicable to all proceedings and records under the Uniform Parentage Act. Under amended Family Code section 7643, parentage actions filed before January 1, 2023, will remain confidential. However, those actions filed after January 1, 2023, which do not involve assisted reproduction, will no longer be confidential. AB 429 also added section 7643.5 to the Family Code to provide that confidentiality will continue to apply to parentage cases involving assisted reproduction, whenever they are, or were, filed in family court. Like all parentage actions filed before January 1, 2023, parentage cases involving assisted reproduction may be held in closed court with limited access to inspect and copy records.

Section 7643.5 also provides that " [o]n or before January 1, 2023, the Judicial Council, shall create a new form or modify an existing form, as it deems appropriate, that requires a party initiating an action or proceeding filed under Section 7613, subdivision (f) of Section 7630, or Part 7 (commencing with Section 7960) to designate the action or proceeding as filed under the identified statutory provision."

The Proposal

In response to the mandate of section 7643.5, the committee proposes that the Judicial Council adopt the following rule and form:

Rule 5.51, Confidential cover sheet for parentage actions or proceedings involving assisted reproduction; other requirements

This rule would specify the responsibilities of the petitioner to complete the confidential cover sheet and attach it to the initial document filed with the court. The proposed new rule would be placed under chapter 4 (Starting and Responding to a Family Law Case; Service of Papers), article 1 (Summonses, Notices, and Declarations), with the other rules that relate to the first papers issued by the court or required to be filed by the parties.

Confidential Cover Sheet—Parentage Action Involving Assisted Reproduction (form FL-211)

This proposed form would require the petitioner to identify that the initial filing in the case involves assisted reproduction and specify the name of the form attached to the cover sheet. It would also include instructions to the court clerk, as well as a section to provide notice to the parties and the court about the limitations on inspection and copying of records in the matter. The one-page form is based on the existing confidential cover sheet, Confidential Cover Sheet—False Claims Action (form CM-011), used in civil actions.

Alternatives Considered

Family Code section 7643.5 requires that the Judicial Council adopt a form or modify an existing form to comply with the statute. The committee, therefore, considered whether it should propose revising existing parentage forms as an additional way to comply with the mandate of the statute. Because there is no set of Judicial Council forms specific to assisted reproduction parentage cases, and litigants and attorneys may use their own pleadings, the committee decided to propose a new confidential cover sheet and require it to be attached to whatever form or pleading initiates the case.

In addition, the committee considered proposing only the mandatory cover sheet without an accompanying rule of court. However, because the Legislature required a new form to commence a legal action or proceeding in family court, the committee decided it was important that the Title V rules reflect this important change in the law in chapter 4.

Fiscal and Operational Impacts

The impact to the courts includes costs to copy the new form, as well as the cost to educate court clerks about the new form and rule. Courts may also need to update their case management systems and create new docket codes due to the new form, which must remain attached to the initial document filed in the parentage action or proceeding.

Request for Specific Comments

In addition to comments on the proposal as a whole, the advisory committee is interested in comments on the following:

- Does the proposal appropriately address the stated purpose?
- To inform its future work, the Family and Juvenile Law Advisory Committee is interested in comments about whether it would be beneficial to the courts and litigants to create rules of court and/or forms specifically for assisted reproduction parentage cases. If so, what should be included?

The advisory committee also seeks comments from courts on the following cost and implementation matters:

- Would the proposal provide cost savings? If so, please quantify.
- What would the implementation requirements be for courts? For example, training staff (please identify position and expected hours of training), revising processes and procedures (please describe), changing docket codes in case management systems, or modifying case management systems?
- Would 3 months from Judicial Council approval of this proposal until its effective date provide sufficient time for implementation?
- How well would this proposal work in courts of different sizes?
