Hon. Gavin Newsom
Governor of California
State Capitol, First Floor
Sacramento, California 95814

Subject: Assembly Bill 627 (Waldron) – Request for Signature

Dear Governor Newsom:

The Judicial Council of California is the sponsor of AB 627 and respectfully requests your signature. AB 627 ensures that divorce or dissolution orders and judgments issued by tribal courts that include division of pension or other deferred compensation assets are effective and, in particular, can be recognized as meeting the requirements of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA) (Public Law 93-406; 88 Stat. 829) and other similar statutes that restrict the transfer or division of such assets.

The process that would result from the passage of AB 627 manifests several important policies and practices:

- It provides an easier and less expensive alternative to “registration” of a tribal divorce or dissolution order in state court. This reduces barriers for tribal members who have a divorce or dissolution order from the tribal court.
- It reduces burdens on state trial courts. California’s trial courts manage significant caseloads. Reducing, even by a small number, the complex procedural filings that flow from the registration process enables courts to be more efficient.

Hon. Gavin Newsom

- It supports the capacity of and respect for tribal courts in California. Given the complex relationships that exist between the State of California and the tribal nations within the state's boundaries, enactment of AB 627 is a small but valuable step in validating the role of tribal courts in resolving issues important to the tribe's members.

For these reasons, the Judicial Council requests your signature on AB 627.
