Annual agenda approved by Rules Committee on (date): November 1, 2022

Project description from annual agenda: Develop and recommend rules of court and Judicial Council forms to implement the Community Assistance, Recovery, and Empowerment (CARE) Act (SB 1338; Stats. 2022, ch. 319). The committee will develop and recommend adoption of a mandatory form for use to file a CARE process petition, as required by Welfare and Institutions Code section 5975. The committee will develop and recommend adoption of rules of court to "implement the policies and provisions" in sections 5977–5977.4 "to promote statewide consistency, including, but not limited to, what "is included in the petition form packet"; the "clerk's review of the petition"; and the "process by which counsel will be appointed," as required by Welfare and Institutions Code section 5977.4(c). The committee will consider developing additional forms to the extent they would be useful to courts and self-represented petitioners in the CARE process.

Out of Cycle: If requesting September 1 effective date or out of cycle, explain why:

The committee is requesting a September 1, 2023, effective date because the Community Assistance, Recovery, and Empowerment (CARE) Act must be operative in seven counties—Glenn, Orange, Riverside, San Diego, San Francisco, Stanislaus, and Tuolumne—by October 1, 2023. An eighth county, Los Angeles, plans to begin filing and accepting CARE Act petitions on December 1, 2023. Rules and forms should take effect before October 1, 2023, to guide the CARE Act's implementation in these counties.

Committee
Hon. Jayne Chong-Soon Lee, Chair

Executive Summary

The Probate and Mental Health Advisory Committee recommends eleven new rules of court, one amended rule, and thirteen new forms to implement requirements in the Community Assistance, Recovery, and Empowerment (CARE) Act (Stats. 2022, ch. 319). The CARE Act establishes a new, noncriminal proceeding that authorizes a court—in response to a petition and after determining by clear and convincing evidence that the person for whom the petition is filed meets the necessary statutory criteria—to order the county behavioral health agency to work with the person to engage in services and determine whether a CARE agreement can be reached or, if those efforts are unsuccessful, to develop a CARE plan. Once the court has ordered a CARE plan, the court must hold regular status hearings to review the progress of the person and the county behavioral agency with the services ordered. The act requires the Judicial Council to develop a mandatory petition form, any other forms necessary for the court process, and rules of court to implement provisions of the act governing judicial proceedings.

Recommendation

The Probate and Mental Health Advisory Committee recommends that the Judicial Council, effective September 1, 2023:

1. Rename title 7 of the California Rules of Court the “Probate and Mental Health Rules” and reorganize it as follows:
 - Separate title 7 into two divisions, division 1 and division 2;
 - Place the Probate Rules in division 1 and name division 1 “Probate Rules”;
 - Name division 2 “Mental Health Rules” and separate division 2 into two chapters;
 - Reserve chapter 1 of division 2 for future rules;
 - Name chapter 2 of division 2 “CARE Act Rules”; and
 - Place the rules recommended below in chapter 2 of division 2 of title 7;
2. Adopt Cal. Rules of Court, rules 7.2201, 7.2205, 7.2210, 7.2221, 7.2223, 7.2225, 7.2230, 7.2235, 7.2240, 7.2301, and 7.2303 to implement provisions of the new CARE Act, as follows:
 - Rule 7.2201 states the purpose of the CARE Act rules;
 - Rule 7.2205 defines terms as used in those rules;
 - Rule 7.2210 circumscribes access to court records of CARE Act proceedings;
 - Rule 7.2221 specifies the contents of the petition packet and the clerk’s duties on receipt of a petition;
 - Rule 7.2223 clarifies the application of the statutory venue provisions and provides a procedure for transferring proceedings to the proper court if required;

 - Rule 7.2230 provides a framework for appointing and substituting counsel for the respondent;
 - Rule 7.2235 establishes procedures for serving notice and other documents;

- Rule 7.2240 establishes a process for responding to a motion to join a local government entity to CARE Act proceedings;
 - Rule 7.2301 establishes a process for the presiding judge or designee to issue an order to show cause and set a hearing for its return; and
 - Rule 7.2303 clarifies the respondent’s right to participate in all accountability hearings;
3. Amend rule 1.4 to reflect the inclusion of the new mental health rules in title 7 of the Rules of Court;
 4. Adopt Information for Respondents—About the CARE Act (form CARE-060-INFO), Petition to Commence CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-100), Mental Health Declaration—CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-101), Order for CARE Act Report (form CARE-105), Notice of Order for CARE Act Report (form CARE-106), Notice of Initial Appearance—CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-110), Notice of Respondent’s Rights—CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-113), and Notice of Hearing—CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-115), as mandatory forms to implement requirements of the CARE Act, as follows:
 - Form CARE-060-INFO is for use to inform the respondent about the CARE Act, explain the nature of CARE Act proceedings, summarize petitioner’s and respondent’s rights, and describe the role of a supporter;
 - Form CARE-100 is for use to file a petition to begin CARE Act proceedings;
 - Form CARE-101 is for use to provide a declaration under Welfare and Institutions Code section 5975(d)(1);

116), and Request for New Order and Hearing—CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-120) to implement provisions of the CARE Act, as follows:

- Form CARE-050-INFO is for use to inform petitioners about the CARE Act process and instruct them how to properly fill out the petition, form CARE-100;
- Form CARE-107 is for use to provide proof of personal service of forms CARE-105 and CARE-106 on the respondent;
- Form CARE-111 is for use for proof of personal service of form CARE-110 on the respondent;
- Form CARE-116 is for use for proof of personal service of form CARE-115 on the respondent; and
- Form CARE-120 is for use to request a new or modified court order and a hearing on that request.

The recommended rules and forms are attached at pages 23–62.

Relevant Previous Council Action

At the January 20, 2023, Judicial Council meeting, the council approved an allocation methodology to distribute funds to the first cohort of seven courts that will implement the CARE Act in fiscal year 2022–23. The council also approved distribution of funds to the State Bar of California for allocation by the Legal Services Trust Fund Commission to qualified legal services projects and support centers to be used for planning related to the CARE Act.

Analysis/Rationale

The CARE Act took effect on January 1, 2023.¹ The act requires implementation by counties in two cohorts. The first cohort of 7 counties and their superior courts must begin implementation by October 1, 2023.² The second cohort, comprising the remaining 51 counties in California, must begin implementation by December 1, 2024.³

The CARE Act is intended to provide “a path to care and wellness” for Californians living with untreated schizophrenia spectrum and other psychotic disorders, which lead to risks to their health and safety and increased homelessness, incarceration, hospitalization, conservatorship,

² § 5970.5(a). The counties in the first cohort are Glenn, Orange, Riverside, San Diego, San Francisco, Stanislaus, and Tuolumne.

³ § 5970.5(b). Los Angeles County has announced that it will implement one year early, in December 2023.

and premature death.⁴ To achieve this end, the act authorizes specified adults to petition a superior court for a determination that the person for whom the petition is filed (the respondent) is eligible to participate in the CARE Act process and, if so, for an order beginning the CARE Act process for the respondent. (§§ 5972, 5975, 5977.)

If, following a hearing on the merits of the petition, the court finds, by clear and convincing evidence, that the respondent meets the statutory criteria for eligibility to participate in the CARE Act process, the court must order the county behavioral health agency to work with the respondent, respondent's counsel, and the respondent's supporter, if any, to engage the respondent in behavioral health treatment and determine whether a CARE agreement for community-based services and support can be reached. (§ 5977(c)(2).) If the county and the respondent reach a CARE agreement, the court must either approve the agreement or modify the agreement and approve it as modified and then set a progress hearing. (§ 5977.1(a)(2).) If the parties cannot reach an agreement and are not likely to, the court must order a clinical evaluation of the respondent. (§ 5977.1(b).) At the clinical evaluation review hearing, the court must again determine whether, by clear and convincing evidence, the respondent meets the criteria for participation in the CARE process. (§ 5977.1(c)(2).) If the court finds that the respondent does meet those criteria, it must order the county behavioral health agency and the respondent, respondent's counsel, and respondent's supporter to jointly develop a CARE plan. (§ 5977.1(c)(3).)

The statute limits the services that may be included in a CARE agreement or plan to behavioral health services, medically necessary stabilization medications, housing resources, social services funded through Supplemental Security Income/State Supplementary Payment (SSI/SSP), state-funded programs such as CalFresh, and services provided through county general assistance programs, including health care (§ 5982(a)). The respondent or the county behavioral health agency, or both, may present a proposed CARE plan, and the court must adopt the elements of either or both plans that support the respondent's recovery and stability. (§ 5977.1(d)(1) & (2).) The court may also issue any orders necessary to support the respondent to access appropriate services and supports. (§ 5977.1(d)(2).) If the proposed CARE plan includes services and supports, such as housing, provided indirectly or directly through another local government entity, the court may consider a motion to add the local entity as a party to the CARE proceeding. (§ 5977.1(d)(4).) An approved CARE plan is valid for no more than one year. (§ 5977.1(e).)

Once the court has ordered a CARE plan, the court is required to hold regular status review hearings to review the progress of the respondent and the county behavioral health agency with the plan. (§ 5977.2.) At the one-year status hearing, the court will order the respondent and the county behavioral health agency to develop a graduation plan if the respondent wishes to graduate from the program; grant the respondent's request to continue to participate voluntarily for up to a year if the court finds that the respondent did not complete the CARE plan and would benefit from continuation; deny the respondent's request to continue; or order the respondent "involuntarily reappointed" to the program. (§ 5977.3.)

The CARE Act requires the Judicial Council to adopt rules and forms to implement its provisions. Specifically, section 5975 requires the council to adopt a petition form that includes specific information, as well as any other forms "necessary for the CARE process." In addition, the council must "adopt rules to implement the policies and provisions" of sections 5977–5977.4 "to promote statewide consistency." (§ 5977.4(c).) The rules must include, but need not be limited to, "what is included in the petition form packet, the clerk's review of the petition, and the process by which counsel will be appointed." (Ibid.)

New rules of court

The committee recommends the addition of the new rules, referred to as the CARE Act rules, to a new division in title 7 of the Rules of Court, the current Probate Rules. Title 7 would be retitled the Probate and Mental Health Rules in amended rule 1.4.

Preliminary rules 7.2201, 7.2205, and 7.2210

Rules 7.2201, 7.2205, and 7.2210 state the purpose of the CARE Act rules, define terms, and consolidate the requirements of the multiple statutory provisions requiring confidentiality of court records of CARE Act proceedings.

Commencement of proceeding rules 7.2221, 7.2223, 7.2225, and 7.2230

Rules 7.2221, 7.2223, 7.2225, and 7.2230 guide the beginning of judicial proceedings under the CARE Act.

Rule 7.2221 fulfills two statutory mandates by prescribing use of the petition form and the documents to be filed with the form (the "petition packet") and the clerk's duties on receipt of a petition and other documents for filing.⁵

Rule 7.2223 specifies that the statutory venue provisions apply at the time of filing the petition. (§ 5973(a).) This rule also provides a procedure for a transferring court and the court of the respondent's county of residence to use to ensure effective and expeditious transfer of appropriate proceedings in the event of a transfer order.⁶

Rule 7.2225 clarifies the persons authorized to file a petition to commence CARE Act proceedings. Section 5974 authorizes persons with specific relationships to the respondent to file such a petition. In addition, section 5978 authorizes a court to refer a person to CARE Act proceedings from proceedings to determine a misdemeanor defendant's competence to stand

⁵ Although the statute mandates a rule addressing "the clerk's review of the petition," the statute does not provide any authority for the clerk to review the petition or any basis on which to decline to file it. Because of the policy of both the legislative and judicial branches to promote access to the courts, proposed rule 7.2221(b) outlines only the clerk's ministerial duties on receipt of a petition for filing.

⁶ If the respondent resides in a county other than the one in which the petition is filed, the court must, if the respondent consents, transfer the case to the county of respondent's residence as soon as possible. (§ 5973(b).)

trial, assisted outpatient treatment proceedings, and mental health conservatorship proceedings under the Lanterman-Petris-Short (LPS) Act.⁷ The act, however, provides no exception to the petition requirement. Section 5978 specifies the person authorized to act as the petitioner on referral from assisted outpatient treatment or conservatorship proceedings but does not specify who will be the petitioner on a referral to CARE Act proceedings from misdemeanor proceedings under Penal Code section 1370.01.⁸ The rule recognizes a county's authority to designate an agency to be the petitioner in those circumstances.⁹

Rule 7.2230 requires that respondent's counsel be appointed under procedures established by local rule, and not simply through an ad hoc process. Although the statute requires the rules of court to include "the process by which counsel will be appointed," the committee determined that imposing a single statewide process would inevitably elide relevant differences among the counties in the availability of qualified legal services projects, public defender systems, bench-bar relationships, and many other factors. Furthermore, each court and county has experience appointing counsel in other types of proceedings and can leverage their experience and existing processes and systems to appoint counsel much more efficiently than they would be able to under a new, rule-based appointment process. In addition, the lack of clarity regarding the status of public funding for CARE Act appointments and the contingency of a qualified legal services project's eligibility for appointment on the availability of both that funding and the project's agreement to accept CARE Act appointments from the court led the committee to conclude that a rule specifying a statewide appointment process would be premature. To facilitate adequate representation, the rule does require that counsel be given a copy of the petition on appointment. Finally, the rule provides for substitution of counsel under specified circumstances and clarifies that, if the respondent exercises the right to be represented by counsel of the respondent's choice, the respondent must arrange for compensation of the chosen counsel.

Notice and joinder rules 7.2235 and 7.2240

Rules 7.2235 and 7.2240 address notice and joinder. The CARE Act requires notice of a variety of events to be given but rarely specifies the manner in which it must be given.

Rule 7.2235 provides notice procedures for three separate events. First, rule 7.2235(a) provides for notice of an order for a report to supplement the information in a petition that has made a prima facie showing that the respondent is eligible for the CARE Act process. (§ 5977(a)(3).) The statute requires the court to order the same agency ordered to file the report to serve notice of that order on the petitioner and the respondent. Because this notice may be the first time the respondent learns that someone has filed a CARE Act petition for them, the subdivision requires that respondent be served personally or, in the event that personal service is not practicable, by any method reasonably calculated to give the respondent actual notice. Proof of service on the respondent by an alternative method must include an explanation of why personal service is impracticable and why the method used is reasonably calculated to give the respondent actual notice. This subdivision also provides for notice that the court has granted an extension for filing the report, though this notice need not be personally served on the respondent. (§ 5977(a)(4).) The rule also requires a copy of the petition to be served with the order for report and notice of order.

⁷ Although the statute authorizes these referrals, it does not specify to whom a referral should be made or supply a procedural mechanism for making the referral. In the absence of any legislative direction, the committee does not propose a rule in this proposal to address these issues.

Second, rule 7.2235(b) provides notice procedures for the initial appearance on the petition. This subdivision too requires that the respondent be served personally or, if personal service is not practicable, by any method reasonably calculated to give the respondent actual notice. Again, proof of service on the respondent by an alternative method must include an explanation of why personal service is impracticable and why the method used is reasonably calculated to give the respondent actual notice. Furthermore, rule 7.2235(b)(1) requires that notice of the initial appearance include a copy of the filed petition, Notice of Respondent's Rights—CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-112), and Information for Respondents—About the CARE Act (form CARE-060-INFO).

Third, rule 7.2235(c) provides for service of notice of all other hearings in the CARE Act proceedings. Because of the possibility that the respondent may have misplaced Notice of Respondent's Rights—CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-113), notice to respondent of each hearing must include a copy of that form. The subdivision requires that respondent be served personally or, if personal service is not practicable, by any method reasonably calculated to give the respondent actual notice. Proof of service on the respondent by an alternative method must include an explanation of why personal service is impracticable and why the method used is reasonably calculated to give the respondent actual notice. The subdivision also requires, subject to the respondent's consent, notice of hearings to be provided to the respondent's supporter.

Rule 7.2235(d) provides for the method of service of notice. Unless personal service is required, the rule authorizes any notice or document to be served personally or by mail, express mail, fax, if or overnight delivery on any person, and electronically as provided in Code of Civil Procedure section 1010.6 and rule 2.251.

Finally, rule 7.2240 provides procedures for joining local government entities as parties. If a CARE plan includes services and supports provided directly or indirectly through a local government entity other than the county behavioral health agency, and the local entity does not agree to provide the service or support, section 5977.1(d)(4) authorizes the court to consider a motion by either of the parties to add the local entity as a party to the CARE Act proceedings. Rule 7.2240 supplies procedural conditions precedent to granting a motion for an order to join the local entity as a party. These conditions include issuance of an order to show cause, a hearing on the order, and service of the order in the same manner as a civil summons.

Accountability rules 7.2301 and 7.2303

Rules 7.2301 and 7.2303 address the accountability provisions of the act. Section 5979(b) provides a procedural mechanism for the court and its presiding judge or that judge's designee to exercise their authority to hold a county or other local government entity accountable for failing to provide the services and supports ordered in the CARE plan or failing to comply with other court orders. Rule 7.2301 provides a process for service of the order to show cause authorized by the statute. Rule 7.2303 provides that the respondent and respondent's counsel are entitled to be present and participate in any hearings held under section 5979.

New CARE Act forms

Information for Petitioners—About the CARE Act (form CARE-050-INFO)

Form CARE-050-INFO is an information sheet that describes the CARE Act process and instructs petitioners how to properly fill out the proposed petition form. It is targeted especially toward self-represented petitioners. After providing basic information, the form walks the petitioner item by item through the process of completing Petition to Commence CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-100). The form details the facts needed to support the petitioner's assertion that the respondent meets the statutory criteria to participate in the CARE Act process (§ 5972) and explains other requirements, such as a signature under penalty of perjury (§ 5975). The form also details the petitioner's rights and the possible outcomes after a petition is filed.

Information for Respondents—About the CARE Act (form CARE-060-INFO)

Form CARE-060-INFO gives the respondent important information about the CARE Act and CARE Act proceedings. The proposed rules require the form to be served on the respondent twice before the initial appearance, both with the notice of an order for a CARE report, if one is ordered, and with the notice of an initial appearance. Form CARE-060-INFO explains what the CARE Act is, the possible identities and rights of each party, the role of a supporter, the CARE Act criteria, and what happens in the initial stages of the court proceedings. This information is intended to help the respondent understand what the court is asked to do and how the respondent may respond. Because the rules require the form be served, the committee is recommending it as a mandatory form.

Petition to Commence CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-100)

Form CARE-100 fulfills the mandate in section 5975 for a mandatory petition form. As required by statute, proposed form CARE-100 enables the petitioner to provide or allege all the content required by sections 5972 (eligibility criteria), 5973 (venue), 5974 (permitted relationships between the petitioner and the respondent), and 5975 (mandatory petition elements) to begin CARE Act proceedings. The form also includes optional fields that encourage early provision of information to the court, including whether the respondent has a tribal affiliation, is under conservatorship or juvenile jurisdiction, is served by a Regional Center, needs interpretation services or an accommodation for a disability, or is a veteran or current member of the armed forces, and whether the petition is brought on referral from a separate judicial proceeding.

Mental Health Declaration—CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-101)

Form CARE-101 provides a mechanism to fulfill the mental health affidavit requirement in section 5975(d)(1). In addition to the criteria in section 5972 needed to establish a respondent's eligibility for the CARE Act process, the act, at section 5975, also requires the petition to include either the affidavit of a licensed behavioral health professional explaining why that individual has determined, or has reason to believe, that the respondent meets the CARE Act's diagnostic criteria (§ 5975(d)(1)) or other specific evidence.¹⁰ (§ 5975(d)(2)). The proposed rules require form CARE-101 to be attached to all petitions that are supported by the affidavit of a licensed behavioral health professional under section 5975(d)(1). The form itself provides a uniform framework and guidance for licensed behavioral health professionals to report the results of their assessments in the form of a declaration. Because the committee believes this format will facilitate a court's review of the petition, the form is recommended as a mandatory form.

Order for CARE Act Report (form CARE-105)

Form CARE-105 is a form for the court to use to order a county agency to investigate and file a written report under section 5977(a)(3) as well as to give notice of that order. If the court determines that the petition makes a prima facie showing that the respondent meets or may meet the criteria to participate in the CARE Act process and the petitioner is not the director of a county behavioral health agency or their designee, under section 5977(a)(3)(B) the court must order a county agency or their designee to engage the respondent and file a written report that addresses the respondent's eligibility for the CARE Act process, documents the agency's efforts during the report period to engage the respondent in voluntary services, and predicts the respondent's ability to engage in voluntary services.¹¹ Form CARE-105 provides the court with a mandatory form that includes all the statutory requirements.

Notice of Order for CARE Act Report (form CARE-106)

Form CARE-106 provides a uniform statewide mechanism for county agencies to use to provide notice of Order for CARE Act Report (form CARE-105). Section 5977(a)(3)(B) requires the court to order a county agency or its designee to give notice to the respondent and the petitioner that a report has been ordered.¹² Because receipt of this notice would probably be the first time the respondent would learn of the CARE Act proceeding, the recommended rules require personal service on the respondent unless personal service is impracticable. Additional documents, including a copy of the filed petition and information about the CARE Act process, must accompany the notice. Form CARE-106 also specifies that these documents be attached.

¹¹ If the petitioner is the director of a county behavioral health agency or their designee, the court may, at the time it sets the initial appearance, order the county to submit a report addressing the respondent's eligibility for the CARE Act process and the respondent's ability to engage in voluntary services, as well as documenting the agency's past efforts to engage the respondent in voluntary services. (§ 5977(a)(3)(A)(iii).)

Proof of Personal Service of Notice of Order for CARE Act Report (form CARE-107)

Form CARE-107 is an optional proof of service for a county agency to use to prove personal service on the respondent of Notice of Order for CARE Act Report (form CARE-106). Rule 7.2235(a) requires the county agency to serve this notice personally on the respondent unless personal service is impracticable. Form CARE-107 provides a uniform mechanism to prove personal service of the notice form and other required documents. Although other proofs of service are permissible, use of this form will enable courts to determine quickly and easily whether the respondent was properly served and received all the documents.

Notice of Initial Appearance—CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-110)

Form CARE-110 is for a county agency to use to provide notice of the initial appearance. Under section 5977(a), when the court sets an initial appearance, the court must order notice of the initial appearance served on specified persons. If the county behavioral health agency is the petitioner, the court must order the agency director or their designee to serve the notice on the respondent, the respondent’s appointed counsel, and the behavioral health agency in the county where the respondent resides, if different from the county where the proceedings have commenced. (§ 5977(a)(3)(A)(iv).) If the county behavioral health agency is not the petitioner, the court must order “the county” to serve notice on those same persons, as well as the petitioner and the behavioral health agency in the county where the proceedings have commenced if the proceedings have commenced in a county different from the county where the respondent resides. (§ 5977(a)(5)(C)(iii).) Form CARE-110 also lists the documents that must, under the recommended rules of court, accompany notice to the respondent. Use of this mandatory form will ensure that proper notice, including all necessary documents, is provided.

Proof of Personal Service of Notice of Initial Appearance—CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-111)

Form CARE-111 is an optional proof of service form for county agencies to use to prove personal service on the respondent of Notice of Initial Appearance—CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-110). Section 5977(a)(5)(C)(iii) requires the court to order the county to give notice to the respondent that an initial appearance date has been set. Recommended rule 7.2235(b) requires the county to personally serve notice on the respondent unless personal service is impracticable. Although other proofs of service are permissible, use of this form will enable courts to determine quickly and easily whether the respondent was properly served and received all required documents.

Notice of Respondent’s Rights—CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-113)

Form CARE-113 is a mandatory form to inform respondents of their procedural rights under the CARE Act. The CARE Act confers many rights, enumerated in several different statutory provisions. Section 5976 enumerates the respondent’s rights in the CARE Act process. Section 5976.5 establishes a presumption of closed hearings in CARE Act proceedings and respondent’s rights regarding that presumption. Section 5977(b)(1), (3), and (5) specify rights that may be exercised at the initial appearance. Because the recommended rules require service of this notice of rights form on the respondent, the committee is recommending it for mandatory use.

Notice of Hearing—CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-115)

Form CARE-115 is a mandatory form for use to provide notice of any CARE Act hearings after the initial appearance. Sections 5977(c) through 5977.3 establish the remaining court proceedings that can occur after the initial appearance. These include a hearing on the merits of the petition, a case management hearing, a progress hearing, a clinical evaluation review hearing, a CARE plan review hearing, multiple status review hearings, a one-year status hearing, and a graduation hearing. Notice of each of these hearings must be given to the parties. Proposed form CARE-115 would establish a single statewide form that parties would be required to use to provide notice of these hearings.

Proof of Personal Service of Notice of Hearing—CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-116)

Form CARE-116 is an optional proof of service form for use to prove personal service on respondent of form CARE-115. As noted above, sections 5977(c) through 5977.3 establish the remaining court hearings that can occur after the initial appearance. Proposed rule 7.2235(c) requires notice of these hearings to be personally served on the respondent, unless personal service is impracticable. Although other proofs of service are permissible, use of this form will enable courts to determine quickly and easily whether the respondent was properly served and received all required documents.

Request for New Order and Hearing—CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-120)

Form CARE-120 provides a mechanism for a party to request relief from the court. The request may arise due to a change in circumstances or a party's noncompliance with court orders, including the orders that constitute the CARE plan. For example, section 5977.2(b) authorizes the county behavioral health agency or the respondent to request a hearing due to a change in circumstances at any time during the CARE process. Section 5979 authorizes the court to make findings that the county or other local government entity is not complying with court orders. The committee recommends that this form be approved for optional use so as not to unduly restrict a party's options for seeking relief.

Policy implications

The CARE Act established a new framework for civil mental health outpatient court-ordered services and treatment. The new law has significant policy implications, but all can be attributed to the legislation. These recommended rules and forms will implement and facilitate those legislative policies.

Comments

The proposal was circulated for comment in the winter invitation-to-comment cycle, in December 2022 and January 2023; 47 comments were received from 54 commenters (including those who joined responses). Commenters include 21 advocacy organizations, 13 individuals, 7 county agencies including 2 county counsel, 4 superior courts, 2 public defenders, 2 private attorneys, a city attorney's office, a bar association, a justice, the Joint Rules Subcommittee

(JRS) of the Trial Court Presiding Judges Advisory Committee and Court Executives Advisory Committee, and a state agency. Eight agreed with the proposal, 31 agreed if modified, 4 did not agree, and 11 did not indicate whether they agreed or disagreed with the proposal.

The commenters that did not agree with the proposal—ACLU California Action, Disability Rights California, the Western Center on Law and Poverty, and Human Rights Watch—based their disagreement on issues with the CARE Act itself, including the putative unconstitutionality of the act, and the failure of the recommended rules and forms to remedy those issues. Because the issues raised lie outside the scope of the proposal and, in some cases, beyond the Judicial Council’s purview, the committee does not recommend modifying its recommendation in response. These issues are more appropriately addressed to the Legislature for resolution.

The committee received extensive comments in response to the invitation to comment. Some of the areas with the most comments included the following:

- Service of notice
- Proof of service
- Confidentiality and access to records
- Clerks’ duties
- Transfer
- Appointment of counsel
- Information forms
- Forms for commencement of proceedings
- Notice of respondent’s rights

The committee thanks all commenters and appreciates the time taken to respond to this proposal.

This report includes a comprehensive summary of issues that were raised frequently in the comments. All comments received, and the committee’s responses, are provided in the attached chart of comments at pages 63–345.

The chart of comments is organized in the following order (in alphabetical order by commenter per category):

- General comments, at pages 63–133
- Responses to requests for specific comment, at pages 134–173
- Rules, addressed by article, at pages 174–232
- Forms, addressed individually, at pages 233–344

Service of notice

Personal service on respondent. The committee received numerous comments requesting notice of hearings to be served on the respondent personally to ensure actual delivery and receipt of each notice. Commenters noted the potential difficulties for service on respondents and that special consideration should be given to ensure confirmed physical delivery of notices to individuals without a fixed address or experiencing homelessness who may be subject to CARE Act proceedings. Given the nature of the proceedings, actual service will be crucial. With this in mind, the committee agrees that service on the respondent by mail is insufficient and has revised rule 7.2235(a), (b), and (c) to require personal service of notice on the respondent or, if personal service is impracticable, service by any method reasonably calculated to give the respondent actual notice.

Service of a copy of the petition with notice of initial appearance. In the Invitation to Comment, commenters were asked whether it is appropriate to require that a copy of the petition be served with notice of the initial appearance. Eighteen commenters (including those who joined responses) responded. Commenters include five advocacy groups, three county agencies, three superior courts, two county counsel, two individuals, a city attorney, a bar association, and a public defender. All of the commenters indicated support for providing a copy of the petition with the notice of initial appearance. Commenters noted that the respondent should receive the petition as soon as possible in the process and should be fully informed of the basis of the proceedings. Meanwhile, the County Behavioral Health Directors Association of California expressed concern that providing a copy of the petition would pose potential issues for those who are unhoused or without a place to keep the information private or safe and recommended allowing the respondent to choose whether or not they want to be provided with a copy of the petition. While the committee understands the concern raised, because such a provision is required by due process and the majority of commenters supported providing a copy of the petition to respondents, the committee recommends maintaining the requirement in the original proposal requiring the petition to be served with the notice of initial appearance. (Recommended rule 7.2235(b)(3)(B)(i).) In light of the comments, the committee further recommends modifying recommended rule 7.2235(a)(4) to require a filed copy of the petition also be included with Notice of Order for CARE Act Report (form CARE-106) and Order for CARE Act Report (form CARE-105), so that the respondent receives a copy of the petition earlier in the proceedings.

Alternative methods of service. The committee received comments requesting alternatives to first-class mail when the rules require service of a document. Some commenters recommended express mail as an additional method of service. Other suggestions included service via facsimile, text, email, and other electronic means. The committee agrees to the suggestion to authorize alternative methods of service and has added subdivision (d) to rule 7.2235. Rule 7.2235(d)(1) provides that any notice or document, unless required to be served personally, may be served personally, by first-class mail, express mail, or overnight delivery on any person. Rule 7.2235(d)(2) authorizes service by fax transmission as provided in rule 2.306. And rule 7.2235(d)(3) provides that, unless required to be served personally, any notice or other document may be served electronically under Code of Civil Procedure section 1010.6 and rule 2.251.

Proof of Service

In the Invitation to Comment, commenters were asked whether a single proof of service form for notice of the initial appearance—including check boxes to indicate whether service was provided to each party personally or by mail and clear instructions that respondent must receive notice by personal service—would be as effective in ensuring that all parties receive proper notice as the division that was included in the invitation to comment with the proof of personal service on the reverse of the notice, form CARE-110, and proof of service by mail on form CARE-111. Ten commenters responded yes, three responded no, and one commenter was neutral.

Commenters who responded yes thought that having one form with checkboxes instead of two or more forms would be simpler. These commenters noted that having more than one form might cause confusion resulting in the petitioner not realizing both proofs of service are required and that having one form with possibly a separate section for personal service on respondent would be simpler. Unless the county behavioral health director is the petitioner, however, the CARE Act does not require a petitioner to serve any notices or other documents in the proceedings.

Commenters who responded no thought that two forms for proof of service would be necessary to reduce room for error by requiring a proof of personal service for the respondent and a separate proof of service for all other parties required to be noticed. These commenters also believed that two separate forms for proof of service would reduce confusion and highlight and reinforce the different service standards for the respondent and the other parties. Commenters further noted that requiring a separate proof of personal service for the respondent and an additional proof of service by first-class mail for all other parties required to be noticed would provide an efficient process by which the parties and the court could determine that appropriate service had been made.

Although most commenters suggested a single proof of service form, as described above, the committee agrees with the minority that a single form for proving service of multiple events by multiple methods was more likely to cause error and confusion and would not indicate as clearly to the court that the respondent had received proper notice as would separate proof of service forms. The committee therefore recommends creating separate forms for proof of personal service on the respondent specific to each type of notice to ensure that proper service is easily confirmed by the court.

The committee also considered consolidating proof of service of the notices of all hearings and other events (i.e., order for report, initial appearance, other hearings) in the CARE Act process into a single proof of service form. The committee determined, however, that separate forms for proof of personal service on the respondent of the order for report, notice of initial appearance, and the remaining hearings would better allow the court to quickly and easily verify that the required service had been accomplished.

Confidentiality and access to records

The committee received numerous comments expressing concern about ensuring documents and proceedings remain confidential with the suggestion to create rules to ensure that. The committee notes that recommended rule 7.2210 provides that all documents filed or submitted to the court in these proceedings are confidential, and strictly limits access to them. In response to these comments, the committee also revised all forms that have a caption identifying the respondent to indicate on the top of every page that they are “CONFIDENTIAL.”

Some commenters requested additional rules or changes to the proposed forms to explicitly allow or require sharing of a respondent's health information between the local county behavioral health agency, the county agency ordered to provide a report under section 5977(a), and the court. The committee determined that additional rules or revisions to forms to allow unrestricted information sharing were inappropriate because of the confidentiality protections in the CARE Act and other state and federal statutes. In addition, the committee concluded that rules were unnecessary to facilitate information sharing because agencies could request specific court orders authorizing disclosure of information.

Additionally, some commenters requested immunity from liability under privacy laws for health care providers who share confidential information in CARE Act proceedings. The CARE Act does not, however, address immunity from liability for health care providers who provide private health information without the consent of the patient. The Legislature may not have considered this issue. Furthermore, the CARE Act includes three separate confidentiality provisions and no information-sharing provision. Considering the statutory protection of private health-related information and the express confidentiality provisions in the CARE Act, the committee has concluded that it should not recommend that the council, by rule of court, authorize the sharing of, or expand access to, information made confidential by statute beyond the parties to the CARE Act proceedings and their counsel.

The committee also received comments requesting that the rules authorize the respondent's supporter, if any, to access case records because of the supporter's role in assisting the respondent to understand and make decisions throughout the CARE process. The committee has modified its recommended rule 7.2210(b) to provide for a supporter to have access to the case records only to the extent authorized by the respondent.

Finally, the committee received comments asking that the rules allow county counsel or agency counsel to have access to filings and documents submitted to the court in CARE proceedings. The committee has modified recommended rule 7.2210(b) to allow access to case records to counsel for the county behavioral health director or the director's designee.

Service of the order for a report on the county agency

Commenters were asked whether a mandatory statewide method for the court to serve Order for CARE Act Report on the county agency would be necessary or sufficient to ensure that the county agency receives the order, serves notice of the order on the required parties, and prepares the report. Seven commenters responded yes and six responded no. Commenters who responded yes thought that a mandatory statewide method would ensure uniform procedures, promote timely implementation of the statute, and ensure receipt of the orders and compliance with them. Those who opposed a mandatory statewide method indicated a local rule or process would be sufficient to achieve the purposes mentioned. One commenter stated that their court and county behavioral health agency currently have a process of referral and communication that is effective and would not be improved by a statewide method for the court to serve Order for CARE Act Report. Another commenter noted given the variety of county sizes, populations, and resources throughout the state, it is often not practicable to employ a “one-size-fits-all” requirement, particularly when dealing with agencies outside of the court system.

The committee does not recommend a rule mandating a statewide method for the court to serve Order for CARE Act Report on the county agency. The court in each county has developed practices and procedures for serving its orders on county agencies, including non-party agencies. For example, pursuant to section 331, a court may order a county agency to commence dependency proceedings using Application to Review Decision by Social Worker Not to Commence Proceedings (form JV-212), and that process does not have a mandatory statewide method for the court to serve. Furthermore, uniform procedures for serving court orders across county lines are beneficial only if the court issues such orders. The order for a CARE Act report is addressed to an agency in the same county as the court. The committee has determined that allowing each court and county to adapt local procedures to CARE Act proceedings will ultimately lead to less confusion than imposing a new, statewide method of service.

Clerk’s duties

The committee received numerous comments requesting specification of the court clerk’s duties upon receipt of noncompliant petitions. One commenter suggested providing a rule whereby the clerk must notify the petitioner if the petition is incomplete, while other commenters suggested including provisions on whether clerks would be authorized to reject noncompliant filings. The committee does not recommend a change to rule 7.2221(b)—which requires clerks to file a petition upon receipt—in response to this comment. The committee determined that implementing a provision that would place clerks in a position to decide whether to accept a petition or decide whether to request additional information could assist one party in a proceeding to the potential disadvantage of another party, thereby jeopardizing the perception of the court’s impartiality. Furthermore, case law makes clear that the clerk’s duties are ministerial.

Transfer

The committee received a comment proposing the addition of agency’s counsel to the list of those who should receive notice of transfer orders. The committee agreed and has added the agency’s counsel in both the transferring and receiving counties to rule 7.2223(b)(1)’s list of those who should be notified of a transfer order.

The committee received a comment requesting the definition or removal of the term “reasonable” in response to the requirement that a transferring court make a “reasonable inquiry” into the status of the transferred proceeding. The committee does not recommend the removal or definition of the term “reasonable” in response to this comment. Rule 7.2223 was modeled on the transfer provisions in Probate Code sections 2216 and 2217, which apply to transfer of probate guardianship or conservatorship proceedings. The committee determined the statutory process has worked well in those proceedings without a definition of “reasonable.”

Appointment of counsel

The committee received a number of comments requesting articulation of a process for appointment of counsel to avoid inconsistent practices in different jurisdictions. The committee does not recommend implementation of a uniform statewide process for appointment of counsel at this time. As discussed above, the committee determined that uniformity in the appointment process would lead to a lack of parity among counties in practice, and that, in any event, establishment of a statewide appointment process was premature given the dependence of each legal service project's eligibility for appointment on the uncertain availability of funding and the project's agreement to accept these appointments.

Information forms

The committee received numerous comments about the information forms, CARE-050-INFO and CARE-060-INFO. Both forms outline the basics of the CARE Act, its proceedings, and give the intended audiences (petitioners on one and respondents on the other) background and material with which to understand and execute their roles in the process. Many commenters commended the ability of the forms to distill the complicated CARE process into plain language while also noting that the forms were still very complicated for lay audiences. Because the forms are the initial and primary medium for communicating information of CARE proceedings to lay petitioners and respondents, commenters noted the importance of making them as clear as possible.

The committee agreed that the information sheets should be as easy to understand as possible. In response to accessibility and usability comments, the committee revised both forms. Form CARE-050-INFO, for petitioners, has been revised to include more detailed information regarding alternatives to CARE Act proceedings, information to include if the respondent's location is unknown, and additional eligibility examples. The form has also been updated to include references and links to the online directory of superior court self-help centers and information regarding how to request an interpreter and how to request a disability accommodation.

Form CARE-060-INFO, for respondents, has been revised to include information on CARE Act eligibility criteria, instructions to the respondent regarding which forms list the appointed counsel's contact information, and the next steps if a CARE agreement is not reached. Similar to form the other information form, form CARE-060-INFO has also been updated to include information regarding how to request an interpreter and how to request a disability accommodation.

In addition, the committee received numerous comments requesting a simplified version of form CARE-060-INFO in plainer language. The committee is considering a simpler version of the form in the future, but before recommending substantial changes, the new version will need to be circulated for public comment. In the meantime, the committee is recommending the modified version attached to this report.

The committee also received numerous comments recommending that the two information forms as well as Notice of Respondent's Rights—CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-113) be made available in multiple languages for individuals who are either limited English proficient or non-English speaking. The committee agrees that language access is critical. The committee recommends that these forms be prioritized for translation as resources become available.¹³

Forms for commencement of proceedings

The committee received numerous comments regarding the forms for use to commence CARE Act proceedings, particularly pertaining to the petition (form CARE-100) and mental health declaration (form CARE-101).

Petition. The committee received comments requesting revisions to item 3 of the petition (form CARE-100) to include additional contact and location information of the respondent. Based on the comments received, the committee modified the form to encourage the petitioner to provide additional information about the respondent, if known. In particular, commenters noted the potential difficulty posed by service to and engagement with respondents with no fixed address. The revised form CARE-100 now includes direction to the petitioner to include additional contact information, if known, of the respondent, such as phone number and whether the respondent can receive text messages and email.

The committee also expanded the items in the optional information section in form CARE-100. For example, the recommended form now provides petitioners the opportunity to give information on interpreter and disability accommodation needs, which will facilitate and accelerate outreach and representation. Additionally, in response to comments, the section allows the petitioner to indicate if the respondent is under juvenile court jurisdiction, under a conservatorship, a Regional Center client, or a veteran or current member of the military.

The committee also received comments requesting a change to form CARE-100 to allow for individuals to petition the court for respondents who do not yet have a diagnosis, but the committee does not recommend such a change. Section 5972(b) requires that, for an individual to be eligible for the CARE process, the person must meet the following criterion: “the person ... has a diagnosis identified in the disorder class: schizophrenia spectrum and other psychotic disorders” (emphasis added). Section 5975(c) requires the petition to include facts that support the petitioner’s assertion that the respondent meets that criterion, along with all other criteria. There is no discretion in the statute for the proposed change.

Mental health declaration. The committee received comments requesting revisions to item 7 of form CARE-101 to include yes/no check boxes for each sub-item. The committee does not recommend including yes/no check boxes, as they may lead the declarant to limit their responses to just checking the box and not providing further information or explaining further.

The committee also received comments requesting the addition of detailed examples to item 7 of form CARE-101. The committee does not recommend including the proposed language. The committee has determined that because the form is to be completed by a mental health professional, responses may be limited if the form provides such specific examples of the type of information sought.

Form to provide evidence under Section 5975(d)(2). The committee sought specific comment on whether a form for the petitioner to provide evidence under section 5975(d)(2) of a respondent's multiple intensive treatments would serve a function that is not more effectively served by direct documentary evidence of those treatments.

Eight commenters responded yes and five responded no. Commenters who responded yes noted it would be helpful to have such a form and that it could simplify the process. Commenters who opposed the form indicated that only direct documentary evidence should be permitted. One commenter noted that requiring direct evidence would prevent frivolous or inappropriate filings by petitioners who may incorrectly file a petition with the court based on documentation of treatment that is not pursuant to Welfare and Institutions Code section 5250. Other commenters noted an additional form for the petitioner to complete would result in a more cumbersome petition packet that is already lengthy and could lead to confusion or delay in the filing of the petition or dismissal by the court due to noncompliance of the required forms.

After considering the comments received, the committee does not recommend a separate form for providing the evidence under section 5975(d)(2) and has determined that a specific form would be unnecessary for this process. Relevant statements by the petitioner may be included on the petition, while additional evidence would already need to be attached to the petition.

Notice of respondent's rights

The committee received comments requesting the inclusion of additional rights in form CARE-113, such as respondent's right to have a court-appointed interpreter. The committee agrees that language access is critical but does not recommend any change to the proposal in response to this comment. The form recites the rights contained or described in the CARE Act.¹⁴ Nevertheless, the committee recommends adding information about how to request an interpreter and how to request a disability accommodation to form CARE-113, as well as forms CARE-050-INFO and form CARE-060-INFO because that information is regularly included in Judicial Council forms.

Another commenter requested information be provided regarding the right to be free from harassment and frivolous proceedings and the right to oppose the petition and put forward defenses. The committee does not recommend the suggested change for the reasons set forth above. In addition, respondents will have access to appointed counsel at all stages of the proceedings and that appointed counsel will be able to assist respondent in navigating through the court process, including presenting defenses as appropriate.

¹⁴ The rights included on the form are enumerated in sections 5976, 5976.5, and 5977(b)(1), (3), and (5).

Alternatives considered

The committee did not consider taking no action. The CARE Act requires the Judicial Council to adopt rules and forms to implement its policies and provisions. Specifically, section 5977.4(c) requires the Judicial Council to “adopt rules to implement the policies and provisions” of sections 5977–5977.4 “to promote statewide consistency.” The rules must include but are not limited to “what is included in the petition form packet, the clerk’s review of the petition, and the process by which counsel will be appointed.” (§ 5977.4(c).) Furthermore, section 5975 requires the council to “develop a mandatory form for use to file a CARE process petition with the court and any other forms necessary for the CARE process.” The proposed rules and forms fall within this expressed mandate and are necessary to implement SB 1338.

The committee met numerous times to develop the recommended rules and forms, to wrestle with issues in the statute, and to consider alternatives, including several that are not included in the recommendation. A few of these alternatives are discussed here.

Additional rule for continuances

The committee considered comments requesting additional rules for continuances of court dates, including merit hearings and initial appearances, on good cause shown, especially where the respondent has no physical address, but good faith attempts have been made to contact the respondent to no avail. The committee does not recommend addressing continuances in the rules. Sections 5977(a)(4) and 5977.1(a)(2)(B), (c)(1), (d)(5), and (d)(6) specify in detail the required timelines for setting hearings. To the extent necessary, the committee expects that the court’s inherent authority to manage its calendar will allow courts to handle the situation on a case-by-case basis.

Additional forms

The committee considered comments requesting additional forms for mandatory use. One commenter requested the following additional forms: a status review form, to be completed by the agency or other professionals before the 60-day status review hearings; a 12-month/1-year status report form to be completed by the agency or other professionals before the 12-month/1-year mark to assess the participation and progress of the CARE participant; and a termination/graduation form to be completed by the court when a CARE participant has been terminated from CARE court, either successfully or unsuccessfully. In addition to these forms being outside the scope of the current proposal, the committee does not recommend developing the suggested forms. The committee determined that, because of the variability among CARE plans, statewide uniformity in forms would be impracticable.

Another commenter proposed separating the petition into two forms, form CARE-100 and a form titled Petitioner’s Declaration of Eligibility (form CARE-102). The second form would have separated out the eligibility requirements while providing structured, specific space to provide a narrative of eligibility. The committee does not plan to develop the proposed form but expanded the fillable fields in form CARE-100 to give the petitioner more space to explain their reasons for believing the respondent is eligible for CARE Act proceedings, criterion by criterion. The committee determined that a single narrative supporting all criteria was likely to be overly general, duplicative of the petition, or both.

Additional proof of service forms

The committee developed three additional proof of service forms to be used to serve parties and other individuals eligible for notice, other than the respondent. The committee considered proposing these optional forms for proof of service for the notice of order for CARE Act report, proof of service for the notice of initial appearance, and proof of service for the notice of hearing. However, the committee does not recommend the approval of these forms at this time because there are other forms that serve the same purpose. Proof of Service—Civil (form POS-040) or Proof of Service of Summons (form POS-010) may be used to serve those parties and individuals. The committee will monitor proof of service issues in CARE Act proceedings and may consider future action if warranted.

Fiscal and Operational Impacts

The CARE Act itself poses significant fiscal and operational challenges for the trial courts, which need to create a new proceeding from the ground up. Limited funding to prepare for the operation of the act in the first cohort of seven courts on October 1, 2023, is included in this year's trial court budget. The Governor's January draft budget for fiscal year 2023–24 includes $23.8 million for judicial branch funding for this purpose. That amount would increase to $50.6 million in 2024–25, and $68.5 million in 2025–26 and ongoing.

On the other hand, the proposed rules and forms themselves should not have a significant fiscal or operational impact on the courts. They are intended, in part, to mitigate the operational impact of implementing the CARE Act by providing procedural guidance and standard mechanisms for commencing a proceeding under the act, giving notice of hearings and other proceedings under the act, and providing information to the parties. The proposal also leaves trial courts with flexibility to fine-tune their CARE Act processes by developing and adopting local rules.

CARE-050-INFO Information for Petitioners—About the CARE Act

This information sheet describes the CARE Act and how to fill out Petition to Commence CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-100). You may also be able to receive assistance at the court self-help center. Go to <https://selfhelp.courts.ca.gov/self-help/find-self-help> to find one for your court.

1 What is the CARE Act?

CARE stands for Community Assistance, Recovery, and Empowerment. The CARE Act is a way to allow specific people, called “petitioners,” to request court-ordered treatment, services, support, and a housing plan for certain people, called “respondents,” who have certain untreated severe mental illnesses, specifically schizophrenia or another psychotic disorder. A respondent must be 18 years of age or older.

CARE Act proceedings involve assessments and hearings to determine whether the respondent meets eligibility requirements. A county behavioral health agency will be involved in the process. If the respondent meets the standards for CARE eligibility, a CARE agreement or plan may be created and, if approved, ordered by the court.

2 What is a CARE agreement or CARE plan?

A CARE agreement and a CARE plan are written documents that specify services designed to support the recovery and stability of the respondent. They must be approved by court order. They may include clinical behavioral health care; counseling; specialized psychotherapies, programs, and treatments; stabilization medications; a housing plan; and other supports and services directly and indirectly through a local government entity. Stabilization medications must not be forcibly administered.

A CARE agreement is a voluntary agreement entered into by a respondent and the county behavioral health agency after a court has found that the respondent is eligible for the CARE program. The agreement is subject to court modification before approval.

A CARE plan is an individualized range of community-based services and supports for the respondent that is ordered by the court.

3 Have you considered alternatives to CARE Act proceedings?

There may be other ways to help a person with a severe mental illness. If the person has commercial health insurance, contact the health plan/insurer. If you do not know if the person has commercial health insurance or if they do not have commercial insurance, contact your county’s behavioral health agency or check its website for services. County behavioral health agencies offer an array of services, from counseling, psychiatrists, psychologists, or therapists, to full-service partnerships, rehabilitative mental health services, peer support services, intensive case management, crisis services, residential care, substance disorder treatment, assertive community treatment, and supportive housing. Counties are required to provide services to Medi-Cal beneficiaries who qualify for specialty mental health and substance use disorder services, but may also provide access to their services to a broader population, depending on local funding and eligibility criteria, without a court order.

A full-service partnership is designed for a person with a severe mental illness who would benefit from an intensive service program. A full-service partnership can assist a person who is homeless, involved with the justice system, or uses crisis psychiatric care frequently. Assertive community treatment is a form of mental health care provided in a community setting to help a person become independent and integrate into the community as they recover.

Find out if the person has made an advance health care directive or psychiatric advance directive, designating someone else to make health care decisions on their behalf when they cannot. Consider looking into local social services and community-based organizations too.

CARE-050-INFO Information for Petitioners—About the CARE Act

Item 7: Tribal Enrollment or Services From an American Indian Health Care Provider (Optional)

If you know or believe that the respondent is a member of a federally recognized Indian tribe, or is receiving services from an Indian health care provider, tribal court, or tribal organization, include that information in item 7.

Note: The petition will be processed even if you do not complete item 7.

Item 8: Referral From Another Court (Optional)

If you are filing a petition based on a referral from a court proceeding, check this box. Indicate which court made the referral and include the case number and department, if known. If you know which of the types of proceedings listed on the petition it was referred from, check the appropriate box in item 8c. Otherwise, leave item 8 blank and do not check the box. If you have a copy of the court order making the referral, label it as "Item 8" and attach it to the petition.

Note: The petition will be processed even if you do not complete item 8.

Item 9: Helpful Information

In item 9, check any of the boxes that apply to the respondent, if you know.

Note: The petition will be processed even if you do not complete item 9.

Item 10: Attachments

In item 10, list the total number of pages attached to the petition.

Signature: You must write the date, print your name, and sign the petition under penalty of perjury, which means that if anything you have said you know to be untrue, you may be criminally liable. If you have an attorney helping you, they will sign as well.

5 Is service of process required?

No. To begin CARE Act proceedings, you do not need to provide anyone except the court with a copy of the petition.

6 What will happen after I file the petition?

After a CARE Act petition is filed, the court will promptly review the petition and supporting documents to determine if they show that respondent meets or might meet the requirements described above. Then it will do one of the following:

- a. Dismiss the petition. The court will do this if it finds (1) that the petition does not show that the respondent meets or may meet the CARE Act eligibility requirements or (2) that the respondent is voluntarily working with the county agency, their engagement is effective, and the respondent has enrolled or is likely to enroll in voluntary treatment through the county or another provider.
- b. Order a report. If the court finds that the petition does show that the respondent meets or may meet the criteria for the CARE Act process, the court will order a county agency to engage the respondent and file a written report with the court within 14 business days. You and the respondent will be notified that the report has been ordered.
- c. Set an initial appearance. The court will set an initial appearance if it finds that the county agency's report supports the petition's showing that the respondent meets or may meet the CARE Act eligibility requirements and the county's engagement with the respondent was not effective. The court will also order the county to give notice of the hearing to you, the respondent, respondent's appointed counsel, and the county behavioral health agency.
Note: The procedures are somewhat different if the county behavioral health agency is the petitioner.

7 What happens at the initial appearance?

You, the petitioner, must be present at the initial hearing, or the court may dismiss the petition. You will receive a notice in the mail of the date, time, and place of the hearing.

Note: At the initial appearance, the director of the county behavioral health agency, or their designee, will replace you as the petitioner.

CARE-050-INFO Information for Petitioners—About the CARE Act8 What rights do petitioners have?

If you live with the respondent, are a spouse or registered domestic partner, parent, sibling, child, or grandparent of the respondent, or someone who stands in the place of a parent to the respondent, you have the right to participate during the hearing to determine the merits of the petition. The court may, in its discretion, assign you ongoing rights of notice. If the respondent agrees, the court may allow you to participate in the rest of the CARE Act proceedings.

If the matter is dismissed and later there is a change in circumstances, you may file a new petition with the court.

If you are a petitioner other than those listed above, you have the right to make a statement at the hearing on the merits of the petition, but you will not be assigned ongoing rights.

9 What is a vexatious litigant?

The court may determine a person is a vexatious litigant if that person files more than one petition under the CARE Act that has no basis in truth or reality or is intended to harass or annoy the respondent. A person who is deemed a vexatious litigant may be placed on a vexatious litigants list prepared and maintained by the Judicial Council. The court may enter an order that prevents a vexatious litigant from filing any new litigation, including potentially other types of cases (not just CARE Act petitions), without first obtaining permission from the presiding judge. If such an order is issued, a vexatious litigant who does not follow the order may be punished for contempt of court, which could result in fines or imprisonment.

10 What if I don't speak English?

When you file your papers, ask the clerk if a court interpreter is available. You can also use Request for Interpreter (Civil) (form INT-300), or a local court form or website to request an interpreter. For more information about court interpreters, go to <https://selfhelp.courts.ca.gov/request-interpreter>.

11 What if I have a disability?

If you have a disability and need an accommodation while you are at court, you can use Disability Accommodation Request (form MC-410) to make your request. You can also ask the ADA Coordinator in your court for help. For more information, see How to Request a Disability Accommodation for Court (form MC-410-INFO) or go to <https://selfhelp.courts.ca.gov/jcc-form/MC-410>.

CARE-060-INFO Information for Respondents—About the CARE Act

This information sheet provides information about the CARE Act and CARE Act proceedings.

1 Why am I being given these documents?

A family member, friend, or someone who has interacted with you due to your mental illness has filed a petition to begin CARE Act proceedings for you (the respondent). The petition asks the court to determine whether or not you qualify for services and treatment under the CARE Act. Based on a petition that was filed a court has found that you may qualify and is requesting additional information.

Note:

- You have been appointed an attorney, free of charge.
- Your court-appointed attorney will try to contact you about these proceedings using your last known location given to the court.
- You should make sure to keep your attorney updated with your contact information.
- You may also contact your attorney at any time. Your attorney's contact information is listed in item 5 on Order for Care Act Report (form CARE-105) and in item 4 of the Notice of Initial Appearance—CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-110).
- You may also choose an attorney to represent you instead of the appointed attorney. If you choose your own attorney, you are responsible for paying their fees.

2 What is the CARE Act?

CARE stands for Community Assistance, Recovery, and Empowerment. The CARE Act is a way to get court-ordered treatment, services, support, and a public housing plan for people with certain untreated severe mental illnesses, specifically schizophrenia spectrum or other psychotic disorders.

CARE Act proceedings involve outreach, meetings, and court hearings to determine whether you, the respondent, meet the eligibility requirements and to identify the services and supports you might need. One or more county agencies will be involved in the proceedings.

If the court determines that you have met the standards for CARE eligibility, you may work with the county behavioral health agency to develop a CARE agreement for services and supports. If you do not reach a CARE agreement with the county agency, the court will order a clinical evaluation of your mental health. After reviewing the evaluation, if the court determines you meet CARE eligibility, the court will order you and the county agency to develop a CARE plan.

3 What is CARE eligibility?

To be eligible for the CARE process, you need to be at least 18 years old, have a schizophrenia spectrum disorder or another psychotic disorder, and be currently experiencing a severe mental illness that has lasted for a long time, can make you do things that interfere with your life, and can make it impossible for you to live on your own for very long without treatment, support, and rehabilitation.

You also cannot be stabilized in a voluntary treatment program. Either it has to be unlikely that you will survive safely in the community without somebody watching over you and your condition is getting a lot worse, or you have to need services and supports to keep your symptoms from coming back or getting bad enough that you would probably become severely disabled or you or somebody else would get seriously hurt. Finally, it has to be likely that going through the CARE Act process would help you, and that nothing less restrictive than the CARE Act will make sure that you recover and stabilize.

4 What is a CARE agreement or CARE plan?

A CARE agreement and CARE plan are written documents that specify services designed to support you. They must be approved by court order. They may include clinical behavioral health care; counseling; specialized psychotherapies, programs, and treatments; stabilization medications; a housing plan; and other supports and services, directly and indirectly through a local government entity. Stabilization medications must not be forcibly administered.

A CARE agreement is a voluntary agreement between you and the county behavioral health agency after a court has found that you are eligible for the CARE program. The agreement is subject to court modification before approval.

If you are not able to enter into a CARE agreement, you will be asked to work with the CARE team to create a CARE plan. A CARE plan is an individualized range of community-based supports and services that is ordered by the court. A CARE plan can include the same elements as a CARE agreement to support your access to community-based services and supports.

5 Who is the petitioner?

The petitioner is the person who is asking the court to start CARE Act proceedings for you.

6 Who is the respondent?

You are the respondent, the person for whom the CARE Act proceedings are being requested.

7 What happens after the petition has been filed?

The court reviews the petition, decides whether you might be eligible for CARE Act proceedings, and may order a county agency to try to contact you, talk with you, and file a written report with the court within 14 business days, unless an extension is granted by the court. You and the petitioner will be sent notice if the court orders a report.

What happens if the county agency contacts me?

The county agency will ask you about your mental and physical health, the effects of your mental health on your life, whether services and treatment would be helpful, and whether you are willing to work with the county to get connected to services and treatment.

What will the report include?

A report will be submitted even if the county agency is not able to contact you. The report will include the following information:

- A determination of whether you meet, or are likely to meet, the eligibility requirements for the CARE Act process, including your mental health diagnosis and current condition, whether you need additional mental health services, and whether there are treatment options that would help you and be less restrictive than a CARE agreement or plan.
- The county's attempts and the results of the county's efforts to seek your voluntary participation in services and the county's conclusions about your ability to participate voluntarily in services.

What happens after the court receives the report?

After the court receives the report, it will either:

- Dismiss the proceedings: If the court finds, based on the petition and the county's report, that you are not eligible for CARE Act proceedings or that you are working willingly and effectively with the county agency and you have willingly enrolled or are likely to enroll in behavioral health treatment, the court will dismiss the case; or
- Set an initial appearance (court hearing): If the court finds that the county's report shows that you probably meet the requirements for CARE Act proceedings and the county's contacts with you were not able to connect you with voluntary behavioral health treatment, the court will set an initial appearance.

Note: The court has appointed an attorney for you who will contact you at the beginning of the CARE Act proceedings. If the court sets an initial appearance, you will get notice of the date, time, and place of the hearing and additional information.

CARE-060-INFO Information for Respondents—About the CARE Act8 What happens at the initial appearance and the hearing on the merits?*At the initial appearance:

- You may replace your court-appointed attorney with an attorney that you choose.

Note: If you choose your own attorney, you are responsible for paying their fees, if any.

- You have the right to appear in person. You can choose to give up your right to attend personally, and your attorney can appear on your behalf.
- If you do not indicate through your attorney that you are choosing not to attend and you do not appear, and the court makes a finding on the record that reasonable attempts to encourage you to appear have failed, there may be a hearing without you, if the court finds that would be in your best interests.
- The petitioner must be present at the initial appearance, or the petition may be dismissed.
- A representative from the county behavioral health agency will be present.
- If the original petitioner is not the director of a county behavioral health agency, the petitioner will be replaced by the director of the county behavioral health agency, or their designee, who will take over as the petitioner.
- The court may appoint a supporter of your choosing. A supporter is someone to help you understand the process and communicate what you want and need. You can choose your supporter but you are not required to have one. For more information, see item (11), below.
- If you are enrolled in a federally recognized Indian tribe or otherwise receiving services from an Indian health care provider, a tribal court, or a tribal organization, a representative from the program, the tribe, or the tribal court is allowed to be present if you consent. The tribal representative is entitled to notice by the county of the initial appearance.
- The court will set a hearing on the merits of the petition.

- The hearing on the merits of the petition may happen at the same time of the initial appearance on the petition but only if you (the respondent), the petitioner, and the court agree.

At the hearing on the merits:

The court will determine if you meet the CARE Act criteria. In making this determination, the court will consider all evidence properly before it, including the report from the county agency and any additional evidence presented by the parties, including the petition and any information you provide.

- If the court finds that you do not meet the CARE Act requirements: The court will dismiss the petition without prejudice unless the court makes a finding, on the record, that the original petitioner's filing was not in good faith.
- If the court finds that the petitioner has shown that you do meet the CARE Act requirements: The court will order the county behavioral health agency to work with you, your attorney, and your supporter, if you have one, to participate in behavioral health treatment and determine if you and the behavioral health agency will be able to enter into a CARE agreement. The court will also set a case management hearing.

Note: If you are enrolled in a federally recognized Indian tribe and you want a tribal representative to attend the case management hearing, you should notify the tribe of the date, time, and place of the hearing.

9 What rights do petitioners have?

If the petitioner lives with you; is your spouse, parent, sibling, child, or grandparent; or is someone who stands in the place of a parent, that person has the right to participate during the hearing to determine the merits of the petition. The court may assign these petitioners ongoing rights of notice. If you agree, the court may allow the petitioner to participate in your CARE Act proceedings.

If the petitioner is someone not on the list above, they have the right to make a statement at the hearing on the merits of the petition but will not be assigned ongoing rights.

CARE-060-INFO Information for Respondents—About the CARE Act10 What rights do respondents have?

Once the CARE Act proceedings have started, you have the right to be informed of the proceedings, the right to take part in the proceedings, the right to be represented in all stages of the process, and other rights.

11 What is a "supporter"?

You have the right to choose a person to support you throughout the CARE Act process. The CARE Act calls that person a supporter. The court may appoint the person you have chosen as your supporter. The supporter's role is to assist you with understanding, communicating, making decisions, and expressing preferences throughout the CARE Act process.

With your consent, the supporter may be present at any CARE Act related proceedings.

Your supporter must:

- Respect your values and beliefs and support your preferences to the best of their ability.
- Communicate with you to help you understand and make informed decisions.

Your supporter must not:

- Act independently from you.
- Make decisions on your behalf unless necessary to prevent harm.
- Sign documents on your behalf.

You have a right to have a supporter throughout the CARE Act process.

You can also ask the ADA Coordinator in your court for help. For more information, see How to Request a Disability Accommodation for Court (form MC-410-INFO) or go to <https://selfhelp.courts.ca.gov/jcc-form/MC-410>.

NOTICE OF RESPONDENT'S RIGHTS—CARE ACT PROCEEDINGS		CASE NUMBER:

A petition to begin CARE Act proceedings for you has been filed. You have been appointed an attorney, free of charge. Your court-appointed attorney will be contacting you about these proceedings. You may also retain an attorney of your choosing to represent you instead of the appointed attorney. If you choose your own attorney, you are responsible for their fees. A person who, like you, is the subject of a CARE Act petition is called the respondent.

THE CARE ACT RESPONDENT'S RIGHTS

Each respondent has all of the following rights.

During the CARE Act proceedings, the respondent has a right to:

- Be informed of the proceedings;
- Receive notice of each hearing;
- Be present and personally participate at each hearing;
- Be represented by counsel at all stages of the proceedings, regardless of ability to pay;
- Receive a copy of the petition;
- Receive a copy of the court-ordered evaluation and court-ordered report;
- Have a supporter be present with them and assist them, as explained below;
- Present evidence;
- Call witnesses;
- Cross-examine witnesses;
- Appeal decisions; and
- Keep confidential all evaluations, reports, documents, and filings submitted to the court for CARE Act proceedings.

CARE Act hearings are closed to the public unless the court orders otherwise (see below). However, the respondent has a right to:

- Demand that the hearing be public and be held in a place suitable for attendance by the public;
- Request the presence of any family member or friend, including a supporter, without waiving the right to keep the hearing closed to the rest of the public; and
- Be informed by the judge of these rights before each hearing begins.

Note: The court may grant a request by any other party to the proceeding to make a hearing public if the judge conducting the hearing finds that the public interest in an open hearing clearly outweighs the respondent's interest in privacy.

The respondent has a right to a supporter throughout the CARE Act process.

The supporter's role is to assist the respondent with understanding, communicating, and making decisions and expressing preferences at hearings and meetings throughout the CARE Act process. For more information, see Information for Respondents—About the CARE Act (form CARE-060-INFO).

What if I don't speak English?

When you file your papers, ask the clerk if a court interpreter is available. You can also use Request for Interpreter—Civil (form INT-300) or a local court form or website to request an interpreter. For more information about court interpreters, go to <https://selfhelp.courts.ca.gov/request-interpreter>.

What if I have a disability?

If you have a disability and need an accommodation while you are at court, you can use Disability Accommodation Request (form MC-410) to make your request. You can also ask the ADA Coordinator in your court for help. For more information, see How to Request a Disability Accommodation for Court (form MC-410-INFO).

1.	Lezlie Abbott, Investigator Director, Family Court Services Fresno	A	This will require county agencies to provide the services they offer to individuals that qualify and need services, and be accountable to the bench officer, rather than denying services to keep numbers and case load low to please their board. There is scholarly research that supports providing people with cognitive disabilities with services improves their quality of life and reduces the likelihood they will end up in jail or homeless. This is for the betterment of the community at large and for the proposed conservatee or ward.	The committee appreciates this comment. No further response required, other than to note that the CARE Act does not authorize establishment of conservatorship or guardianship.
2.	ACLU California Action by Carlos Marquez, Executive Director Sacramento	N	Having reviewed the eleven rules of court and eleven forms proposed to implement the newly enacted Community Assistance, Recovery, and Empowerment (CARE) Act, we at ACLU California Action must write to oppose both the substance and the process created by them. The proposed rules and forms do not remedy the coercion at the core of the system created by the CARE Act, which will force community members into a loop of court control and will exacerbate existing racial disparities in housing, healthcare, policing, and the legal system. Indeed, these rules and forms raise new concerns and questions around the risk of abuse and misuse of the CARE court procedures. We write to express the following principal bases for our opposition:	The committee appreciates this comment. This comment raises policy issues that are more appropriately addressed to the Legislature for resolution.

		1) The proposed rules and forms do not remedy the coercion embedded in the CARE court petition process. These proposed rules and forms make clear that an expansive list of petitioners, many of whom have no qualifications in identifying mental health conditions, are empowered to push a person into the CARE Court process without their consent or knowledge. The rules to provide notice of the already-initiated process are inadequate to address the trauma connected to unanticipated contact with the legal system and do not consider the challenges of providing adequate notice to unhoused community members. The rules on vexatious litigants are aimed at repeat abusers of this process which is not enough to remedy the harm and disruption that a single petition may cause. 2) The proposed rules and forms make clear the system of hearings created by the CARE Act are coercive. A person petitioned into the CARE Court system may be notified by a form that a petition has been filed against them, they have been appointed a lawyer, and they are expected to attend hearings. The result of these hearings may be a court-ordered CARE Plan, which implicates vital areas of a person’s life including medication, treatment, and housing. The court may use failure to comply with the CARE plan to form a presumption that additional

Individuals coerced into treatment experience these services as trauma, not as care. Research demonstrates that coerced treatment is less effective than voluntary, intensive, culturally-competent services. 4) The proposed rules and forms do not remedy the racially disparate impact the CARE court system will have. Due to a long and ongoing history of racial discrimination in housing, banking, employment, policing, land use and healthcare, BIPOC Californians experience homelessness at vastly disproportionate levels compared to the overall population of the state. A program to place unhoused community members under state control through court-ordered “treatment,” will impact BIPOC community members disproportionately. Affordable Housing Advocates by Catherine Rodman Director & Supervising Attorney San Diego	NI	Accessibility [T]here is nothing in any of the proposed Information handouts or forms advising the respondent that they can obtain the information and forms in their primary language, if other than English. Nor do the respondent’s rights include the right to an interpreter, provided by the court. Many residents of San Diego County and elsewhere, throughout our multi-cultural State, are either Limited English Proficient (LEP) or non-English speaking. This information will be served on respondent and appointed counsel. An order for a report under section 5977(a)(3)(A) is discretionary and, if made, would be made at the same time as the court sets the initial appearance. Notice of an order for a report under section 5977(a)(3)(A) is therefore included in the notice of initial appearance. In addition, separate notice of a report ordered under section 5977(a)(3)(A) because that report addresses only the county behavioral health agency’s past efforts to engage the respondent and requires no further engagement.
		The court should be required to order the petitioner to personally serve respondent and appointed counsel with all forms submitted or filed.	The committee has modified the recommended rule 7.2235, in light of this and other comments, to require that the respondent be served personally, unless personal service is impracticable. The statute does not require service by the petitioner. When it requires service of notice, the statute imposes that duty on the county behavioral health agency, “the county” more broadly, and, in one instance that is probably a typographical error, the respondent.

The committee does not recommend development of a response form, as it is unnecessary. The statute does not provide for the filing of a response before the hearing on the merits of the petition; neither does it provide for dismissal of a petition that makes a prima facie showing of the respondent’s eligibility before that hearing. As a response cannot affect whether the petitioner makes a prima facie showing, it is not clear what role a response form would play. In addition, a response form would impose a burden on the party it is intended to assist. Because the burden of proof is on the petitioner to show, by clear and convincing evidence, that the respondent meets each of the criteria for CARE Act eligibility in section 5972, the respondent must establish that the petitioner has not met that burden as to only one criterion. Respondent’s counsel could accomplish that more easily and persuasively at the hearing by presenting focused testimony and other evidence or cross-examining petitioner’s witnesses than by completing and filing a form. The committee does not recommend addressing continuances in the rules. General provisions, (b) Access to records (§ 5977.4(a)), all documents are confidential and may only be inspected by respondent, respondent’s counsel, and county behavioral health director or director’s designee. ITC page 13. However, the petitioner must attend the initial hearing (CARE-050-INFO, ITC page 25), and this appears to mean that a petitioner could get confidential information about a respondent that the respondent does not want the petitioner to have. HAC strongly urges that there be a provision so that respondent can protect their confidential information from petitioners, which could include family members or other non-professionals. Additional comments: HAC is concerned that the respondent population will be served with many legal notices and forms with consequential information before their first appearance, and thus they will likely have to navigate what the information means and what they must do without any assistance. The council cannot adopt rules that are inconsistent with statute. In addition, the presence of the petitioner is not likely to prejudice the respondent. No evidence may be taken at the initial appearance without the stipulation of the parties, including the respondent. The principal court action at the initial appearance is to dismiss the petitioner from the proceeding unless the petitioner is the county behavioral health agency. After being dismissed, the petitioner’s access to the proceedings is largely subject to the court’s discretion. Furthermore, the respondent will be represented at the initial appearance. Further, respondents are able to request extensions for various things, but this fact is not made clear on the forms. The forms should clearly state when and how respondents can request extensions. Lastly, HAC has serious concerns about the lack of clarity in the terms in some of the forms, which track the language in the law. The Judicial Council noted this, stating “For example, the CARE Act uses many technical terms without defining them.” ITC page 9. These terms include, but are not limited to, “serious mental illness,” “frequent hospitalizations,” and “untreated mental illness.” This lack of clarity will certainly result in inconsistent application throughout jurisdictions. 20.	Housing California by Mari Castaldi, Senior Legislative Advocate on Homelessness Sacramento	AM	Noticing Requirements and Special Consideration for Respondents Experiencing Homelessness: In general, as the Advisory Committee develops rules, forms, and processes for notification of CARE Act respondents, special consideration should be given to ensure confirmed physical delivery of notices to people experiencing homelessness that may be subject to a CARE Act proceeding. For someone experiencing homelessness, receiving notice through the mail will present major challenges, even if the individual has an address listed at a shelter, a PO Box, or some other alternative to a traditional physical address. Health, Mental Health, and Other Clinical Expertise of Petitioners: Housing California remains concerned about the range of possible petitioners that are able to submit petitions and enter a respondent into a CARE Act process, irrespective of whether the petitioner has clinical training or other training relevant to working with people with serious mental illness. Service must always be confirmed by filing a proof of service with the court. The committee does not recommend the suggested change. Section 5974 authorizes a wide variety of persons, including non-clinicians, to file a petition to initiate the CARE Act process. The statute does not, however, make the petitioner’s experience or training relevant to any judicial determination, including whether the respondent is eligible for the CARE Act process. The court therefore has no basis for inquiring into that experience or training.

Rather, it describes respondent eligibility in technical, medical language and lists vague and stereotypical characteristics to cite when claiming someone is experiencing a qualifying mental health condition, such as issues with personal hygiene, difficulty concentrating, and difficulty functioning socially. Even more troubling, the form includes the example of “difficulty maintaining a residence,” which is rooted in structural and societal barriers to housing that may be wholly separate and irrelevant to the manifestation of a mental health condition. Similarly, to support the eligibility requirement that a person be in need of services, the proposed form gives petitioners the example of a person that has access to housing but chooses to live in conditions that could lead to hypothermia. The proposed form states that the court may determine a person is a vexatious litigant if that person files more than one petition under the CARE Act that has no basis in truth or reality or is aimed at harassment. However, failure to agree to that supposedly voluntary plan results in a court-ordered clinical evaluation by that same behavioral health agency, which can be used to impose a CARE plan following a hearing on the evaluation and other evidence. As the proposed forms expound, that CARE plan may include an order to engage in clinical behavioral health care; counseling; specialized psychotherapies, programs, and treatments; stabilization medications; and priority access for certain housing resources. This approach not only robs individuals of dignity and autonomy but is also coercive and likely ineffective. Studies of coercive mental health treatment have generally not shown positive outcomes. Housing or disability status does not remove a person’s right to legal capacity or personal autonomy. 		insufficient involvement of the respondent in CARE Court proceedings. Notice Problems The proposed rules consistently call for notice to respondent to be provided no later than five court days before various CARE Court hearings. This short timeframe is grossly inadequate and unrealistic for the population of individuals that will be respondents in CARE Court. Legal aid organizations have experience serving people with mental health disabilities, as well as people that are unhoused. Reaching these individuals is extremely difficult. Not only do they frequently move around, but they are also often unable to receive mail, or even phone calls as their phones (if they have them) are regularly stolen or not functioning due to lack of funds. Legal aid attorneys report that it is not unusual for it to take a couple of weeks to locate a client. If the rules are adopted as written, it is unlikely that the respondent will be fairly notified and therefore unlikely that they will be able to meaningfully participate in CARE Court proceedings, the result of which will have serious consequences. While we understand that portions of the CARE Court process are expedited—the statute calls, for example, for the court to set an initial appearance within 14 days of its finding that	The committee does not recommend any changes to the proposal in response to this comment. The respondent should be notified at the time a petition is filed and the court begins their evaluation of the petition’s merits, rather than waiting until a court has already made a finding on that petition. > Notably, the proposed rules only call for personal service to the respondent in a single instance, for the notice of initial appearance. For the same reasons that a five-day notice period is problematic, anything other than personal service is impractical and unrealistic. We anticipate that most respondents in CARE Court will be unlikely to reliably receive mail and will be difficult to locate. Furthermore, if the Legislature had intended to require service of the petition on the respondent when filed, the Legislature could have done so, but did not. The committee agrees that service of notice by personal delivery is better suited to giving actual notice to a respondent and has therefore revised the proposal to require personal delivery to the respondent of notice of every hearing under the CARE Act. 		notice of initial appearance, would also lessen the impracticality of the rules as written. > The contents of the notice itself could be improved to increase the likelihood of the respondent’s participation. The proposed rules do not call for the notice to include information for the respondent about who has been appointed as their counsel and how to reach them. Because respondents will be difficult to contact, as detailed above, their appointed counsel will face a serious challenge in meeting with and preparing their client for CARE Court appearances, particularly the initial appearances with its expedited timeframe. The experience of legal aid attorneys instructs that including the attorney’s information on the notice leads to better outcomes. If the respondent can reach out to their attorney, rather than simply having to wait for their attorney to try to locate them, this will increase the likelihood of success. > A person that the statute anticipates being involved in CARE Court proceedings that is notably absent from the notice procedures proposed here is the “supporter.” Section 5976 provides that a respondent shall be allowed to have a supporter. The statute even states that if the court finds clear and convincing evidence that a respondent meets CARE Criteria, it shall order the county behavior health agency to work	The committee does not recommend any changes to the proposed rules in response to this comment. Rule 7.2235 requires that specific mandatory forms be included with notice to the respondent. For example, rule 7.2235(a) requires that service of Notice of Order for CARE Act Report (form CARE-106) include both form CARE-105, which includes the name and contact information of respondent’s appointed counsel, and form CARE-060-INFO, which provides a detailed description of the CARE Act process tailored to the respondent’s perspective, including the information that they have been appointed counsel. Rule 7.2235(b) imposes similar requirements for service of the mandatory Notice of Initial Appearance (form CARE-110). The committee agrees that the supporter can play an important role in CARE Act proceedings, but that role is contingent on the acceptance of the respondent. The committee has therefore revised the proposal to require notice of hearings after the initial appearance to be given to a supporter, if any, if the respondent consents in writing or in open court.

Section 5977(b)(3) indicates that the hearing may go forward if the respondent isn't there and attempts to elicit attendance have failed, if it is in the respondent's best interest. Furthermore, failed attempts to give notice of the hearing should prohibit the hearing from going forward. Likewise, if the respondent was indeed served but their appointed counsel hasn't been able to locate or make contact with the respondent, that should also prohibit the hearing from moving forward. While some degree of local control is practical and necessary, some limits are required in order to promote statewide consistency. Inconsistency creates a great risk of inequitable treatment, particularly in cases such as this in which the respondent will necessarily come from a vulnerable population and be ill-equipped to advocate for themselves. Finally, the legal aid community would like to note the need for training for all people that will be interacting with respondents, court staff included, in working with people with mental health disabilities. Mailing will increase costs in providing services and it delays notice getting to the parties who are governmental agencies (like behavioral health, county counsel, and public defenders). Many offices are going paperless, so electronic service is faster and preferred in many offices. Also, many governmental agencies have large mail rooms which can cause delay in having mail notices processed. When you combine internal processing delays with the delays experienced at the post office, 5 days may not be enough time for the actual documents to get where they need to go, resulting in delays at the court hearings. Since many of the CARE Court team will be the same people (County Counsel, behavioral health staff, Public Defender) allowing for electronic service by consent will allow each county to arrange its own process that meets its needs, while saving staffing and supply costs and reducing environmental impact (paper, ink, fuel for mail delivery, etc....) Please consider a change of placement form so that parties can be noticed if the Respondent's address changes during CARE Court proceedings.	requirements of Code of Civil Procedure section 1010.6 and rule 2.251. The committee does not recommend any change to the proposal in response to this comment. This engagement should be done proactively and with transparency to ensure that relevant stakeholders are aware of opportunities to weigh in not only on the implementation processes and associated forms, but also to ensure stakeholders can also share who needs to be consulted that may not yet be present at the table. Currently, the rulemaking process lacks adequate explanation as to how these communities are being consulted in the development of critical forms, such as the forms highlighting a person’s rights under the CARE Act processes. Similarly, a broader racial equity lens, coupled with a thoughtful approach around trauma-informed care, is essential in the continuing development of the CARE Act processes. Communities of color have suffered disproportionately from past abuses in the court system, mental health systems, and other public systems; these systems (and the communities that interact with them) continue to be weighed down by these legacies in the present day. 		Consideration for Respondents Experiencing Homelessness: In general, as the Advisory Committee develops rules, forms, and processes for notification of CARE Act respondents, special consideration should be given to ensure confirmed physical delivery of notices to people experiencing homelessness that may be subject to a CARE Act proceeding. For someone experiencing homelessness, receiving notice through the mail will present major challenges, even if the individual has an address listed at a shelter, a PO Box, or some other alternative to a traditional physical address. Health, Mental Health, and Other Clinical Expertise of Petitioners: As noted in NAEH’s September 2022 letter to Sec. Ghaly, NAEH is concerned about the range of possible petitioners that are able to submit petitions and enter a respondent into a CARE Act process, irrespective of whether the petitioner has clinical training or other training relevant to working with people with serious mental illness. While the Advisory Committee may have limited authority over statutory changes to adjust who is an eligible petitioner, we encourage the Advisory Committee to use these forms to request non-clinician petitioners to detail their training on working with people with serious mental illness. This experience is likely to vary considerably among non-clinicians, and	The committee agrees that service on the respondent by mail is insufficient and has revised rule 7.2235 to require personal service of notice on the respondent or, if personal service is impracticable, service by any method reasonably calculated to give the respondent actual notice. The committee does not recommend the suggested change. The additional suggested information is beyond the scope of this proposal. Section 5974 authorizes non-clinicians to file a petition to initiate the CARE process. 		believe it is clearly implied that the petition must be filed with the court. In the case of referrals, we agree with the Committee that the petition form should indicate where the petition came from, including which court and what type of proceeding. We understand it would be preferable for the legislature to have clearly stated that, upon a referral, the CARE Act petition must be filed with the court; however, Section 5978 of the Welfare and Institutions Code does specifically identify who the petitioner would be in the case of the different referrals, and “petitioner” is a defined term that requires the filing of the petition with the court. Therefore, we do believe that the petition being filed with the court is a requirement set out in the statute, even in the case of a referral. We agree that the discussion of who will represent the respondents in CARE Court is very confusing. On that interpretation, as other commenters have pointed out, the statute would require the person designated as the petitioner to draft and file a petition, verified under penalty of perjury, even if the designated petitioner did not believe all the allegations in the petition to be true. In addition, a judicial referral requiring the head of an executive branch agency to commence a judicial proceeding raises serious separation of powers issues. Absent clear indicia that the Legislature intended those consequences, the committee has opted for the more straightforward interpretation that the designation of a petitioner authorizes only the designee to file a petition to commence CARE Act proceedings in response to a referral. The committee does not recommend any change to the proposal in response to this comment. For instance, the Committee is requiring that the appointed counsel be served with the Notice of First Hearing, which means that the appointment would have occurred prior to that hearing being set. In addition, no matter which agency or organization is providing representation, it is likely that they will have an identified legal team to provide the representation, and that notice to that team should be sufficient for the agency or organization to assign an individual attorney to that new filing. We believe that the Committee could propose a rule that requires the agency/organization handling appointments to be notified of a new filing within a certain number of days of the filing of the petition. We believe that the appointment of counsel should occur as soon as possible after the filing of the petition, either before or at the same time that the CARE Act Report is ordered, so that the counsel may consult with their client throughout the entire process, and identify potential issues in the petition. The Optional Form could also inform the healthcare professional about what would be considered insufficient evidence, either through the form itself or through the instructions. We are particularly confused as to why the Committee believes that the respondent will hear about the filing of the petition for the first time when the Notice of Initial Hearing is served. Our understanding was that the petitioner was required to serve the respondent with the petition in the same manner as a summons and complaint is served. It seems like that service of the petition would be when the respondent first learns of the filing of the CARE Act petition. We encourage the Committee to clarify the service requirements, particularly differentiating between the service of the petition upon filing and the service of the Notice of Initial Hearing when it is set. We suggest that the Notice of Initial Hearing served upon the respondent include the name and information of the appointed counsel,	be admissible, whether it must be sufficient only to pass the prima facie review, or what role it would play in the court’s determination whether the petition establishes by clear and convincing evidence that the respondent is described by section 5972, as receipt of two or more intensive treatments is not one of the criteria under section 5972. Each county court system has different resources to dedicate to CARE court, and we believe that consistency across the state will be important if this program is going to be successful. We are submitting this comment after the Governor has released his January budget. We are gravely concerned as to the amount that was allocated for legal services organizations or public defenders to provide representation. The allocation of $6.1 million is less than $1 million per county. While we understand that some of the pilot counties are small, we believe that a number of the pilot counties (San Francisco, Orange, San Diego, Riverside, and Sacramento) are sufficiently large that $6.1 million will not cover the cost of providing adequate representation to respondents. It is important to note that a program like this does not only contemplate attorneys, but also case workers or social workers, paralegals or legal assistants, and overhead. We do not know the amount of funding allocated to the courts to implement CARE court, but we hope that the counties are taking into account costs like interpreters, court reporters, and other essential personnel.	No response required. It raises issues beyond the scope of the proposal that are more appropriately addressed to the Legislature and the Governor.

It's a bit busy and complicated for the general public. • Clarity regarding the role and responsibility of the "Found County" would be helpful. A respondent does not have to go back to county of residence to go through the CARE court process if they don't want to and the "Found County" would continue to provide the court process and services. • It will be important for BHS and APS/PAPGPC to have close communication and coordination relative to the petition process. • It would be good to better understand how the "volunteer supporter" might be operationalized in Sacramento. 	The committee appreciates these comments. The petitioner should ask the court to grant immunity in disclosing private health information in the initial petition. The Petition to Commence CARE Act Proceedings should have a box for the petitioner to check and ask permission to share or provide PHI information ONLY for the CARE Court proceedings. A court order should grant the release of private information to be used in the CARE Court proceedings, and that city counsel and court-appointed counsel should have access to the health records upon request for litigation. Mary Ann Bernard Sacramento	Comment Regarding the Council’s “REQUEST FOR SPECIFIC COMMENTS” about Personal Service (bullet 5) It is unclear to me who is supposed to serve the Respondent but if the Court has not yet ordered an investigation by the County, this duty logically falls on the Petitioner. Laypeople will absolutely not understand that if they are the Petitioner, they cannot personally serve their loved one. It’s counterintuitive and the proof of service form that I see (Form 110) is completely geared to service by mail. Most of the potential respondents don’t have mailing addresses, so they will need to be personally served. The form therefore needs to be modeled on the one for personal service, not the one for mail service. I suggest inserting something like, “COURT RULES DO NOT ALLOW PETITIONERS TO PERSONALLY SERVE THE RESPONDENTS. IF THE RESPONDENT HAS NO MAILING ADDRESS, BRING A FRIEND WHO IS NOT A FAMILY MEMBER WITH YOU TO HAND THE PAPERS TO THE RESPONDENT AND THEN SIGN THE PROOF OF SERVICE.” Final Comment Regarding the Council’s “REQUEST FOR SPECIFIC COMMENTS” The third bulleted comment in the Council’s “Request for Specific Comments” references evidence of “multiple intensive treatments” and “other documentary evidence of these treatments” which assumes the usual case—that Petitioners have access to relevant documentary evidence. As explained above, the laypersons who are qualified to petition don’t, though counties often do.	The committee agrees that personal service on the respondent is more appropriate than service by mail, and the rules recommended require such service. The committee notes, however, that the statute does not require service of process at the beginning of the action; there is no statutory basis for requiring the petitioner to serve the petition on the respondent. The first notice the respondent receives will be either a Notice of Order for CARE Act Report (form CARE-106) or, if county behavioral health is the petitioner and the court does not order a report, a Notice of Initial Appearance—CARE Act (form CARE-110). The statute requires either the county agency ordered to produce the report or the county behavioral health agency to serve notice. Rule 7.2235 now requires personal service on respondent and requires the county to attach a copy of the petition to form CARE-110 to the notice to the respondent. See further responses to comments regarding form CARE-110. The committee does not recommend any change to the proposal in response to this comment. Section 5975(d) requires that the petition “contain” either an affidavit of a licensed behavioral health professional or “evidence” that the respondent was detained for a minimum of two intensive treatments. There is no exemption if the petitioner is a layperson. The council is not free to

	More importantly, while documentary evidence will ultimately be necessary, it is not necessary at the petition stage, if the Petitioner is a layperson. All that is necessary is that the Respondent is determined, after a county investigation, to be “likely to meet the criteria for Care Court.” Welf. & Inst. Is it appropriate to require that a copy of the petition be served with notice of the initial appearance? Yes, the more info the better. 3. If so, what function? What evidence or information should the form solicit from the petitioner? I think a form that provides examples of “multiple intensive treatment” would be helpful. Need to think about how the lay person can navigate these legal and medical issues to file a complete petition.	No further response required. The committee agrees and has included the petition in as one of the documents that must be served with the notice of initial appearance. Without a copy of the petition, a “CARE Respondent” does not have adequate written notice of each of these issues, which form the basis for the proposed deprivatory governmental action. Without this information, the “CARE Respondent” cannot effectively and completely present their objections and may miss the opportunity to win dismissal of the petition before the court makes a treatment order. See § 5977(c)(1) (the court can dismiss the petition at the “merits hearing” if it determines by clear and convincing evidence that the “CARE Respondent” does not meet criteria). Further, the probable value of requiring service of the petition is significant. The “CARE Respondent” needs an opportunity to review the petitioner’s allegations at an early stage, before the first hearing so they have time to prepare their objections. Receiving a copy of the petition prior to the first CARE Court hearing would allow the “CARE Respondent” to be fully informed of the reasons why the petitioner believes they are a candidate for CARE Court. Only then can they raise complete objections and hope to avoid being dragged further into an intrusive and potentially unnecessary court process. The value of individual service is also evidenced by the fact that it is required by all other forms of civil, court ordered mental health care except the CARE Act. See, e.g., § 5346(d)(1) (in Assisted Outpatient Treatment proceedings, “[t]he petitioner shall promptly cause service of a copy of the

Legal Services NorCal by Kate Wardrip, Managing Attorney Chico	The Judicial Council Should Not Create a Form for a Petitioner to Provide Evidence Under Section 5975(d)(2) of a Respondent's Multiple Intensive Treatments. The Invitation to Comment explicitly requested feedback on whether the Judicial Council should create a form for a petitioner to provide evidence other than direct documentation under Welfare and Institutions Code Section 5975(d)(2). The Judicial Council should not create such a form and should continue to require direct documentation of the two intensive treatments with the petition. Requiring such direct evidence will prevent frivolous or inappropriate filings by petitioners who may incorrectly file a petition with the court based on documentation of treatment that is not pursuant to Welfare and Institutions Code Section 5250. For example, it may encourage petitioners to file a petition on the basis that the respondent received treatment pursuant to Section 5150.	The committee agrees that a separate form for providing the evidence needed under section 5975(d)(2) is not necessary or appropriate. Relevant statements by the petitioner may be included on the petition; other evidence would need to be attached anyway.

	COMMENT #2 It is appropriate to require that a copy of the petition be served with notice of the initial appearance. This may be the first instance that the respondent has notice that a petition has been filed and should the respondent have the wherewithal to comprehend the allegations, they should have a meaningful opportunity to prepare a rebuttal prior to the initial appearance. COMMENT #3 A form to provide evidence under section 5975(d)(2) of a respondent’s multiple intensive treatments serves the function of standardizing the process of identifying what documentary evidence will be provided to support the contention that the respondent has been subject to multiple intensive treatments. However, that standardization is of little value to the Petitioner and the courts. It could be beneficial for future audits of the program when attempting to identify the types of documentary evidence used by various Counties to prove respondent’s multiple intensive treatments. We are of the opinion, it would not be overly-burdensome to complete a form of this type, but only if the Judicial Council anticipates that it would be useful for something like a program audit at some future date. Furthermore, a separate form may allow for non-service provider petitioners, for example family members, to provide a	proceedings. 	history of treatment where they may not have access to all of the medical or behavioral health records. COMMENT #4 From the perspective of a small to medium County, a statewide method for the court to serve Order for CARE Act Report on the responsible county agency would not be necessary to ensure that the county agency receives the order, serves notice of the order on the required parties, and prepares the report. Today, the County of Merced Behavioral Health and Recovery Services department receives multiple referrals from the Superior Court ordering reports on defendant’s Capacity to Consent to Psychotropic Medication, ordering conservatorship investigation, and other behavioral health services. The Court and the Behavioral Health and Recovery Services department have a process of referral and communication that is effective and would not be improved by a statewide method for the court to serve an Order for CARE Act Report. COMMENT #5 A single proof of service for the notice of the initial appearance would not be as effective in ensuring that the respondent receives personal service. There would be reduced room for error by requiring a separate proof of personal service for the respondent and an additional proof of service by first class mail for any and all other parties required to be noticed. By having a separate proof of personal service for the respondent, it reinforces the different service standards and provides an efficient process by which the Petitioner and the Court can determine that appropriate service has been made.	paper. No form is required. The committee agrees and does not recommend any change to the proposal in this respect. Just as the court and county in Merced County have done, the court in each county has developed practices and procedures for serving its orders on the county government. Allowing each court and county to adapt these procedures to CARE Act proceedings will lead to less confusion than imposing a new, statewide method of service. The committee agrees and does not recommend any change to the proposal in this respect. The committee has concluded that the potential confusion resulting from placing multiple methods of service on the same proof form outweighs the benefits of a single form.

The authors of the CARE Act recognize that many individuals who suffer from mental illness are (1) not receiving the care they need, (2) are unfairly stuck in the criminal justice system without care, or (3) are ping-ponging between emergency service providers and the streets, without a meaningful plan for future care. These are serious concerns that need to be addressed. QUESTION 2: Is it appropriate to require that a copy of the petition be served with notice of the initial appearance? RESPONSE: Yes. 	QUESTION 4: Would a mandatory statewide method for the court to serve Order for CARE Act Report on the county agency be necessary or sufficient to ensure that the county agency receives the order, serves notice of the order on the required parties, and prepares the report? RESPONSE: Yes. To assure receipt and compliance with such an order, each agency would need a specified agent, such as the director, to receive the order. Given that the petition can be filed by non-lawyers, it is helpful to review Judicial Council petitions for temporary restraining orders and gun violence restraining orders, which also allow for non-lawyer petitions. Please see the recent appellate holding, San Diego Police Department v. Geoffrey S., 86 Cal. App. 5th 550 (2022), which explains why hearsay is admissible at such hearings. OneJustice by Leigh E. Ferrin, Program Director Los Angeles	Does the proposal appropriately address the stated purpose? We do believe the proposal addresses the stated purpose, with the caveat that we believe the Committee could provide more guidance on the appointment process. Is it appropriate to require that a copy of the petition be served with notice of the initial appearance? We believe that it would be appropriate to serve a copy of the petition with the Notice of Initial Hearing on the respondent and appointed counsel. Our only question regarding service on additional parties is whether or not any protected health information would be included in the petition. Eventually, the other parties to the CARE Act petition will have to be able to view the petition, but it is unclear to us at this point what the best mechanism for that would be. Would a form for a petitioner to provide evidence under section 5975(d)(2) of a respondent’s multiple intensive treatments serve a function that is not more effectively served by direct documentary evidence of those treatments? We previously stated that we believe an optional form for a petitioner to provide evidence of two or more intensive treatments may be beneficial.	The committee has provided information on the appointment process in rule 7.2230(a) but declines to provide additional guidance because local courts and counties have their own processes for appointment of counsel developed in criminal, juvenile, and mental health proceedings, so the committee has elected to defer to local experience regarding the appointment process. The committee agrees and does not recommend any change to the proposal. We are not sufficiently familiar with the processes by which the courts notify county agencies of filings to be able to say if one county has a better process than another. If counties or advocates express a concern that there will be frequent reports of non-service of the county agency, resulting in postponement of the Initial Hearing or other hearings, then we believe it would be important to mandate a method of service.	statements by the petitioner may be included on the petition; other evidence would need to be attached anyway. The committee agrees and does not recommend any change to the proposal. 	prepare and participate in the hearing. Indeed, due process requires that a copy of the petition be served with the notice of initial appearance. Serving a copy of the petition will help provide adequate notice and the potential consequences of the proceedings. The respondent should be informed of the nature of the proceedings, the specific allegations made against them, and the potential consequences of a determination of eligibility for the CARE process. This information is crucial for the respondent to make informed decisions, prepare a defense, and participate in the hearing. Additionally, serving a copy of the petition with notice of the initial appearance also ensures that the respondent has a meaningful opportunity to be heard. Specifically, such a requirement ensures that the respondent understands the allegations made against them and can effectively participate in the hearing to dispute those allegations. This can be especially important when the respondent is a person living with untreated schizophrenia spectrum and other psychotic disorders, which can make it more difficult for them to understand and participate in legal proceedings. The Judicial Council may be concerned that providing the respondent with the name and contact information of the petitioner could pose a potential safety or privacy risk for the petitioner. The petitioner may not want their personal information to be shared with the respondent. However, the CARE Act mandates that at the initial appearance, “Petitioner shall be present. If the petitioner is not present, the matter may be dismissed.” (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 5977, subd.(b)(2).)1

	sufficient information this would further enhance the forms accessibility to the public. Venue and transfer issues [See comments on proposed rule 7.2223] Misadvisement issues The most significant issue presented by the Invitation to Comment to the proposed Rules and Forms for CARE Court is a misinterpretation of the statutory scheme. Specifically, the narrative accompanying the proposed rules and forms, along with one of the forms, conflates the process for the CARE agreement with the process for the CARE plan. This is particularly important because the CARE agreement and CARE plan are treated differently in terms of process under the statutory scheme and conflating the two risks prioritizing court-ordered services over voluntary engagement and client self-determination, contrary to the intent of the legislation. The distinction between the two is perhaps best summarized in the preamble to SB 1338 which states, “This bill, ...would enact the Community Assistance, Recovery, and Empowerment (CARE) Act, which would authorize specified adult persons to petition a civil court to create a voluntary CARE agreement or a court-ordered CARE plan and implement services....” This distinction is also correctly noted by proposed CARE- 050-INFO (Information for Petitioners) which notes that a CARE agreement “is a voluntary agreement entered into by a respondent and the county behavioral health agency after a court has found the respondent is eligible” whereas a CARE plan “is an individualized range of community-based services	See responses to comments on proposed rule 7.2223. The Invitation to Comment is not part of the formal history of the rules and forms proposed therein and should not be treated as an analysis or explanation of the final rules and forms adopted by the Judicial Council. The committee has revised form CARE-060-INFO to concentrate on the initial hearings (i.e. the initial appearance and hearing on the merits), removing discussion of the status and progress hearings altogether. Additionally, the form has been revised to provide further information on the differences between CARE agreements and CARE plans. However, the committee does not read the statute to require the CARE Act court process to stop when the respondent and county behavioral health enter into a CARE agreement. Section 5977.1(a)(2) expressly requires the court to take specific further action on finding at the case management hearing that the parties have entered, or are likely to enter, into a CARE agreement. The court must both (A) approve the terms of the agreement or modify the terms of the agreement and “approve the agreement as modified by the court” and (B) “continue the matter and set a progress hearing for 60 days.” The statute does not provide for what is to

	and supports for the respondent that is ordered by the court.” The CARE agreement is defined by Welfare and Institutions Code section 5971, subdivision (a), as “a voluntary agreement entered into between the parties.” When a voluntary CARE agreement is reached, further court process stops. Conversely, a CARE plan is defined by subdivision (b) of the same section as court-ordered “individualized, appropriate range community-based services and supports ... which include clinically appropriate behavioral health care and stabilization medications, housing, and other supportive services....” Importantly, under section 5977.1, subdivision (e), only the “CARE plan begins the CARE process timeline, which shall not exceed one year” not the CARE agreement. In other words, only the CARE plan starts the court process of clinical evaluation (5977.1, subd. (c)(1)) the clinical evaluation review hearing (§ 5977.1, subd. (c)(2)), the CARE plan review hearing (§ 5977.1, subd. (d)), 60 day status review hearings (§ 5977.2) and the one-year status hearing (§ 5977.3). All of the aforementioned statutes create hearings that are expressly premised on a CARE plan, not a CARE agreement, because only a CARE plan begins the process timeline. However, on page 3 of the Probate and Mental Health Advisory Committee’s review of Care Court process, it states, “Once the court has approved a CARE agreement or ordered a CARE Plan, the court is required to hold regular status review hearings to review the progress of the respondent and the county behavioral health agency with the plan.” Additionally, on form CARE 060 Info (Information for Respondents), page 8 reads, “If you and the county behavioral health agency can reach a	occur at or after the progress hearing.

	CARE Agreement, the court will approve the terms as submitted or modify the terms and approve the modified terms and set the first status review within 60 days.” These statements conflate the CARE agreement, which encourages voluntary, self-determined engagement in services with the intensive court process of a court-ordered CARE plan and subsequent court supervision of that plan. Is it appropriate to require that a copy of the petition be served with notice of the initial appearance? Yes. It is appropriate to require that a copy of the petition be served with notice of the initial appearance. Notice of the initial appearance alone is insufficient to inform the respondent of the reason for the court proceeding, what action is being requested of the court, and the respondent’s role in the process. In order for the CARE Act to promote self-determination, the respondent should be informed of the contents of the petition at the earliest stage of the proceedings rather than after counsel is appointed. Furthermore, in a similar court proceeding, Assisted Outpatient Treatment (Welf. & Inst. § 5346(d)(1)), a copy of the petition and the notice of the initial hearing date must be served on the respondent. As in Assisted Outpatient Treatment, many participants will likely be unhoused and as such personal service of notice should be permitted. Would a form for a petitioner to provide evidence under section 5975(d)(2) of a respondent’s multiple intensive treatments serve a function that is not more effectively served by direct documentary evidence of those treatments? 	No. A form for petitioner to provide evidence under section 5975(d)(2) of respondent’s multiple intensive treatments is not beneficial. Insofar as this form is directed towards a petitioner who is other than a mental health professional, an additional form for this petitioner to complete lends to a more cumbersome form that is already lengthy. This may lead to confusion or delay in the filing of the petition or dismissal by the court due to non-compliance of the required forms rendering access to the CARE Act more difficult. A more intuitive presentation of the requirements would be more understandable for form users. Additionally, the open-endedness of the prompts for non-behavioral health professionals solicits incomplete or irrelevant responses. The forms should establish a sufficient standard for the information requested to encourage petitions that are more likely to provide the court with sufficient information to make a decision re: prima facie showing, and discourage extraneous or unmeritorious filings. Is it appropriate to require that a copy of the petition be served with notice of the initial appearance? Yes, when someone is served with court proceedings, they should be given an opportunity to understand what is being requested of the court. Having both personal and mail service sections in one document is helpful. Further, multiple services on the Notice of Respondent’s Right’s form CARE-112 may be redundant. In addition, the committee has revised the proposal to require service on the respondent to be personal service, unless personal service is impracticable, in which case it may be by any method reasonably calculated to give the respondent actual notice. What evidence or information should the form solicit from the petitioner? At minimum, the form should request dates and treatment provider information for the multiple intensive treatments to allow for the respondent to prepare for such facts and issues to be presented. Alternatively, as discussed in more detail above, we suggest CARE-102 Petitioner’s Declaration of Eligibility be created that seeks the information set forth in sections 5 and 6 of the petition in a more structured way by mirroring the declaration created for mental health professionals. Would a mandatory statewide method for the court to serve Order for CARE Act Report on the county agency be necessary or sufficient to ensure that the county agency receives the order, serves notice of the order on the required parties, and prepares the report? No; however, several proof of service issues raised in the proposal may be addressed by the creation of a generic proof of service which is not limited to a certain document, notice, or receiving party. A mandatory statewide method may be presumptuous in that courts may have a local practice that the state may not include. Given the variety of county sizes, populations, and resources throughout the state, it is often not practicable to employ a “one size fits all” requirement, particularly when dealing with agencies outside the court system.	The committee does not recommend any change to the proposal in response to this comment. 	Would a single proof of service for the notice of the initial appearance—including check boxes to indicate whether service was provided to each party personally or by mail and clear instructions that respondent must receive notice by personal service—be as effective in ensuring that all parties receive proper notice as the current division of proof of personal service on the reverse of the notice, form CARE-110, and proof of service by mail on form CARE-111? We prefer the current division of proof of personal service and proof of service by mail on separate forms. Because personal service to respondents is required and important to the commencement of CARE Act proceedings, ensuring compliance with the service requirement is more efficient by having the petitioner complete a proof of service dedicated to personal service. 	information should the form solicit from the petitioner? YES!!!! From a Self-Help Center point of view, a form would be very helpful for guiding individuals in filing if unable to obtain the Mental Health Declaration. Without any HIPPA waiver forms to provide to the health professional, I anticipate many not wanting to complete and more evidence of detention in the last six months will be filed. Without a form, self-represented litigants will struggle with this requirement. Perhaps a box at the beginning of the form (under the caption) using plain language to explain how “intensive treatment” is defined. Many Judicial Council forms provide some type of explanation and direction of the form in this format. The Declaration would then walk through the possible ways to provide the statutory requirements that could be attached (Declarations, certification, discharge records, etc.) The form BMD-001A comes to mind as it walks the litigant through what they could attach as proof. 		Section 5977.4(a) requires all “evaluations and reports, documents, and filings submitted to the court pursuant to CARE Act proceedings” to be confidential. (Section 5977.1(c)(5), part of the statute governing the “clinical evaluation hearing,” includes similar language that requires the “evaluation and all reports, documents, and filings submitted to the court” to be confidential. The committee reads this as a specific instance of section 5977.4(a)’s general requirement.) This language seems to require keeping all documents in the court case file, and only those documents, confidential. Section 5976.5(e), on the other hand, requires all “reports, evaluations, diagnoses, or other information related to the respondent’s health” to be confidential. This language narrows the confidentiality requirement to health-related information, but it also expands the requirement to encompass information regardless of whether it is contained in a document filed with the court. Based on the provision’s placement in section 5976.5, it could be read to refer only to health-related information aired, orally or in writing, at a hearing under the CARE Act. However, the plain language of the provision, which includes no such limit, counsels against that reading. The provision must also be read in the context of the broader protection of private health-related information under HIPAA (cite) and the Confidential Medical Information Act (Civ. Code, §§ 56–56.37). Furthermore the CARE Act includes three separate confidentiality provisions and no information-sharing provision. 	rule maintains the spirit the statutory section, which is to protect the privacy of the respondent. An important item in the statute that is absent from these rules, however, is the presence of the respondent at the initial hearing. The proposal indicates that these preliminary rules are meant to implement Section 5976 of the statute. That section provides that the respondent shall be entitled to be represented (§ 5976(c)) and that they shall be present at the hearing unless they waive that right (§ 5976(e)). Not only are these rights not reflected in the rule, but there is no indication of what constitutes a waiver of the right to be present. As discussed in detail above, the legal aid community is concerned about the likelihood that CARE Court proceedings will move forward without the participation and involvement of the respondent, perhaps as a result improper notice procedures. The rules call for personal service of the notice of initial hearing, suggesting some acknowledgement of the importance of the respondent’s participation at this stage, but the rules must go further. By failing to include any instruction on what constitutes a waiver of rights and when the hearing should be allowed to proceed, we are concerned that this will result in a loss of respondent’s right to meaningfully participate. Finally, in Section 5977.4(c), another section which these rules purport to implement, it states that the Judicial Council shall adopt rules to implement the provisions in several sections “to promote statewide consistency, including but not limited to. . . the process by which counsel will be appointed.” The proposed rules offer no indication of this objective but rather grant superior courts authority to adopt local rules to govern CARE	The committee does not recommend any change to the proposal in response to this comment. The reference to a statute in the heading of a rule indicates the authority for the rule, not necessarily that the rule is intended to implement the entire statute. Furthermore, as the commenter notes, the respondent’s right to be present at CARE Act hearings is expressly provided by statute. A rule providing that right would be duplicative. The statute also allows the respondent to waive the right to be present but does not specify the standards or process required. In the absence of statutory specification, the waiver process must meet standards of due process, which require that a waiver be knowing, intelligent, and voluntary. No rule is required to establish that requirement. In addition, the committee has revised its recommendation to require personal service of all notices on the respondent unless impracticable. The committee does not recommend any change to the proposal in response to this comment. Though we can appreciate the need for some court-by-court adaptation, there is nothing in the proposed rule to limit those change in procedures or to implement the clear mandate of the statute to ensure statewide consistency. * [citation omitted]	courts in counties as disparate in size as Los Angeles, Riverside, Tuolumne, and Glenn would inevitably elide the differences among the counties in availability of qualified legal services projects, public defender systems, bench-bar relationships, and many other factors. Furthermore, each court and county have experience appointing counsel in other types of proceedings, including criminal, juvenile dependency, juvenile justice, and mental health conservatorship. They can leverage their experience and existing processes and systems to appoint counsel much more efficiently than they would be able to under a new, rule-based appointment process. In addition, the lack of clarity regarding the status of public funding for CARE Act appointments and the contingency of a qualified legal service project’s eligibility for appointment on the availability of that funding and the project’s agreement to accept CARE Act appointments from the court led the committee to conclude that a rule specifying a statewide appointment process would be premature.

Housing California by Mari Castaldi, Senior Legislative Advocate on Homelessness Sacramento	Rule 7.2225 & Form CARE-101: As noted above, we are concerned about the wide range of potential petitioners for a CARE Act proceeding that may not have sufficient clinical training or background to determine if a CARE Act proceeding is the right type of intervention for a potential respondent. As these petitioners submit forms to the Court, we encourage the Advisory Committee to modify Form CARE-101 to require petitioners, especially those that are listed under category (g), to list their previous training and qualifications of working with populations with serious mental illness. Many petitioners in category (g) will have extensive experience and training working with these populations despite not being clinicians, while other petitioners under category (g) will lack this experience. The court should have a full understanding of the petitioner’s experience when reviewing a petition.	The committee does not recommend any change to the proposal in response to this comment. The petitioner is not required to determine whether a CARE Act proceeding is the appropriate intervention for the respondent. That is the court’s responsibility, based not only on the petition, but on any evidence introduced at the hearing on the merits, when the county behavioral health agency will have been substituted in as petitioner unless it filed the petition. Furthermore, the court must make its finding that the respondent meets all the criteria in section 5972 by clear and convincing evidence. In addition, because section 5971(k) defines “licensed behavioral health professional” narrowly, a petitioner who does not meet that definition will need to arrange for someone who does meet the definition to complete the required declaration or, alternatively, provide evidence of two 14-day intensive treatments under section 5250 et seq.

Legal Aid Association of California by Lorin Kline Director of Advocacy Oakland	Commencement of proceedings, rules 7.2221, 7.2223, 7.2225, and 7.2230 Rule 7.2230 regarding counsel for respondent is of particular interest to the legal aid community as legal aid organizations have the statutorily granted option of playing that role for their county. As stated above but worth reiterating here, we are concerned that the Rule 7.2230(a) as written, which grants individual courts the power to dictate the appointment process via local rule, doesn't adequately implement the statute's mandate to promote statewide consistency. At least some directives for the process of appointment of counsel must be addressed in these rules of court, rather than leaving the entire process up to local court discretion.	The committee does not recommend any change to the proposal in response to this comment. Rule 7.2230 addresses the appointment of counsel. The committee chose not to impose a uniform statewide process for appointment of counsel based on its determination that uniformity regarding the appointment process would lead to a lack of parity in practice. Imposing a single process on courts in counties as disparate in size as Los Angeles, Riverside, Tuolumne, and Glenn would inevitably elide the differences among the counties in availability of qualified legal services projects, public defender systems, bench-bar relationships, and many other factors. Furthermore, each court and county have experience appointing counsel in other types of proceedings, including criminal, juvenile dependency, juvenile justice, and mental health conservatorship. Finally, the lack of clarity regarding the status of public funding for CARE Act appointments and the contingency of a qualified legal service project’s eligibility for appointment on the availability of that funding and the project’s agreement to accept CARE Act appointments from the court led the committee to conclude that a rule specifying a statewide appointment process would be premature.

	Subdivision (b) directs the clerk of the transferring court to mail notice of the transfer order to various parties. Notably, subdivision (b) does not require notice to the supporter. As discussed above, the supporter is an important part of the CARE process. Thus it is crucial that they are aware of the transfer of the proceedings to the respondent's county of residence. Omitting the supporter in the notice of transfer could potentially limit their ability to effectively assist the respondent and could also potentially hinder the respondent's ability to understand and make informed decisions about their own care and treatment. Including the supporter in the notice of transfer would ensure that all relevant parties are aware of the transfer, and that the respondent and supporter can continue to work together in the new county of residence, promoting continuity of care, and minimizing confusion. C. Revisions to Proposed Rule 7.2230 PLC urges the Judicial Council to clarify the role of counsel in CARE Act proceedings. As written, subdivision (a) simply states that counsel will “represent the respondent.” However, many significant details are missing from the rule, including counsel’s rights and responsibilities. Specifically, the rule should specify that as in juvenile delinquency proceedings, counsel has a duty to act in the respondent’s expressed interest. 	to court referrals under Welfare and Institutions Code section 5978 and Penal Code section 1370.01. There are plainly procedural differences between CARE proceedings initiated via court referral and conventional petitions (e.g., the mandatory hearing requirement under Pen. Code 1370.01, subd. (b)(1)(D)(iv)), but most importantly, in the case of court referrals, the petitioning agency may not be able to produce some of the elements ordinarily required for a CARE petition. In particular, the agency may, in some cases, be unable to provide a Mental Health Declaration—CARE Proceedings, if the licensed behavioral health professionals cannot conclude that the respondent meets the CARE Act’s specific diagnostic criteria. (The legal standards for Assisted Outpatient Treatment, LPS conservatorship, and incompetency to stand trial are each broader than those set forth in Welfare and Institutions Code section 5972, subdivision (b) - and thus an individual referred from those proceedings will not necessarily meet CARE diagnostic criteria. For example, a misdemeanor defendant with traumatic brain injury or dementia may be incompetent to stand trial, but an agency receiving such a referral could not truthfully assert that they were eligible for CARE.) More broadly, an agency reacting to court referral may not be able to assert under oath the other required “[f]acts...that the respondent meets the CARE criteria in Section 5972” - and the CARE Act cannot compel the agency to manufacture evidence or perjure itself. As the Court of Appeal observed in a closely related context, “[o]rdering the Conservator to file a petition and attempt to prove its allegations when the Conservator in good conscience does not believe that the allegations are merited would thus	The committee agrees with many of these comments, but does not recommend any changes to the proposal in response. The statute provides no exception to the requirement that CARE Act proceedings be commenced by filing a petition or to the required contents of the petition. (See §§ 5974, 5975.) These requirements apply to a referral, too. But the statute, including section 5978, also does not require the person or agency designated as the petitioner after a referral to file a petition if it determines that a petition is not warranted. In light of case law, including that mentioned by the commenter, any such requirement would need to be expressly included in statute and, even then, would raise separation of powers concerns.

This will help avoid confusion during the transitional period when the CARE Act is operative only in Cohort 1 counties (and thus cases cannot be transferred to non-Cohort 1 counties).	The committee does not recommend the proposed rule because a requirement is not included in the statute. Superior Court of Orange County by Hon. Maria D. Hernandez, Presiding Judge joined by: Orange County Public Defender’s Office The Office of County Counsel, Orange County Orange County Health Care Agency	Venue and transfer issues Proposed rule 7.2223 details venue and the process for transferring proceedings to the respondent’s county of residence. One of the noticeable deficiencies in this proposed rule is that transfer will occur only if the respondent consents to it. (Welf. & Inst. § 5973(b).) Also lacking from the proposed rule is a definition of respondent’s county of residence or guidance on determining the respondent’s county of residence. Absent such parameters, this leaves room for the promotion of transfers to counties adverse to the best interest of the respondent insofar as the transfer is to a county where the respondent has fewer or no established support systems in place. It also leaves room for the financial and resource undertakings by certain counties where neighboring counties are coming on line for CARE Court at different times. In other statutes in the Welfare and Institutions Code, county of residence is defined. For example, in the Sexually Violent Predator (SVP) statute, “County of domicile” means the county where the person has manifested the intention of returning whenever the person is absent. Proposed rule 7.2223 does not include a definition of the respondent’s county of residence or the standards for transfer because section 5973 supplies both, the first by cross-reference to Government Code section 244 and the second expressly in subdivision (b). The rule prescribes procedures for use if, and only if, the court does order the proceeding transferred under the statutory standards. See previous response. No further response required.

As currently phrased, this requirement could easily be overlooked, especially as courts learn how to process this new case type. Rule 7.2223(b)(4) requires a transferring court to make a “reasonable inquiry” into the status of the transferred proceeding. What does “reasonable” mean in terms of this inquiry? We suggest the word “reasonable” either be removed or defined to make this phrase more easily understood in this context. Rule 7.2225(b) specifies that “an agency designated by the county will be the petitioner” when a referral is made under Penal Code section 1370.01. As phrased, it remains unclear to whom the referral should be made by the Court. How will the Court know which agency has been designated by the county to serve as the petitioner in these circumstances? The legislation does not require a county to designate an agency to serve as a petitioner. In light of this, how should the Court proceed if the county does not designate a petitioner agency (because it is not legally required to do so)? Rule 7.2223 was modeled on the transfer provisions in Probate Code sections 2216 and 2217, which apply to transfer of probate guardianship or conservatorship proceedings. 	Is there a need for local rule protocol re: appointment of counsel? The legislation and rule of court provide a loose guide of how and when counsel should be appointed for respondent. Given that this is a new case type, there are likely to be changes and shifts while each county and court learns how best to process these petitions. Requiring courts to set forth a procedure in a local rule may be unnecessarily cumbersome given the time and steps required to enact and amend local rules. If anything, courts should be given the option to establish a more detailed procedure via local rule, but not be required to do so.	deadlines for implementing the CARE Act to avail themselves of this procedure. The requirement to establish a process for appointment of counsel by local rule is intended to give courts flexibility to adapt their existing procedures for appointing counsel to the particular exigencies of the CARE Act while at the same time promoting regularity and transparency in the appointment process. Although, for reasons stated elsewhere, the committee believes that a uniform statewide appointment process would be both inequitable and premature, the committee has concluded that the statutory requirement of a process requires something more regular than ad hoc appointment.
Superior Court of Tuolumne County by Hector Gonzalez, Jr., Court Executive Officer	Proposed rule 7.2230 requires the court to appoint a public defender to represent the respondent if there is no qualified legal services project who has agreed to accept CARE act appointments. Many small counties do not have public defender offices but rely on private attorneys who by contracts with counties are willing to be appointed to represent clients normally represented by public defenders. Suggest that language be added to proposed rule 7.2230 that specifies that private attorneys under contract to counties to accept public defender appointments can also be appointed to represent CARE act respondents.	The committee has revised its recommendation to the extent consistent with statute to accommodate counties that use contract public defenders instead of county public defender offices. The committee’s ability to modify the rule is constrained by section 5977(a)(3)(A)(ii) and section 5977(a)(5)(C)(ii), each of which requires the court to appoint “a qualified legal services project ... to represent the respondent. If no legal services project has agreed to accept these appointments, a public defender shall be appointed to represent the respondent.”

County Behavioral Health Directors Association by Jacob D. Mendelson, JD Senior Policy Advocate Sacramento	CBHDA has concerns with a requirement to have the county behavioral health agency be the entity who provides notice to the respondent of the CARE proceedings (e.g., notice of initial appearance). By requiring this of county behavioral health, the therapeutic relationship between the county BH and the respondent may be disrupted. This can affect rapport building between the county BH and the respondent throughout the CARE process. We understand that if the county behavioral health agency is the entity who initially filed the petition, then there is a statutory requirement for BH (or their designee) to provide notice. (§ 5977(a)(3)(A)(iv). However, when the county BH agency is NOT the petitioner (i.e., a family member is), then the statute requires the court to order “a county agency, or their designee” to provide notice to respondent. (§ 5977(a)(3)(B).) Given the vague language of “a county agency” in this subsection, it appears that this language would not require the county agency to always be county BH.	The committee has replaced the language in rule 7.2235(b) requiring the county behavioral health agency to give notice of the initial appearance with language requiring the county more broadly to give notice. This broader requirement is intended to be consistent with the requirement in section 5977(a)(3)(A)(iv) that the county behavioral health director give notice if they are the petitioner and the requirement in section 5977(a)(5)(C)(iii) that the county give notice if the county behavioral health agency is not the petitioner. This language is not intended to preclude the court from exercising its discretion to order any county agency, including the county behavioral health agency, to conduct the investigation and prepare the report under section 5977(a)(3)(B) and give notice of the initial appearance under section 5977(a)(5)(C)(iii). To the extent that the statutorily authorized roles of the county behavioral health agency are in tension, legislative resolution may be appropriate.

As such, this is not enough time for an individual to learn about the process, speak to their counsel, and make arrangements for life needs, such as childcare, or taking time off of work. In a regular civil court proceeding a person has 30 days after service of a summons and complaint to respond. A respondent should be provided with at least fifteen days’ notice of the initial hearing. Furthermore, subsection (b)(3)(A) permits service by personal service OR by mail with acknowledgement of service. However, personal service is the most effective means of ensuring the respondent receives actual notice of the initial court appearance. Personal service is especially important, as this may be the first time a respondent learns of the CARE court proceedings and a respondent may be struggling to do daily tasks, such as checking the mail. Finally, California Code of Civil Procedure, section 415.30, requires the respondent confirm receipt of the mail and makes the respondent liable for the cost of personal service if they do not confirm receipt. This rule imposes financial and administrative burdens on respondents, who are disproportionately indigent. Respondents Need Personal Service and a Longer Period of Notice for Subsequent Hearings, Proposed Rule 7.2235(c) This proposed rule again only provides five days’ notice before a hearing date. This rule, as currently drafted, creates a possibility of the court ordering the provision of certain housing and services for a CARE Act respondent that sit outside the jurisdiction of a county's department of behavioral health without sufficient understanding of these programs and their existing mechanisms for prioritization and service provision. This can potentially lead to willing participants that are already enrolled in these programs being displaced from the programs or prevented from participation due to the decisions of the court. Rule 7.2240 should be amended to specify that the local agency cannot be added as a party to the CARE Act proceeding if their	The committee does not recommend any change to the proposal in response to this comment. Legal Aid Association of California by Lorin Kline Director of Advocacy Oakland	Notice and joinder, rules 7.2235 and 7.2240 The great concerns of the legal aid community regarding the notice procedures mandated by these rules are detailed above. We believe the rules provide an insufficient amount of time for adequate notice, call for procedures that are impractical and unrealistic with this population, don't call for notification of all important parties, and don't contain adequate information for the respondent. The first notice of any kind that the respondent will receive under the proposed rules is the notice of order for report, as outlined in Rule 7.2235(a) or the notice of initial appearance, as outlined in Rule 7.2235(b), depending on the identity of the petitioner. As we argue in detail above, it is essential that the respondent receive notice earlier than either of these points in time. Because these proceedings move at an expeditious pace, and because these respondents will be very difficult to locate and engage, providing notice at the time the petition is filed will lead to more just outcomes. There are also some important problems with Rule 7.2235(a).	See responses to specific comments, below. The committee does not recommend modifying the recommendation to require notice to the respondent when the petition is filed. 	In addition to five days being a dramatically insufficient amount of time for notice, this rule calls for notice to be made by first-class mail. As detailed in our arguments above, few respondents will have reliable mailing addresses at which to receive notice. Importantly, this will be the first notice of any kind that the respondent will be receiving to make them aware of the CARE Court petition and future proceedings (which underscores the need to provide notice at the time the petition is filed). That makes it even more important that notice is adequate and successful. Additionally, the rule calls for notice to be made to respondent’s counsel. Because the order for report to augment petition comes before the court has made a finding on the merits of the petition, no counsel will have been appointed for respondent at this time, making this notice requirement impossible. Rule 7.2235(b) raises several concerns that we have addressed in detail above, including the insufficient time for notice and the failure to mandate that the notice to the respondent include information about their appointed counsel and how to reach them. We strongly support the requirement of personal service as provided in Code of Civil Procedure section 415.10, and we would encourage this method of service to be mandated throughout the rules, not just on the notice of initial appearance.	the respondent is inadequate and has revised its recommendation to require personal service unless that method is impracticable, in which case service may be made by any method reasonably calculated to give the respondent actual notice. The statute limits the length of possible notice periods by requiring hearings to be set within 14 court days or, in some instances, sooner. The committee does not recommend any change to the proposal in response to this comment. Both the CARE Act and rule 7.2230(a) require appointment of counsel well before the hearing on the merits of the petition. The statute requires appointment no later than the setting of the initial appearance. To promote due process and equal protection, the rule requires appointment if the court does not dismiss the petition at the prima facie review. Therefore, notice to the respondent’s counsel is proper at this stage of the proceedings. The committee agrees that service of notice by mail on the respondent is inadequate and has revised its recommendation to require personal service unless that method is impracticable, in which case service may be made by any method reasonably calculated to give the respondent actual notice. 	Rule 7.2235(c) bears the same concerning language as discussed in parts (a) and (b). Again, five days is an inadequate notice period. And again, service by mail will not be successful in reaching respondents, thus inhibiting their access to this process, to resources and services, and to justice overall. The joinder of local government entities as outlined in Rule 7.2240 is notable in that it mandates that a government entity receive fourteen days’ notice before the date set for hearing. The proposed rules only entitle the respondent to five days’ notice. This inequity has no basis and is not proper. A respondent, whose rights and access to life-altering services and supports is at issue, should receive at least as much notice as a government entity receives in these proceedings. We support the mandate in this rule that the government entity bears the burden to demonstrate why they should not be added as a party to the proceeding. The legal aid community believes that the cooperation and involvement of local government entities will be crucial to the success of CARE respondents. Legal aid clients regularly face barriers to receiving services	The committee does not recommend any change to the notice period in response to this comment. Regarding the deadlines for service of notice on the respondent, see the committee’s responses to the comments on rule 7.2235, above. The short timeframes for setting hearings imposed by the statute limit the committee’s ability to extend the notice periods. In addition, the statutory deadlines for the county behavioral health agency to serve the evaluation and other reports on the respondent or respondent’s counsel are uniformly five days before the date set for the hearing at which the evaluation or report will be considered. Notice of the hearing served with the report will serve as a formal reminder to the respondent of the upcoming hearing.

These forms are the first documents that the respondents are supposed to receive for the CARE Act Process. By making the method of service for the CARE-106, CARE-105, CARE-060-INFO documents mailing, the Judicial Rules are implementing a system that makes it unlikely that respondents will receive information about the CARE Act proceedings before they interact with the county agency for an assessment. The Petition to Commence CARE Act Proceedings (CARE-100) in its current form explicitly anticipates that the Petitioner may not be aware of a mailing address and instructs petitioners to list a last known location. If the respondent does have a mailing address but it is unreliable, or something that cannot be accessed on a daily basis, then the respondent will not receive the documents in a timely manner. This lack of notice could create a confrontational encounter between the respondents and county agents, as well as place the respondents in a situation where they are assessed by county agents without knowing anything about their rights or the process and without an opportunity to consult with their appointed attorney. It is reasonable to require personal service to the respondents because not only could it be the only way that the county could

Respondents may be distressed to learn about the petition and proceeding and will not have any time to process this information before the county agents begin to ask extremely personal questions. The county agent will be in a situation where they cannot form any trust or rapport with respondent. It is unlikely that a respondent will want to cooperate with the county agent after such an abrasive turn of events. In the spirit of creating a cooperative atmosphere and maximizing the chance that a respondent will take advantage of the CARE Act process, it is essential that the California Rules of Court create a five calendar day period between service and assessment. Opponents of the personal service revision to California Rules of Court, rule 7.2235(a) may argue that these issues are the result of personal service, but this situation would be worse without a personal service requirement. It is very likely that mailed forms will not result in actual notice to respondents, so without personal service, the respondent may not receive the forms before being contacted for an assessment. If the county mails, or attempts to mail, the required forms to the respondent, and the respondent does not have access to their mail on a daily basis, or any access to mail at all, then the county could attempt to assess the respondent before the respondent sees any of the documents. This would create a scenario where a respondent meets with a county agent, is told of the CARE Act proceedings for the first time, is not given any information about the proceedings, and is immediately assessed. In this scenario, the respondent would have no knowledge of their rights, and no reason to trust the county agents. For these reasons, it is advisable that the

	Proceeding to meet and discuss their matter. California Rules of Court, rule 7.2235(b) currently states that a county behavioral health agency must give notice of an initial appearance no later than five days before the initial appearance. There is no requirement in the CARE Act that a respondent and their attorney only receive five days’ notice. Welfare and Institutions Code Section 5977 only states that an initial appearance on the petition must be set within fourteen days of a finding that the petition supports a prima facie showing. Welf. & Inst. § 5977(a)(5)(C)(i). The requirement that service must be completed only five days before the initial appearance is not enough notice for a respondent to prepare for the appearance. Respondents in these matters are likely to be disproportionately unhoused. Being unhoused often results in lacking safe transportation and reliable method of contacting services. Unhoused individuals may not be able to afford transportation, may not feel safe leaving their belongings behind, or lack the ability to make calls because they lack the ability to keep a phone charged. These factors hinder a respondent’s ability to effectively contact with their attorney. Similarly, the attorney would not be able to communicate with the respondent easily. If the respondent does not have a working phone then the attorney may not be able to call them. An attorney can go to the respondent’s address, but if they are unhoused then this would mean going to their resting place. If the respondent is not there when the attorney visits then the attorney cannot meet with the respondent. If the respondent is there but the site is a large encampment with multiple people then the attorney	the petition, which includes the respondent’s address or last known location. Service of notice of hearing with the report to be considered at the hearing makes sense for both the county and the respondent.

Currently California Rules of Court, rule 7.2235(c)(2) requires that the county behavioral health agency serve respondent their Notice of Hearing - Care Act Proceedings (CARE-115) and accompanying documents by first-class mail. As stated above, the CARE Act process will deal with a disproportionate number of unhoused individuals. These individuals are not likely to have any reliable mailing address to receive court documents at. If notice of hearings are served by the county through first-class mail then it is unlikely that many respondents will see these notices prior to their hearings. 	Personal service would ensure that the respondent receives the notice in a timely and efficient manner, and also that the notice has been physically delivered to the respondent and not just sent to an address that the respondent no longer uses. Another justification for mandating personal service is the need for timely action by the agency. The agency is required to file a written report with the court within 14 days, which may necessitate starting the investigation immediately, even before the respondent is aware of the order for a report. Notably, the dual service procedure recommended here—both personal service and mail service—is similar to the posting and mail service requirements for serving a three-day notice to pay rent or quit in unlawful detainer cases. This will also require a conforming revision to Form CARE-110. As indicated in Footnote 11 of the Invitation to Comment, it is appropriate to give local courts and counties flexibility regarding the manner of serving orders under Section 5977(a)(3)(B) (i.e., Form CARE-105) on the responsible county agency. Nonetheless, the proposed rules should provide a framework for making such determinations. We have consequently added provisions to Rule 7.2235 indicating that such details will be established by local rule (similar to the approach taken for appointments of counsel), and that local courts will consult with counties when adopting such rules. Notice of order for report to augment petition (§ 5977(a)(3) & (4)) (1) The court clerk shall promptly provide notice of an order to prepare a report under section 5977(a)(3)(B) to the county agency in accordance with procedures established by local rule. Courts are required to serve orders on county agencies that are not parties under other statutes. For example, the court must serve an order under section 331 requiring the county social services agency to commence juvenile dependency proceedings. Difficulties rarely seem to arise. In addition, county governments designate addresses and agents for receipt of service. The committee does not recommend any change to the proposal in response to this comment. Rule 7.2240 provides the process for joining a local government entity as a party to the proceedings. The court’s authority over the entity once it is joined is prescribed by statute.

As stated above, it is crucial that respondent and respondent’s counsel receive notice of the order to show cause, as well as any related findings by the court. Notice is necessary to allow for respondent to have all the information necessary and needed to engage with local entities and successfully comply with the CARE plan. There is no other way for the respondent to meaningfully participate. If a legal aid lawyer is actively attempting to help their client obtain services and comply with their plan, they will be inhibited from doing so if they don’t have all the information about the status of the CARE proceedings. Appointment of a special master (or the potential for that outcome - including the existence of court findings on the topic, even before an accountability hearing is scheduled) will be useful and necessary advocacy tools for respondent’s counsel. Relatedly, I will note here that the legal aid has many questions about further procedures upon appointment of a special master that are not clarified in these rules. Who it is anticipated will play this role, for example, is an outstanding question. It is also unclear what resources will be provided, what communication structure and frequency will be required between the special master and the county, and how the respondent and respondent’s counsel will be involved. All of these issues will be critical to the ultimate success of the respondent, and we would encourage the Judicial Council to consider mandating additional procedures to that effect.	parties’ counsel as well. The committee does not recommend any change to the proposal in response to this comment. Difficulty with self-care (e.g., bathing, grooming, obtaining and eating food consistently, dressing appropriate to weather, managing wounds, securing health care, or following medical advice).	The committee agrees with the first recommendation change and has revised to “have a diagnosis.” The committee does not agree with the additional language in the explanation, however, because the statute requires the respondent to have a diagnosis at the time of the petition. See § 5972(b). The clinical evaluation process outlined in § 5977.1(b) does not occur until after the prima facie review in § 5977(a) and the hearing on the merits in § 5977(c) and would, therefore, be insufficient to demonstrate eligibility. The committee has revised the form accordingly. The committee has accepted some of the proposed changes to the examples. The committee has attempted to provide examples of behavior that a lay petitioner may understand while emphasizing that such behavior must be cause by a mental illness to qualify. Further, the examples are not meant to be an exhaustive description of all potential evidence of a serious mental illness.

	general location should only be permissible when a respondent does not have a physical address, or it remains unknown after a good faith attempt to ascertain the address. The wording of this section should be revised to make that clear. The form also includes a chart that purports to provide examples of facts that support CARE court eligibility. See page three, second row, third column. But a number of examples listed are daily tasks that are in fact difficult for many people, particularly unhoused people, regardless of disability. Many of the examples, such as “Difficulty concentrating or completing tasks. Difficulty functioning socially, creating and maintain relationships” may also be true of those with a mental health condition other than schizophrenia or other similar psychotic disorder; or a person without a mental health condition at all. These examples should be narrowed to meet the specific criteria of the CARE Court. People with schizophrenia, psychotic disorders, and other people with disabilities can complete daily tasks and live meaningful lives with assistance. However, informational sheet 050, the final bullet points of page three, second row; first, second, and third column, states an indication of mental illness is being unable to function without help. This is not the appropriate standard. The form should be edited to consider how the respondent is functioning with assistance in place, and/or whether a respondent is refusing assistance despite being unable to function independently. A similar issue arises on page four, row two, where again the use of assistance is an indication that a person is unable function or survive, without considering whether the assistance is successful in allowing a person to	additional contact information that may be useful to locate the respondent. The committee has revised the introduction to that box to clarify that the behavior in the examples must be caused by a mental illness. This would better elucidate that CARE proceedings are indeed necessary. Finally, on page six, section nine, the information sheet provides an explanation of a vexatious litigant and describes it as a person who files “more than one petition.” While this is important, the sheet should also state that the filing of even one petition with no basis in truth or reality is unlawful and the person could be liable for committing fraud, filing a frivolous law suit, and lying under penalty of perjury. Because a petitioner can be a family member or a person who merely lives with a respondent, this leaves opportunities for people to abuse the process. So, the repercussions of doing so, even once, should be made clear.	The committee has revised the second column of that row to indicate that description of unsuccessful attempts to use less restrictive means would be a why to explain that CARE proceedings are the least restrictive alternative necessary. The committee has added information to the explanation of the signature under penalty of perjury, in response to this recommendation.

	(CARE 5050 Info, Page 3 of 6) definitely needs to be changed. The wording “A person with another mental illness such as bipolar disorder of major depressive disorder” is really incorrect. For example, Bipolar Disorder 1 with Psychotic Features and Major Depressive Disorder with Psychotic Features are clinically considered Psychotic disorders in the same class as Schizophrenia spectrum disorders (primarily Schizophrenia and Schizoaffective Disorder). Licensed and experienced Psychiatrists or Forensic Psychologists will undoubtedly add to this list. In addition I’m aware the Behavioral Health Director of Contra Costa Behavioral Health Services (CCBHS) and her 59 other clinical colleagues of the County Behavioral Health Directors Assn. We suggest this section be modified to provided clearer context and use plain language as is used throughout the rest of the document. We suggest it is especially important to explain that being deemed a vexatious litigant due to the filing of a meritless CARE Act petition affects a person’s ability to file other types of documents/cases, not just future CARE Act petitions. We suggest language like that in red to clarify/fully explain the significance of being deemed a vexatious litigant: If a person files more than one petition under the CARE Act that has no basis in truth or reality or is intended to harass or annoy the respondent, the court may determine the filer to be a vexatious litigant who may not file any new litigation without first obtaining permission from the presiding judge of the court where the filing is proposed. Since the term “new litigation” is very broadly defined, being determined to be a vexatious litigant affects a person’s ability to file different types of cases and documents (not just CARE Act petitions) while representing themselves. When a vexatious litigant does not follow the prefiling order, they may be punished for contempt of court, which could result in fines or imprisonment.	respondent could be eligible with a diagnosis of another type of mental illness if that diagnosis is co-occurring with one in the eligible class. The committee appreciates this comment and has revised the section using plainer language. The committee agrees and has revised the language in a substantially similar manner.

Western Center on Law and Poverty by Helen Tran, Senior Attorney Los Angeles	Proposed Information for Petitioners—About the CARE Act (form CARE-050-INFO) Because this notice is targeted toward self-represented petitioners, the notice should include more readable language. Legal citations and phrases should be explained in as simple language as possible. We also recommend a correction of inaccurate descriptions. 2. What is a CARE agreement or CARE plan? Strike any description of the CARE program as “voluntary” because it is not. A CARE agreement must be approved by court order and the court has the authority to modify terms as it sees appropriate. See, e.g., Welf. and Inst. Code § 5977.1(a)(2)(A) (“Approve the terms of the CARE agreement or modify the terms of the CARE agreement and approve the agreement as modified by the court.”); Welf. And Inst. Code § 5988.1(b) (court must order clinical evaluations, which it will then use to decide services the respondent “should receive”). Additionally, a respondent’s failure to successfully complete their CARE plan creates a presumption in favor of conservatorship. Welf. and Inst. Code § 5979(a)(3). This section should also inform petitioners that services and treatment prescribed by CARE agreements or plans are not guaranteed to be provided or available. As part of their informed decision making process on starting the CARE process, petitioners should be aware of the realities of today’s backlogged behavioral health and social services systems. For example, in regards to psychiatrists alone, California needs “an estimated 671 more psychiatrists . . . to achieve a population-to-psychiatrist ratio . . . to no longer be considered lacking.”	The committee appreciates this comment and has endeavored to simplify language where possible. The description of a CARE agreement as a voluntary settlement agreement is taken directly from the statute. (§ 5971(a).) Regarding the availability of services ordered in the CARE agreement or CARE plan, the purpose of the court oversight is to ensure that the ordered services are provided to the respondent. (See § 5979(b).)

	The Language of CARE-060-INFO Information for Respondents Needs to Be More Accessible The language in the entire sheet must be simplified and the Judicial Council should use a plain language vendor to edit this document. An assessment of the language shows that it reads at an 11th grade to college level. The average American reads at a 7th or 8th grade level and people with schizophrenia often read below an 8th grade level and may have other barriers to reading, such as dyslexia. The current language of the info sheet would be difficult for the average respondent to read and understand, as such the information sheet is of little use. Further, the info sheet contains language that would only be understood by those familiar with court processes. For instance, courts are generally the only entities to use “appearance” to essentially mean an appointment or date where attendance is required. Words like this should be changed to make it clear to the person for whom the info sheet is intended. In addition, page three, section ten should list all of the rights of a respondent. Although this is repetitive of CARE form 112, the information is essential and should be repeated.	of their rights. The committee recognizes that the forms in this proposal do not, and cannot, provide complete information tailored to each user’s situation or interpret that information for them. The committee has therefore revised the forms to encourage users to seek legal advice by contacting their court appointed attorney. The committee has also tried to streamline both the information in the forms and the way it is presented to make it as accessible as possible. The committee will continue to work on the form going forward with the assistance of plain language experts, and recommend new versions if appropriate as time and resources allow. Appointment of counsel occurs once the court finds that the petitioner has made a prima facie showing that the respondent is or may be a person described by section 5972. 	Regarding section 6), as this section is written it is unclear what stage the respondent is at now, i.e., where this information notice is issued in the series of events listed under 6. It would be logical for a respondent to assume that the notice is being issued at the beginning of the events—when the petition is filed—although that is not the case. The fact that the notice is actually issued two times, with the notice of an order for a CARE report and again with the notice of an initial appearance, makes it more confusing. It would help to have two separate information notices: one for when there is an order for a CARE report; and a separate notice for the initial appearance. Each notice should then specify where in the process the respondent is when that notice is issued. ITC pages 26-27. Regarding section 7), the language regarding the petitioner in this section is confusing as it indicates that the petitioner must be present, but also that the petitioner will be replaced by the director of the county behavioral health agency, if they were not already the petitioner. It should be clarified whether the original petitioner must be present at the beginning of processing, or if the presence of the director is enough for the petition not to be dismissed. These two bullet points should be next to each other, and the sequence of them clarified. ITC pages 27-28. Regarding section 8), here it should be specified what happens if respondent refuses to develop a CARE plan with the county after the court order. The respondent should know whether a CARE plan will be created if they do not participate in the	outcomes during the process. The committee has revised form CARE-060-INFO to concentrate on the initial hearings (i.e. initial appearance and hearing on the merits). The language in Section 7 (now section 8) corresponds to the language in section 5977(b)(2) which states, a “Petitioner shall be present. If the petitioner is not present, the matter may be dismissed.” The suggested information is beyond the scope of this proposal as the statute does not indicate whether the presence of the director is enough for the petition not to be dismissed. The committee has revised form CARE-060-INFO to concentrate on the initial hearings (i.e. initial appearance and hearing on the merits). Housing California by Mari Castaldi, Senior Legislative Advocate on Homelessness Sacramento	Form CARE-060-INFO & Form CARE-112: The Advisory Committee has done a commendable job condensing a very complex process and distilling the rights and responsibilities of participants in that process into very plain language. However, these forms, which are to be given to CARE Act respondents that may be struggling with serious mental illness and homelessness, are still extremely complex, dense, and lengthy. The Advisory Committee should consult with community-based organizations and people with lived experience of mental illness, homelessness, and other relevant lived expertise to determine how to convey this information in as accessible a manner as possible. Additionally, these forms do not adequately convey the potential consequences of failing to voluntarily participate in the CARE Act processes, which creates more possibility of compelled action from the county, which may in turn reproduce trauma and harm. Supervising Attorney, Health Law Unit Santa Ana	section 6 of the form from “you might be eligible for CARE Act proceedings” to “you might be eligible for CARE Act services” to make the program appear more inviting. Section 7 of the form states: “The hearing on the merits of the petition may happen at the same time of the initial appearance on the petition but only if you, the petitioner, and the court agree.” This language is misleading because it implies that the respondent is the petitioner. To avoid confusion, PLC recommends changing the phrase to: The hearing on the merits of the petition may happen at the same time of the initial appearance on the petition but only if you (the respondent), the petitioner, and the court agree. The Judicial Council could also consider including a definition of the term “respondent” at the beginning of the form for clarity. The term “respondent” is used throughout the form, and it may not be immediately clear to the reader who the respondent is. Because the respondent is the person on whom the petition is filed and who is subject to the CARE process, it is crucial that they understand their role in the process and the notice that they receive from the court.	change. While the committee understands changing “proceedings” to “services” may make the program appear more inviting, the committee wants to ensure that the respondent understands they are involved in a legal process. The committee agrees and has revised the text in what is now item 8 accordingly. The committee appreciates this comment and has revised Item 1 of the form to indicate “(the respondent)” at the end of the first sentence.

Funding under this program has not yet been distributed by the Department of Health Care Services, and thus no such housing units presently exist - or will exist for some time. Section 5799.1(d)(2) more generally provides that “[t]he court may issue any orders necessary to support the respondent in accessing appropriate services and supports, including prioritization for those services and supports”; however, this authority is expressly made “subject to applicable laws and available funding.” More broadly, the resources provided in a CARE plan, including housing resources, are limited to the specific programs identified in Section 5982, and to “all applicable federal and state statutes, regulations, contractual provisions, and policy guidance” governing those programs. The combination of limited housing programs, limited funding, and program rules that often contain their own priority schemes, realistically means that “priority access to housing resources” will not be an available option for many CARE plans. Given the centrality of housing needs for many CARE respondents, it is critical that the Judicial Council’s forms accurately convey the services realistically available, and not create expectations that courts and local agencies cannot fulfil. Given that petitioners include first responders, such as paramedics and firefighters, who may have frequent but minimal contact with a respondent, CARE-100, section 2(C) of the petition should include the approximate duration of the contact and approximate dates of each contact. This would enable the court to ascertain how meaningful the interactions between petitioner and respondent have been. In addition, page three, section 5(f), should include a list of less restrictive alternatives so the petitioner and the Court can adequately assess whether alternatives are viable. But the veteran might at times reside in some sort of facility operated by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs [VA], the California Department of Veterans Affairs [CalVet] or some other place. I suggest another box that gives the option for: A caregiver for a veteran. Under question #7, Optional Information, I suggest that some basic questions about branch and dates of service and whether a veteran has been undergoing care anywhere are appropriate.	The committee does not recommend this change because the CARE Act specifically states the eligible petitioners designated in § 5974. A caregiver for a veteran is not one of the statutorily enumerated potential petitioners, though such a person might qualify under a different category. The optional information requested in item 7 regarding tribal affiliations is specifically related to notice requirement in section 5977(b)(6), for which there is no corresponding duty related to veteran status. To avoid confusion, the Judicial Council should revise the form to clarify that these entities are not required to specify their contacts with the respondent in item 2c, as it is not mandated by section 5974. While the parenthetical in the form states that “if petitioner is specified in 1d, 1e, 1f, or 1g, specify the number of contacts with respondent and the date of the most recent contact, and describe the nature and outcome of each contact,” this is inconsistent with the instruction in CARE-050-INFO, which states that petitioners who are not related to the respondent or living with the respondent should fill out item 2c. In addition, like CARE-050-INFO, item 6 states: “For purposes of the CARE Act, ‘intensive treatment’ only includes involuntary treatment authorized by Welfare and Institutions Code, § 5250. It does not refer to treatment authorized by any other statute, including but not limited to 72-hour holds under Welfare and Institutions Code, § 5150 or treatments under Welfare and Institutions Code, §§ 5260 and 5270.15.” As discussed above, this appears inconsistent with section 5975, subdivision (d)(2), which requires “two intensive treatments pursuant to Article 4 (commencing with Section 5250) of Chapter 2 of Part 1.”	The requirement of at least two “5250” hospitalizations is included in the statute. The language from 5c is NOT consistent with Section 5972 (c)(1), which lists an individual’s qualification for CARE Court. In fact, it is the clinician’s interpretation of “substantially deteriorating.” The CARE Act did not provide a legal or clinical definition for “substantially deteriorating.” Our legislators must provide a clear definition, not allowing clinical judgment and language to dominate the legal forms.	Item 5c is not intended to implement section 5972(c)(1). For example, Item 5.e.(2) asks for mental health documents or a description of why “Respondent needs services and supports to prevent a relapse or deterioration that would be likely to lead to grave disability or serious harm to respondent or others.” Placing such a burden on self-represented petitioners makes access to the CARE Act more burdensome on the public.	The committee does not recommend any changes to the proposal in response to this comment. As noted, item 1 allows the petitioner to indicate their relationship by checking the corresponding box, but some of the boxes contain multiple options that may require more explanation, which would be included in item 2b. For example, a petitioner might check 1f and then state in 2b that they are the respondent’s therapist. Additionally, a tribal court judge might check 1i and note in 2b that they have worked with the respondent in a wellness court. Item 2c includes required information for petitioners specified in 1d-1g. This information is important for the court to have to assess the petition. The committee appreciates this comment but does not recommend any changes because these items are required by statute. Section 5972(b) requires that the petition contains facts that support the petitioner’s assertion that respondent meet the CARE criteria in section 5972. Given the variety of persons who could act as Petitioner to initiate CARE Act proceedings, placing the information sought in items 5 and 6 (and their corresponding subsections) in a Declaration that is similar to CARE-101 in its structure, but drafted for a nonprofessional petitioner, would provide a more consistent standard for submitted petitions. This would allow the form to hone in on the information sought, provide clear examples, and set a minimum expectation as to the facts needed to make a prima facie finding. This approach would also eliminate the need of the options for “on separate documents...” Allowing customers to attach random documents without much guidance as to what type of information/documentation would be responsive solicits a wide range of potentially vague and unhelpful responses/attachments. This comment seems to pertain to category (g) in Item 1 of the petition (form CARE-100) and not Mental Health Declaration (form CARE-101). Section 5974 authorizes a wide variety of persons, including non-clinicians, to file a petition to begin the CARE Act process. The statute does not, however, make the petitioner's experience, qualifications or training relevant to any judicial determination, including whether the respondent is eligible for the CARE Act process. The court therefore has no basis for inquiring into that experience or training. The request is beyond the scope of this proposal.

Additional instructions are needed regarding how to properly obtain the declaration and taking confidentiality issues into consideration.	The committee appreciates this comment but does not recommend the suggested change. Form CARE-050-INFO notes a declaration is required to file a petition. Furthermore, form CARE-050-INFO provides information to the court's self-help center for petitioners seeking assistance. It is beyond the scope of this proposal to include instructions on how to properly obtain a declaration.

	In addition to the criteria in section 5972 needed to establish a respondent’s eligibility for the CARE Act process, section 5975 also requires the petition to include either the affidavit of a licensed behavioral health professional addressing the CARE Act’s diagnostic criteria (§ 5975(d)(1)) or, as an alternative, evidence that the respondent was detained for more than two periods of intensive mental health treatment, the most recent no more than 60 days before the filing of the petition (§ 5975(d)(2)). The proposed rules would require form CARE-101 to be attached to all petitions supported by the affidavit of a licensed behavioral health professional under section 5975(d)(1) and would provide a uniform framework and guidance for licensed behavioral health professionals to conduct and report assessments for CARE Act proceedings. DMH comment: A specific form may not be necessary to provide proof of the certification but how anyone will be able to meet this evidence? Unless a person signs a release of information, nearly none of the petitioners would have access to this information (the exception being the hospital that has the person on the hold, but could they produce those medical records with a petition without consent of the client?). The criteria may be impossible and not a true criterion that can be met by any petitioner. This could be a place that needs a legislative change.	The committee appreciates this comment. We encourage the Advisory Committee to continue to seek ways to provide training and technical assistance for key categories of petitioners, such as homeless service outreach workers and law enforcement officers, as a necessary prerequisite to submitting CARE Act petitions. Additionally, as these petitioners submit forms to the Court, we encourage the Advisory Committee to modify Form CARE-101 to require petitioners, especially those that are listed under category (g), to list their previous training and qualifications of working with populations with serious mental illness. Many petitioners in category (g) will have extensive experience and training working with these populations despite not being clinicians, while other petitioners under category (g) will lack this experience. The court should have a full understanding of the petitioner’s experience when reviewing a petition.

Sometimes non-legally trained persons will fill out a form because they are told to complete it and when the form invites a specific conclusion, it can make a more biased presentation of the evidence. Given the fundamental due process and personal autonomy rights impacted by CARE Court, I think it is essential that the Judicial Council forms do not lend themselves to inviting more biased evidence by leading the answers the evaluator is supposed to provide. Also, if the form has yes or no check boxes, it can allow the judge to make the ultimate decision on whether all of the legal criteria are present. The CARE Act emphasizes the “specificity” required in the licensed behavioral health professional’s affidavit (Section 5975(d)(1)), and the information provided in the declaration will be critical in practice for county behavioral health agencies. Counties are given very short timeframes to investigate CARE petitions and provide recommendations to the court regarding highly impactful and often difficult decisions. For this to be feasible, the county must be provided will all relevant information upon which the licensed professional based their opinion, as the starting point for their investigation. 	proceedings, and that the report must include whether respondent meets or is likely to meet the CARE Act eligibility requirements. As this process is so consequential and could potentially remove an individual’s rights to govern their own health care and live as they choose, a report should only be ordered if the person is actually eligible, and the report should only decide if a person does or does not meet the eligibility requirements. No one should be forced into a CARE Act plan or an initial CARE Act Court proceeding if they are only likely to meet the criteria. ITC pages 38-40.	appropriately addressed to the Legislature for resolution. The language in the form mirrors section 5977(a)(3)(B)(i), which provides that if the court finds that the petitioner has made a prima facie showing that the respondent is, or may be , a person described in Section 5972, the court must order a county agency to investigate and file a written report that shall include whether the respondent meets, or is likely to meet , the criteria for the CARE process.
Christi McDonald Deputy County Counsel Salinas	CARE-105. How is the evaluating agency that is ordered to act supposed to learn of this order if the agency is not the petitioner? Please consider adding a section for the clerk to certify that they served notice of the order on the evaluating agency, perhaps similar to the clerk’s function for an order to show cause?	The committee appreciates this response but does not suggest the proposed change. Local courts and counties have developed processes for serving court orders on county agencies, even those that are not parties. See, e.g., section 331 authorizing the juvenile court to order the county child welfare agency to file a petition to commence dependency proceedings. The committee has elected to defer to local experience for this process.
Rural Counties Representatives of California by Sarah Dukett, Policy Advocate Sacramento joined by: California State Association of Counties Urban Counties of California County Behavioral Health Directors Association	Issue: Information Sharing The initial report required in cases where the petitioner is not the county behavioral health agency (Section 5977(a)(3)(B)) must include determinations regarding the respondent’s mental health condition and prognosis (among other things); however, virtually any information in the county’s possession bearing on these issues is generally confidential under state and federal law, and cannot be disclosed without the respondent’s consent, even in judicial proceedings , without an explicit court order. (See 45 C.F.R. § 164.502(a) [HIPAA]; Civ. Code, § 56.10(a) [Confidentiality of Medical Information Act]; Welf. & Inst. Code § 5328(a).)	The committee appreciates this response but does not suggest the proposed change. The committee is concerned that by including language referring to the submission of any information about the respondent that may be relevant to the court in connection with the determination of whether the respondent meets CARE criteria, this may result in a data dump of records. If an agency is concerned about the authority for or consequences of disclosing confidential information to the court, it may request a narrowly tailored order in a particular CARE Act proceeding.

San Francisco Public Defender's Office by Melanie Kim, State Policy Director	The Order for CARE Act Report and Request for New Order and Hearing should include a section to compel the agency to expeditiously provide services such as case management, housing, and special needs per court order in a timely fashion. The order should request the agency or providers to provide supportive community housing, wraparound services, such as onsite physical and behavioral health services, and case management. Overall, the forms are heavy-handed on the respondents but light-handed on the petitioners, public health agencies, and service providers. It is ineffective to get the respondents in court when the agencies and providers cannot deliver the services needed to support the respondents' lives and help gain stability in the community. The long wait for housing and services would create more frustration and distrust for the respondents.	The committee does not recommend the suggested change. Including the suggested orders in Order for CARE Act Report (form CARE-105) would be premature because the court has not determined at that stage of the proceedings whether the respondent needs services. A request for the suggested orders can be made in item 3b of Request for New Order and Hearing (form CARE-120).

Housing California by Mari Castaldi, Senior Legislative Advocate on Homelessness Sacramento	Form CARE-106: Housing California strongly recommends that Form CARE-106, which notifies a respondent that the County behavioral health department is compiling a report in a response to a petition, be modified to ensure confirmed physical delivery of this form with the respondent. At present, this form can be delivered via mail with no further action required by the entity compiling the report to ensure that notification has been received. Given the likelihood that many respondents may be experiencing homelessness, this level of notification is insufficient and Form CARE-106 should be modified to reflect affirmative verification of receipt of the form by the respondent.	The committee agrees that service of notice by mail on the respondent is inadequate and has revised its recommendation to require personal service unless that method is impracticable, in which case service may be made by any method reasonably calculated to give the respondent actual notice. The committee has revised its recommendation to require personal service of notice of all CARE Act hearings on the respondent unless impracticable, with alternative forms of service authorized on other parties. Form CARE-111 has been converted to a Proof of Personal Service . Because service on others than respondent may be by a variety of methods, the parties can use the regular council Proof of Service forms, such as form POS-040 or POS-050 for that.

Housing California by Mari Castaldi, Senior Legislative Advocate on Homelessness Sacramento	Form CARE-060-INFO & Form CARE-112: The Advisory Committee has done a commendable job condensing a very complex process and distilling the rights and responsibilities of participants in that process into very plain language. However, these forms, which are to be given to CARE Act respondents that may be struggling with serious mental illness and homelessness, are still extremely complex, dense, and lengthy. The Advisory Committee should consult with community-based organizations and people with lived experience of mental illness, homelessness, and other relevant lived expertise to determine how to convey this information in as accessible a manner as possible. Additionally, these forms do not adequately convey the potential consequences of failing to voluntarily participate in the CARE Act processes, which creates more possibility of compelled action from the county, which may in turn reproduce trauma and harm. These forms must adequately convey in plain language what may occur if a respondent does not participate. Moreover, the form remains vague in places that can lead to confusion about the consequences. For example, Form CARE-060-INFO specifies that ‘the plan can last up to a year but can be extended for an additional year if certain criteria are met.’	The committee does not recommend the suggested change to the proposal based on this comment. This chart of comments shows that the committee received many comments through the Judicial Council’s regular public posting and circulation process, which comment process was open to all. Christi McDonald Deputy County Counsel Salinas	CARE-115. How is service on Respondent after the initial appearance supposed to be completed if the person is homeless and does not have a mailing address? While certainly the hope is that the person will get into housing quickly, the reality is that placement for seriously mentally ill people is very impacted and can (unfortunately) take weeks or even months. Perhaps include check boxes for each person so that the sender can select via mail, via personal service, or email. Believe it or not, sometimes homeless people have more ability to have a reliable email address more than a reliable mailing address.	The committee appreciates this comment. County of Santa Cruz by Jason Hoppin Public Information Officer	Request for New Order and Hearing—CARE Act Proceedings (form CARE-120) CARE 120 Form (Request for a New Order and Hearing): This form should be re-titled to clarify that it should be used to seek a modification from an existing or previous court order. However, if this form is intended to request an entirely NEW, not previously made or related order, then perhaps a separately titled form is needed. Suggestions for other Mandatory Forms: the following forms would be helpful in creating consistency and clarity in the participation of CARE Court: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Status Review Form: to be completed by the agency or other professional(s) prior to the 60-day status review hearings. Should also provide a space to include any new recommendations or changes to the case plans and/or services. • 12-Month/1-Year Status Report Form: to be completed by the agency or other professional(s) prior to the 12-month/1 year mark to assess the participation and progress of the CARE participant. • Termination/Graduation Form: to be completed by the Court when a CARE participant has been terminated from CARE court, either successfully or unsuccessfully. This form could then also be shared with the Criminal Court or LPS Court without disclosing other specific information of the CARE participant. 	The committee appreciates this comment and agrees but does not recommend any changes to the proposal. Form CARE-120 is intended for both purposes and can be used to seek a modification of an existing court order, complain of violations of an order, or to request a new one. The committee does not recommend the creation of the suggested forms at this time. The forms noted do not require statewide uniformity, therefore the committee has elected to defer to local counties to develop the suggested forms. The committee can consider such forms in the future if they appear necessary.

Executive Director Berkeley	Because this form could be very useful to a respondent throughout the entire process, it is important that this form be made available to respondents. This form should be made accessible when the respondent is served with the petition, or at the initial hearing, or both.	access to appointed counsel at all stages of the proceedings. Appointed counsel will be able to assist respondent in navigating the court process, including requesting new orders and hearings. Counsel is able to complete the form for respondent and is better positioned to advise, inform, and assist the respondent regarding the CARE Act process.
San Francisco Public Defender's Office by Melanie Kim, State Policy Director	The Order for CARE Act Report and Request for New Order and Hearing should include a section to compel the agency to expeditiously provide services such as case management, housing, and special needs per court order in a timely fashion. The order should request the agency or providers to provide supportive community housing, wraparound services, such as onsite physical and behavioral health services, and case management. Overall, the forms are heavy-handed on the respondents but light-handed on the petitioners, public health agencies, and service providers. It is ineffective to get the respondents in court when the agencies and providers cannot deliver the services needed to support the respondents' lives and help gain stability in the community. The long wait for housing and services would create more frustration and distrust for the respondents.	The committee does not recommend the suggested change. A request for the suggested orders can be made in item 3b of Request for New Order and Hearing (form CARE-120). Including the suggested orders in Order for CARE Act Report (form CARE-105) would be premature because the court has not determined at that stage of the proceedings whether the respondent needs services.
