Executive Summary

The Trial Court Budget Advisory Committee recommends two redistributions of funding for court-appointed juvenile dependency counsel and allocation of new Federal Family First Prevention Services Act augmentation funding for 2021–22. Under the Juvenile Dependency Counsel Collections Program, courts collect reimbursements from parents and other responsible persons liable for the cost of dependency-related legal services to the extent that those persons are able to pay. The committee recommends that the Judicial Council allocate the 2020–21 statutorily restricted funds remitted in excess of dependency counsel program administrative costs to the trial courts, calculated according to the methodology adopted by the council. The committee also recommends that the council reallocate unspent dependency counsel funding from courts that have identified funds they do not intend to spend to courts funded at below the average statewide funding level. Finally, beginning 2021–22 and annually thereafter, the judicial branch will receive new Federal Family First Prevention Services Act augmentation funding. The committee recommends that the council allocate these pass-through federal Title IV-E funds to those courts receiving unspent dependency counsel reallocation funds for 2021–22, contingent upon actual receipt of the funding.

Recommendation

The Trial Court Budget Advisory Committee recommends that the Judicial Council, effective March 11, 2022:

1. Allocate 2020–21 Juvenile Dependency Counsel Collections Program funds of $1,144,748 (Attachment A);
2. Allocate 2021–22 trial court allocations of estimated unspent funding of $878,001 (Attachment B); and
3. Allocate 2021–22 Family First Prevention Services Act augmentation funding of $1,543,180 (Attachment B) contingent upon actual receipt of the funding.

Relevant Previous Council Action

Juvenile Dependency Counsel Collections Program

At its October 26, 2012 meeting, the Judicial Council adopted the Juvenile Dependency Counsel Collections Program (JDCCP) guidelines,<sup>1</sup> which fulfilled the council’s legislative mandate to establish a program to collect reimbursement from parents or minors demonstrating an ability to pay.<sup>2</sup> Additional amendments were adopted by the council at its August 23, 2013 meeting regarding the issue of equitable allocation of funds remitted through the JDCCP.<sup>3</sup> The council then allocated funds remitted through the JDCCP for the first time since the program’s inception at the council’s February 20, 2014 meeting.<sup>4</sup> In subsequent years, the council has allocated available funds to eligible trial courts annually.

Court-appointed counsel funding reallocation

At its April 17, 2015 business meeting, the council approved a methodology for reallocating funds unspent by courts for court-appointed counsel in dependency cases.<sup>5</sup> The approved methodology provided a four-year process to bring all courts to an equivalent percentage of workload met by available statewide funding and provided a methodology for reallocation of unspent funds.

Family First Prevention Services Act funding

In 2018, the federal Family First Prevention Services Act (FFPSA) was signed into law. Part IV of the legislation addresses steps that participating states must take to safely reduce the inappropriate use of congregate care for children. Assembly Bill 153 (Stats. 2021, ch. 86) implemented part IV of the federal FFPSA, with an effective date of October 1, 2021. The bill created a new court hearing for the juvenile court to approve or disapprove any new placement of a child or nonminor dependent in a short-term residential therapeutic program. At its October 1, 2021 business meeting, the council enacted rules and forms to effectuate the new juvenile court hearing, to approve or disapprove any new placement of a child or nonminor dependent in a short-term residential therapeutic program, created through AB 153.<sup>6</sup>

Analysis/Rationale

Recommendation 1

The estimates of courts' funding needs are computed using the dependency workload model approved by the council in April 2016 and updated in July 2016.<sup>7</sup> The current base allocation for court-appointed dependency counsel is $166.7 million—less than the estimated need.

In 2020–21, the trial courts remitted a total of $1,144,748, excluding monies recovered to offset their cost of collections and dependency counsel program administrative costs, under the JDCCP and as directed in Welfare and Institutions Code section 903.1 to the Trial Court Trust Fund (TCTF). These monies are part of the restricted TCTF fund balance available for use in 2021–22 and beyond. The statute requires the council to allocate the monies remitted to the trial courts for use to reduce court-appointed attorney caseloads to the council's approved standard.

For a court to be eligible to receive an allocation of these funds, it must meet the participation and funding need requirements described in section 14 of the JDCCP guidelines.<sup>8</sup> Every court that has satisfied those requirements receives an allocation. Each eligible court's allocated share of the JDCCP funds is equivalent to its share of the aggregate funding need of all the eligible courts. Attachment A displays the recommended allocation amount for each court.

<sup>8</sup> As described in section 14 of the JDCCP guidelines, a court demonstrates its participation in the program by submitting an annual report required by section 13 of the program guidelines and adopting a rule or policy to inquire regarding a responsible person's ability to reimburse the cost of appointed counsel at each dispositional hearing.

Recommendation 2

Trial courts whose spending patterns at midyear indicated they may not expend their full 2021–22 allocations were identified and contacted through a survey questionnaire. Of those courts, four confirmed that they would not spend the full allocation and provided an estimate of unspent funding. Attachment B shows the total $878,001 estimate and reallocation. Under the reallocation methodology adopted at the April 17, 2015 Judicial Council business meeting, funds are reallocated proportionally by workload to courts that: (1) did not remit unspent funds, and (2) had unmet need.

To ensure use of the reallocation funds, an additional survey to trial courts was conducted to confirm the court’s ability to completely expend funds during the fiscal year. Declined funds were placed back in the pool and reallocated to those courts eligible and accepting additional funds. Contract augmentations will be processed for dependency representation providers in Dependency, Representation, Administration, Funding, and Training (DRAFT) courts. In previous years, many courts declined reallocation funds because they would be unable to amend contracts with dependency attorneys so late in the fiscal year.

On an annual basis, approximately 2 percent of court-appointed counsel funds are unspent at the end of the fiscal year.

Recommendation 3

In January 2022, Judicial Council staff were notified by the California Department of Social Services (CDSS) that federal funding is available annually to support legal activities by attorneys representing children and their parents at a new juvenile court hearing to approve or disapprove any new placement of a child or nonminor dependent in a short-term residential therapeutic program, held under AB 153 and that 2021–2022 funds must be spent by the end of the fiscal year. Beginning 2021–22, the judicial branch will annually receive $1,543,180 in pass-through federal Title IV-E funds to support attorney representation costs associated with the new juvenile court hearing implemented in AB 153. Due to the timing these funds became available to the branch for 2021–22, the committee recommends allocating the $1,543,180 to eligible courts according to the court-appointed counsel reallocation methodology adopted at the April 17, 2015 Judicial Council business meeting. Attachment B includes allocation amounts for each eligible court.

Policy implications

The reallocation process was established to support courts in need of additional dependency counsel funds, when available.

Because of the timing of the FFPSA funding augmentation the committee elected to propose allocation to those courts indicating a need for additional funds this fiscal year. The committee will consider a methodology for ongoing allocation of these funds, including utilizing the regular court appointed counsel methodology adopted at the April 15, 2016 Judicial Council business meeting.

Comments

The Trial Court Budget Advisory Committee's recommendations to apply existing methodologies to allocate these funds were not circulated through the invitation-to-comment process. No public comments were received.

Alternatives considered

Recommendation 1

Because the recommended allocation outlined in Attachment A was determined using the methodology approved by the council at its August 23, 2013 business meeting, no alternatives to this proposal were considered.

Recommendation 2

Because the recommended allocation outlined in Attachment B was determined using the methodology approved by the council at its April 17, 2015 business meeting, no alternatives to this proposal were considered.

Recommendation 3

The committee considered allocating 2021–22 funds using the court-appointed counsel methodology adopted at the April 15, 2016 Judicial Council business meeting. However, because Judicial Council staff were notified late in the fiscal year by CDSS of the availability of federal funds to support legal activities by attorneys representing children and their parents in dependency proceedings, and that the funding must be spent by the end of the fiscal year; the methodology for reallocation of unspent court-appointed counsel funds adopted on April 17, 2015 was utilized.

Fiscal and Operational Impacts

This proposal is for the allocation of funds that have already been collected or included in the 2021–22 budget. Hence, no additional costs or impacts are anticipated.

1. A court is eligible for an allocation if the court has met both the Funding Need and Participation requirements described in section 14 of the JDCCP Guidelines. This table indicates a court's eligibility to receive an allocation based on the Funding Need criteria. Courts that meet the Funding Need criteria must also meet the Participation requirements in order to receive an allocation.
