Issue

Consider a recommendation from the Trial Court Budget Advisory Committee (TCBAC) Funding Methodology Subcommittee (FMS) to allocate a $12.5 million reduction to the 2023-24 civil assessment backfill funding for consideration by the Judicial Branch Budget Committee (Budget Committee) and then the Judicial Council at its July 20-21, 2023 business meeting.

Background

2022-23 Civil Assessment Backfill Funding

On June 15, 2022, the FMS¹ approved a $110 million civil assessment backfill allocation methodology for 2022-23 that was considered by the TCBAC, the Budget Committee, and approved by the council as follows:

- 1. Maintain the current allocation of the $48.3 million maintenance of effort (MOE) in the Workload Formula;
- 2. Fund the remaining civil assessment obligations for those impacted courts from the amount of retained civil assessments after the MOE obligation is met;
- 3. Allocate the remaining amount of civil assessment revenue via the Workload Formula and without a security reduction;
- 4. Remove retained civil assessment dollars from the Workload Formula model's "Other Local Revenues" column and identify each courts' new position in the Workload Formula as it relates to percentage funded; and
- 5. Recalculate funding proposed in the 2022-23 Governor's Budget including inflationary, equity, and new judgeship funding, and then civil assessment redistribution funding.

Report to the Trial Court Budget Advisory Committee (Action Item)

2023-24 Civil Assessment Backfill Funding

Per the 2022 Budget Act, effective in 2023-24, the civil assessment backfill amount decreases by $10 million to $100 million ongoing. In addition, the backfill amount is reduced by an additional $2.5 million for debt service obligation payments as approved by the Judicial Council at its May 12, 2023 business meeting². As a result, there is a total $12.5 million reduction to the amount of backfill funding available for allocation, which is the focus of the allocation methodology recommendation for the committee's consideration.

Initial 2023-24 Civil Assessment Backfill Allocation Methodology Recommendation

On May 4, 2023, the TCBAC met to consider 2023-24 allocation recommendations from the Trial Court Trust Fund (TCTF) as well as trial court allocations that included the $100 million for civil assessment backfill. In this initial recommendation, the backfill was treated as new funding for the upcoming fiscal year³. Under this approach, the Workload Formula statewide funding percentage increased 2.6 percent from 92.2 percent in 2022-23 to 94.8 percent in 2023-24 even with a reduction in workload need. The individual court allocations for the civil assessment backfill funding varied from decreases of up to 100 percent and increases up to 552.6 percent.

The committee approved the proposed TCTF and trial court allocations as presented, excluding the 2023-24 civil assessment backfill allocation which raised concerns for the committee due to the volatility and lack of stability of this funding in relation to the backfill allocations that were made in 2022-23. This allocation was directed back to the FMS to further consider options for an ongoing allocation methodology.

2023-24 Civil Assessment Backfill Allocation Methodology Scenarios

On May 18, 2023, the FMS met to consider four allocation scenarios for the civil assessment backfill funding. Two of them assumed that the amount to be allocated is $46.8 million ($110 million in 2022-23-$10 million ongoing reduction effective 2023-24-$48.3 million MOE already included in the Workload Formula -$4.9 million for debt service obligations =$46.8 million remaining). The other two scenarios assumed that the amount to be allocated is a reduction of $12.5 million ($10 million ongoing reduction effective 2023-24+$2.5 million increase for a debt service obligation = a $12.5 million reduction).

Each of the scenarios zero out amounts for the two base funding floor courts, Alpine and Sierra, due to the fixed funding amount for those courts, and does not yet account for funding floor adjustments for these two base funding floor courts. A summary of the four scenarios described below is included as Attachment A. Detailed calculations and comparisons of the scenarios are included as Attachment B.

The FMS discussed issues of funding equity, volatility, and allocation methodologies that treat the civil assessment backfill as new money instead of existing funding. As the 2022-23 civil assessment backfill allocation methodology was not implemented as an ongoing recommendation, the deliberation of an ongoing methodology effective in 2023-24 focused on these themes as well as the fundamental principles of the Workload Formula.

Methodology Scenarios Considered

Scenario 1 – 2023-24 Civil Assessment Backfill Allocation via the Workload Formula

This scenario was the one presented to the TCBAC at its May 4, 2023 meeting and was an allocation of the $46.8 million via the Workload Formula methodology as follows:

- 1. Bring all Cluster 1 courts up to at least 100 percent of funding need.
- 2. Allocate up to 50 percent of remaining funding to courts under the statewide average funding ratio. Allocated funds will bring courts up to but not over the statewide average funding ratio.
- 3. Allocate remaining funding to all courts based on the Workload Formula.
- 4. Allow no court's allocation to exceed 100 percent of its need unless it is the result of a funding floor calculation⁴.

Using this method, courts that received civil assessment funding in 2022-23 may not receive funding in 2023-24 and, conversely, courts that did not receive civil assessment funding in 2022-23 could receive funding. This is due to the equity approach in the Workload Formula and where courts are with the methodology based on being a Cluster 1 court or where courts fall in the methodology based on their percentage of funding received prior to adding in the civil assessment backfill funding. The lowest funded court would be at 92.3 percent of workload need.

This scenario was not moved for a vote and therefore not approved to move forward to the TCBAC for consideration due to concerns about volatility and lack of funding stability compared to the prior year's allocation for civil assessment backfill.

⁴ Due to the proposed $74.1 million inflationary funding included in the allocations, in which all 58 courts receive the same percentage increase, some courts are exceeding 100 percent of funding prior to applying any of the civil assessment backfill methodology scenarios.

Report to the Trial Court Budget Advisory Committee (Action Item)

Scenario 2 – 2023-24 Civil Assessment Backfill Allocation of the $12.5 Million Reduction Only via the Workload Formula

This scenario treats 2023-24 as a reduction in base funding from 2022-23 and allocates the $12.5 million reduction in civil assessment backfill via the Workload Formula methodology. The lowest funded court would be at 86.8 percent of workload need.

As this scenario reduces 2022-23 civil assessment backfill allocations by $12.5 million, courts that did not receive civil assessment backfill in 2022-23 are excluded from the calculation. In addition, the volatility in allocations to individual courts compared to the prior year is less than in Scenario 1 with decreases ranging from 8.6 to 20.9 percent.

This scenario was originally motioned and seconded to move forward to the TCBAC for consideration. The motion failed with a five "no" and four "yes" vote.

Scenario 3 – 2023-24 Civil Assessment Backfill Proportional Allocation based on the Workload Formula Allocation

This scenario allocates the $46.8 million (as described above) on a proportional basis based on 2023-24 Workload Formula allocations as approved by the TCBAC. With this approach, all courts (except the base funding floor courts) would receive a portion of the civil assessment backfill, including Cluster 1 courts, with the lowest funded court at 86.5 percent of workload need.

Using this method, those courts with a civil assessment backfill allocation decrease from the prior year ranges from 35 to 137.3 percent. This approach would allow other courts that did not receive any of this funding in 2022-23 to receive an allocation in 2023-24.

This scenario was not moved for a vote and therefore not approved to move forward to the TCBAC for consideration based on similar concerns noted in Scenario 1.

Scenario 4 – 2023-24 Civil Assessment Backfill Allocation of the $12.5 Million Reduction Only based on a Proportional Adjustment of the Reduction Only

This scenario treats 2023-24 as a reduction in base funding from 2022-23 and allocates the $12.5 million reduction in civil assessment backfill funding proportionally based on courts' percentage of 2022-23 civil assessment funding. This method would only apply to those courts that received civil assessment backfill funding in 2022-23. The lowest funded court would be at 86.8 percent of workload need. With this scenario, all courts that received civil assessment backfill funding would receive the same percentage decrease of 21.1 percent.

Report to the Trial Court Budget Advisory Committee (Action Item)

This scenario was motioned and seconded to move forward to the TCBAC for consideration and passed with a five "yes" and four "no" vote.

Supplemental Scenario for Discussion

At the FMS meeting on May 18, 2023, members noted concerns about courts going over 100 percent of the statewide funding percentage due to civil assessment backfill funding as well as courts below the statewide average funding level. Following the meeting, the cochairs of the subcommittee directed Judicial Council Budget Services staff to develop a supplemental scenario, which is a variation of Scenario 4, that addresses this issue.

This supplemental scenario, outlined in Attachment C (and detailed in Attachment D) increases the amount of the $12.5 million reduction for three courts in the amount of $421,000⁵, and decreases the reduction amount for five courts below the statewide average funding level⁶. As a result, the lowest funded court would be at 87.4 percent of workload need.

Recommendation

Approve a recommendation from the FMS to implement Scenario 4, an ongoing $12.5 million reduction in civil assessment backfill funding that is proportional based on courts' percent of 2022-23 civil assessment backfill funding, effective July 1, 2023, for consideration by the Budget Committee and then the Judicial Council.
